Summons.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon in and for the county of Lane.

Emeline Wallace and Matthew Wallace, her husband, plaintiffs;

vs. Thomas Garbide and Ann Garbide, his wife, defendants.

Suit in equity to foreclose mortgage on real property.

To Thomas Garbide and Ann Garbide, his wife, the above named defendants:

IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF Oregon, you and each of you, are hereby summoned to appear in said court and answer the complaint of the plaintiffs filed herein, on or before Monday, the third day of November, 1879, that being the first day of the term of court following the time prescribed in the order for publication of summons, or plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded therein, namely, a judgment for the sum of five thousand dollars in gold coin of the United States with interest thereon at one per cent per month, since October 12th, 1878, and a decree for the sale of the following described real property, in Lane county, Oregon, to-wit: The Donation claim of Matthew Wallis and wife, No. 2195 in Section 27 and 34 in Township 17 South of Range 4 West, containing 329 acres, also commencing at the Northwest corner of said claim, thence West 3.65 chs., thence South 47.80 chs., thence East 3.65 chs., thence North 47.80 chs. to the place of beginning, containing 17.40 acres of land and for such other and further relief as to the court may seem equitable and just.

It is ordered by the court the Honorable J. F. Watson, Judge, dated September 19th, 1879, that service of summons be made on you by publication in the Eugene City GUARD, a newspaper published in said county, for six consecutive weeks.

G. E. DORRIS, Plaintiff's Attorney.

Living in Hopes.

Detroit Free Press.

There is no particular reason why a tramp should wear a polished white shirt, but they had one at the Central Station yesterday with a shirt so terribly in want of a soap suds bath that the oldest man on the force gathered around the fellow and declared that they never saw any thing like it under the blue canopy of Heaven. When asked how long he had worn it without washing the man seemed hurt and replied:

"Give a fellow a chance, won't you? You see, I had this shirt on seven months ago when I broke my arm. I couldn't get it off, then, of course."

"But your arm got well," protested one of the officers.

"Yes, it got well, and then my sister died."

"What of that?"

"Why she made this ere shirt with her own blessed hands, and I kin't tell it was my duty to wear it in memory of her for awhile. I'm a hard looking pill, I know, but I love my sister. Poor Sarah! she's up there where they don't need clean suits and never have their hair cut."

"Well, haven't you worn it long enough to ease your sister's spirit?"

"Gentlemen, I should have got this washed some time this week, but last night I lost my dog—an animal that had stuck to me three years."

"And what did the dog have to do with it?"

"If I should get washed up, and cleaned up, and seemed to be somebody, and should come across the dog, he'd look at my hair, give one sniff at my clothes, and then he'd turn tail and keep up the search till he fell in his tracks. I don't want to go back on my own dog, do I? I don't want to play any contemptible trick on a canine which has turned to and eaten shingle nails and oyster cans when we was on the tramp, and I kin't get nothing for myself but shelled corn. How I'd look going back on a dog which never laid down beside me at night without hunting around to see where I could pick up turkeys for breakfast?"

"After you find your dog you can wash up," suggested an officer.

"Well, I shall live in hopes," was the dubious reply. "Life is but a span, you know. We come up like flowers and are cut down; and I tell you I'm not going to risks or take any chances for the sake of having a clean shirt to spit tobacco juice on!"

"Esquire."

A young man whose money didn't hold out as long as the state fair dropped into the telegraph office yesterday and sent a dispatch to his father in an interior town to forward him cash to reach home with. When the receiving clerk saw that the dispatch read, "To John Blank, Esq.," he suggested that a saving could be made by erasing the "Esq."

"Well, maybe you think so, but I don't," replied the sender. "When I am home I call him 'dad' all day long, but when it comes down to black and white you've got to 'Esquire' him right up to the nines, or walk home by the dirt road. Don't you dare leave that off—not with the roads as muddy as they are now!"

In about an hour the following answer was received:

To—
John Blank, Esq., forwards you $10 and you can have more if you want it.

JOHN BLANK Esq.

"Didn't I tell ye?" chuckled the young man as he read it. "Dad's common enough when we're all home and rushed to get the fall wheat in, but the minute his back gets rest, ed an a stranger comes along he weighs more to the ton than any 'Esq.' on legs. I tell ye, you don't know a man till ye've hoed corn with him!"—Free Press.

An Educated People.

Boston Transcript.

