There was not a man of any prominence in their party whose record would bear the test of close examination. So they were compelled to take up a man unnoted and unnamed. What in the name of common sense do they present to the people but an automaton who comes into place and favor only to be handled by the same style of satelites that now surround the present incumbent. And under his administration what have we to look for but a repetition of the disgraceful mal administration of the last eight years. The Rads are sharp indeed and by no means blind to the feeling of deep regret mingled with furious indignation with which their dishonest practices and corrupt achievements of the past eight years are regarded by the people. An old but truthful dogma is that a drowning man will catch at a straw. And so will a sinking political party. Hayes is truly a straw they have caught. As the straw was never yet known to save the drowning man neither will the Hayes straw save the Republican party. Another good and truthful saying is that there is no use in crying over spilt milk, but still I can't help feeling lachrymose that the Cincinnati Convention did not act the part of the spoilt child and grab the toy in spite of all the nurse could do. Had they but nominated the sprightly James G. Blaine, such a tidal wave of popular indignation would have rolled over him in November next that the bones of Horaco Greeley would have rattled in

From the Philadelphia (Ind.) Times. Well, we have got a platform, even if we have no candidate. And such a platform! There never was anything like it since the world began. # A Matrimonial Bureau

Among the other institutions of

San Francisco is a gilt-edged Matrimonial Bureau. It is no common affair, where you pay your money and take your chance to hook a gold fish or a minnow in the matrimonial stream. This is another kind of a nuptial mill altogether. The male and female applicants, for a dash at the door of the temple of Hymen join the bureau for a stated sum and in addition pay five dollars per month until the period has expired during which two souls are to be made one. If the knot is not tied at that time the money is returned. None but persons of extra good character are received, and the introductions take place in the Sir Grandison style, with bows and all the accompanying incidents of ultra propriety and stately decorum. After all these facts are stated it is not surprising that the papers of the Golden City should declare that this Bureau . has developed the fact that great numbers are genuinely anxious to marry and seek this means of attaining an object for their affections. If a bashful, backward youth can obtain a partner for life in this easy and sure manner, it is certainly better than to run the gauntlet of papa and mamma, aunts, uncles and married sisters, not to mention the expenses incident to this high-priced state of existence. And then too it is certainly consoling to know that you will not be skinned tam. The Governor was brandishin' his sword and shouting to the boys to git in, when along came a bullet and snaked off his lett arm.
