CITY AND COUNTY.

Abrams Bros. will commence sawing at their mill next Monday.

The pile-driver is at work driving new piling under the railroad track across the mill race.

Mrs. Rubell and family went to Douglas county last week on a visit, and may possibly remain there permanently.

Frank Coleman has the handsome billiard table and the prettiest billiard balls in the State. Call and see them.

Robinson having reopened his Ice Cream Room, will open this evening with ice cream, strawberries and ice cold soda water.

Wm. Preston has just received a new supply of saddlery and harness which he proposes to sell lower than anybody, for cash.

John Lenger will have his picnic grounds, east of town, fitted up in a few days in a style to insure the comfort of recreation seekers.

R. G. Callison is prepared to furnish students at the University, and pupils in the common schools of the county, with necessary school books, paper, slates, etc.

D. Cherry & Bro. have rented the building near the saw mill, formerly occupied by Cherry & Irving, and are building a new frame and fitting up for a furniture manufactory.

There will be a grand strawberry and ice cream festival and social given by the M. E. Church, either at Lane's Hall or the Court House, on Wednesday evening the 16th of May. A good time is anticipated.

We would call attention to the advertisement of James Humphrey in another column. Mr. Humphrey has stocked his new stable with first-class horses and new buggies, and is prepared to furnish a tip-top outfit for a spin.

We had a call on Friday morning from Mr. W. B. Ballow, a gentleman from Missouri, who is looking for a location with a view of engaging in the banking business. Mr. B. expresses himself as being highly pleased with the country, and we hope that he will find it to his interest to locate in Eugene.

A Russian prize was brought "here" with a cargo of salt.—Journal.

The only cargo of salt we hear of coming "here" was brought from the depot by Captain McClanahan's side-wheeler, and upon halting the Captain, he denied that his vessel had been taken as a prize, or that he had anybody aboard his craft who understood a word of Slavonic lingo.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES.—There will be union temperance religious services to-morrow at the Brick Church.

LOST.—On Tuesday last, a copper pocket key. Any person finding the same will confer a favor by leaving it at this office.

NEW MEAT MARKET.—J. Randle will open a new meat market, next Monday, three doors north of the Astor House. See his ad. in another column.

PICNIC.—There will be a picnic at F. M. Wilkins' place, on the north side of the McKenzie, near Spores' ferry, on the 19th inst. Everybody come and bring your grub.

SOAP.—Messrs. Way & Hurley have been in town a few days selling receipts for making "labor-saving" soap. Persons who have tried their compound speak very highly of its cleansing properties. Try it.

A new lot of California Gloves, the best and cheapest in the market, at Preston's.

RUNAWAY.—Last Tuesday, a team belonging to Rev. J. Gillespie, started a few blocks east of the depot, and after running west to Willamette street and scattering things generally, were brought up. Damage slight.

CHIROPODIST.—We call attention to the advertisement of Dr. O'Connor, chiropodist. The Dr. has performed quite a number of operations in this city, and evidently understands his profession thoroughly. No excuse now for hobbling about and growing about corns.

SCHOOLMASTER ABROAD.—The deputy School Superintendent found the following specimen of orthography upon his slate one day this week:

Mr. Fagon I have come to get a certificate please place the examples on the table if I am not hear when you come.

LATER.—Mr. Fagon please complete this certificate.

Whips of all styles and varieties at Preston's at bed-rock prices.

BILKED.—"Prof." Wyman performed here Wednesday evening. He advertised that each of the audience would receive a prize, consisting of hams, socks of flour, etc. At the conclusion of his show he distributed wooden pencils, Peter Funk brass jewelry, etc., worth about two bits a barrel. His dupes will scarcely take showmen's promises on trust again.

DEPARTED.—Yesterday George J. Buys and family started for the Palouse country, where he intends going into the business of farming and stock-raising. While sincerely regretting his loss to this community, we congratulate the Palouse nation in their acquisition of an industrious, energetic, whole-souled and genial fellow, and an estimable citizen. George, we hope your shadow may never grow less, and may you make a bar!

We have tested the labor-saving soap made by Way & Hurley, and find it fully up to its recommendation.

Comstock's Mill, J. J. COMSTOCK, W. N. LOCKEY, Eugene City, MRS. R. OSBURN, MRS. A. KEARSEY, MRS. C. LANE, MRS. M. KEENE.

PICNIC.—At an early hour last Saturday, according to previous arrangements, Prof. Condon, accompanied by his University class, started for the top of Spencer's butte. Quite a large number of our citizens in buggies, hacks and lumber-wagons, on horseback and on foot, following in procession. The road being very rough and the hills rather steep, before reaching the butte all the male portion of the company, and quite a large "sprinkling" of the female, enjoyed the luxury of a good long walk in the fresh mountain air. The journey to the base of the butte was made without serious accident to any one, and the company halted on the southwest side, hitched the teams and made ready for a "long pull, a strong pull," and hot pull up to the top. In a short time the west side of the butte was dotted here and there with pedestrians of all ages, straggling up the steep ascent. Finally the summit was reached by all, except one or two whose physical strength failed them. What a grand view of magnificent scenery burst upon the vision! We hardly think there is another spot in Oregon—yes, on the Pacific Coast—presenting such grand and varied scenery as the top of Spencer butte. To the south and west the Willamette Valley is spread out before you for forty or fifty miles, dotted all over with farm houses, with Springfield, Eugene City, Junction City and Albany, away in the dim distance, we view, and the beautiful Willamette, "from the Cascade's frozen gorges," wending its way to the sea, until it is lost among the Salem hills. Then to the east and northeast stands the Cascade mountains, with the snow-capped peaks—Diamond's Peak, Three Sisters and Mt. Jefferson in full view—standing as sentinels of time. To the south, reaching far above the low undulating hills and small valleys, is the Calapooia mountains, running east and west, connecting the Cascades and Coast Range; and to the west and north extends the Coast Range, fringing the Willamette valley as far as the eye can see.

After the stragglers all came in, Prof. Condon arranged the company in full view of the beautiful panorama of nature, and delivered a short lecture to his class in physical geography and geology on what they could see. The Professor, pointing to the north over the Willamette valley, said to the class that it was no great stretch of the imagination to look back into the long ago, when this beautiful valley was covered hundreds of feet with salt water from the Pacific ocean, extending up to the base of the butte on which they were standing; and to demonstrate that proposition, he pointed down to the quarry of Mr. Smith, near town, where the fossils of sea shells could be found in great abundance, and that, too, when new were as beautiful as could be found on any coast. The further suggestion to them that the climate of this coast had been very different in the past, and that, too, not very far back in the age of the world; for near the base of the butte, on the farm of Mr. Farrington, just then in sight, an elephant's tooth was found; and a little distance west on Matoon's farm an elephant's tusk was plowed up, hence demonstrating the fact that this country was once inhabited by animals that are now extinct. The lecture was full of instruction, and was listened to with great interest by all, and the only fault to the lecture suggested by any one was, it was too short. As soon as the lecture was closed the company dispersed and went hither and yon down the mountain to the lunch baskets. Under some alder trees near a cool spring flowing from the base of the butte lunch was spread out on the green grass, and we are safe in saying that each person did ample justice to the contents of the baskets. Late in the afternoon the company dispersed to their teams, each feeling they had enjoyed a rare treat, and that their days upon earth had been made longer by the trip. Can't we have another?