There is only one country in the world in which there are no illiterate people; it is the Sandwich Islands. The population of the islands is 58,000. They have eleven high educational institutions, 169 middle public schools and 43 private schools. The public instruction is under the supervision of a committee appointed by the King, and composed of five members, who serve without remuneration; the committee appoint a general inspector and a number of sub-inspectors. The Government takes care that every person shall be able at least to read and write, and punishes energetically all parents who neglect to send their children to school.

After November 15th, we believe, the stages on the Coos Bay wagon road between Coos City and Roseburg, will be run on what is termed "long time." Their object is to have six months of 24 hours and 36 hours. This is inevitable owing to the bad condition of the road during the rainy season.

STATE NEWS.

Oscar Kelly has been appointed railroad agent at McCoy's station.

The Imperial Mills, at Oregon City, turn out 400 barrels of flour daily.

Over 125,000 bushels have been hauled to McCoy for shipment this year.

The state agricultural college is free from debt and has money in the treasury.

Judge McArthur is booked for a lecture at La Grande, the proceeds to go to the Blue Mountain University.

The La Grande Gazette learns that parties at Island City will engage immediately in the manufacture of wines.

The Astoria fire department has recently received a quantity of hose, and is now thoroughly fitted in every respect.

The Norman Macleod cleared from Astoria on Tuesday for Liverpool, with 12,225 cases of salmon and 19,392 cents of wheat, the whole valued at $93,796 50.

Mr. J. B. V. Butler died at his home in Monmouth, Polk county, on Saturday, October 18 1879, aged 79 years and 1 month. Mr. Butler was born in New Hampshire on September 18, 1809, and had lived in Oregon since 1849.

The Dallas Itemizer says of the new town of Derry, on Col Nesmith's place: The location of this place is as good as that of any town in the county, being the center of an agricultural country that cannot be surpassed. Col. Nesmith will soon have for sale several lots in the new town, the site of which is on the west side of the road, the land adjoining on the east having been deeded to the railroad company for warehouses, etc. The new town will no doubt soon grow to a place of considerable importance.

There are four suits for damages to come up at the next term of circuit court which convene at Albany next Monday. E. Boyle sues Dr. D. B. Rice for $8000 on the ground of malpractice; James Sherrill demands $10,000 from the county for damages sustained by him by the breaking of a county bridge; Montague & Cusick want damages from Sheriff Dickey, and B. R. Westfall is after Vincent Watson on the same tack. There are 126 cases on the docket—the largest number ever known at one session in Linn county.

As Mr. James Hastings, of Polk county, was returning home from Perrydale on the 18th inst., having in his possession a considerable sum of money, the proceeds of the sale of his wheat crop, two men attempted to rob him, one jumping from either side of the road and grabbing at the bridle of his horse. Only one succeeded in gaining a hold, and he was induced to let go suddenly by a well directed blow from a club which Mr. Hastings had in his hand. After freeing himself from his assailants Mr. Hastings put spurs to his horse and got out of their way.

A lazy Chinaman, engaged on the west side extension, near Buena Vista, upon being reprimanded in a week for his idleness, made an attempt to assault one of the overseers, when he was mildly slapped, but still persisting in the attack he was knocked down with a shovel, at which the whole posse quit their work and made, with drawn shovels, for the man, where they could not surround him, but before half way he was over taken, and had it not been for a horseman at full speed dashing just at this moment amongst them and freely using a heavy bull whip, the man's injuries would have likely been fatal.

A meeting of the Willamette Valley and Coast Railway Co., was held at Corvallis on the 18th inst. A report of the affairs of the company was presented and read by the secretary, B. W. Wilson, after which the following gentlemen were elected as a board of directors: W. B. Hamilton, Ashby Pierce, I. B. Henkle, M. Jacobs, Sol. King, J. M. Currier, B. W. Wilson, T. E. Cuthorn and J. Harris. During the past year there has been expended for the iron and rolling stock, and in connection therewith, the full sum of $35,000. The company has also paid upwards of $8,000 on the ties purchased, etc, thus showing an expenditure, including various small current charges of upwards of $43,000. The receipts on the $35,000 subscription have only reached $29,915; interest, $974; total, $30,889, and the indebtedness to Col. Hogg, $7,600; to other parties, $2,308. But the company has not only all the railroad iron, rolling stock and materials, and also the railroad ties, but has also still unpaid, but in process of collection, $5385 on the $35,000 subscription.
