A Yellow-Fever Fiend.

During the height of the yellow fever at Memphis recently, was a strange and horrifying street spectrally, that for a moment appalled the stoutest hearted of its many witnesses. The fever had made such havor.

Dye's counsel is trying the insance. and panie that the streets were ulmost altogether deserted, while an awful hush overhong the city and its will be his fate, suburbs like a funeral pall. On the day in question a number of physical investigate the cians, nurses, and other self-sacrificing hespital people were passing along the principal residential street, upon some charitable mission, when, upon passing the close fastened, palatial dwelling of Gen. Horatio Borsman, they were startled by a strange apparition suddenly issuing from the main door. It was that of an exceedingly tall, gaunt man, clad only in a long white night-robe. He was worn away to a mere skeleton; his face was of the deep, ghastly, yellow hue that bespeaks the last stages of the fever; straight, black bair hung in long, snaky locks down over his neck; his eyes were glittering with the mad fires of insanity, and, as he stretched out his long arms, and bony fingers, booked like the talons of a bird, towards the awe struck on lookers, he exclaimed, in a lond, hollow voice.
"Lo and behold! I am the Fever

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malari-cus, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

This is a compound remedy, prepared with scientific skill from vegetable ingredients, which rarely fails to cure the severest cases of Chille and Fever and the concomitant disorders. Such a remedy the necessities of the people in malarious districts demand. Its great superiority over any other medicine yet discovered for the cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no qu nine or mineral, and those who take it are free from danger of quinism or any injurious effects, and are as healthy after using it as before. It has been extensively employed during the last thirty years in the treatment of these distressing disorders, and so unvarying has been its success it has gained the reputation of being infallible. It can, therefore, he safely recommended as a sure remedy and specific for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South. It counteracts the minsmatic poison in the blood, and frees the system from its infu-ence, so that fever and ague, shakes or chills, once broken up by it, do not return until disease is again contracted.

The great variety of disorders which arise from the irritation of this polson, such as Neuralgia, Rhenmatiam, Gout, Hendache, Blindness, Twothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Paipitation, Spienic Affections, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic. Paralysis, and derangeof the Stometh, all of which become intermit-tent or periodical, have no speedict remedy than Aven's Activ Conn. which cures them all alike, and protects the system from fitting attacks. As a preventive, it is of immensa service in those communities where fever and Ague prevails, as is stays the development of the directe if taken to the first appropriate (the premoutory sympsome. Scareffers and temporary radients are thus enabled to any tree disorders, and few will ever under if they avail the relief of the protection title remedy admits.

For Liver Complaints, aroung from torpidity, it is an excellent remody; it stimulates the organ into healthy activity, and produces to any remark-able cures where other medicines fail.
