Starting of a Big Mill.

SILVER CLIFF, Jan. 19.-Racine Boyd mill, owned by the Silver Milling and mill, owned by the Silver Milling and Mining Company, started up yesterday afternoon. A large number of citizens, invited guests and members of the press were present. Mr. Snerry, of New York, who built the mill, and T. J. Edmondson, one of the largest stockholders and an associate of Keene compound see the mill. associate of Keene, came on to see the mill started. The motive power of the mill is 200 horse-power. The Buckeye Corliss engine set 40 stamps and all the machin-ery in motion with 80 pounds of steam and made 58 revolutions to the minute. The stamp will iun 90 drops each to the minute. Everything worked as smooth as a watch, and the owners and citizens are in ecstacies over the fine working of the mill, which cost over $150,000. The first bullion brick will be turned out on Thursday week. Yesterday was the big-gest day in the history of Silver Cliff.

A Rich Strike.

There is great excitement in the vicinity of Rosita over recent rich discoveries in the Silver Horn mine. It is believed that it will prove another Bessick, a four foot vein of chlorides and horn silver, milling 292 ounces. It developed free milling ore on a crosscut of forty feet and shows small rich veins dipping towards the main lead. Assays shows over 2000 ounces of silver to the ton.

prominent member of the syndicate that outside offers for part of the stock had been made at a price f r above that to be paid under contract. It was stated also that a broker had been authorized to offer a much higher price for the control of the road. These offers have been refused by the present holders of the stock.

Terms Arranged by the Utes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22,-An important meeting took place at the interior department to-day, in which the Colorado delegation in congress, General Adams, Ouray, Jack, Wash and Sawanett participated. Schurz laid an injunction of secrecy upon all members of the conference. So that details of the meeting can-not be had. It is understood however that the land question had been thoroughly talked over and an agreement was reached which was satisfactory to all present except Senator Teller. This agreement is that the Utes of Southern Colorado shall be removed to Grand river valley, in the western part of the state. The White river Utes are to be removed to the Unitah reservation in Utah. Belford and Teller were at the outset hostile to this arrangement, but Belford now seems to be satisfied with it. Teller on the con'rary will oppose it with all his influence, and without his vote the secretary of the interior is afraid that the publication of that portion of the deliberations of the conference relating to the final disposal of the Indians themselves will not be well received in Colorado, as the people of that state will not be pleased with any arrangement which will fail to remove the Indians entirely from the state. It is believed that the Utes will accept the settlement decided on to-day, and it is intended to send some one to the Indian country to get the signatures of three-quarters of the Utes to an agreement. As to the murderers of Meeker, Ouray has already given his ultimatum He will undertake to bring them in later in the season, when spring opens, if he has to kill them; and he does not believe there is any other way of doing it. It is not probable that any final steps will be taken towards closing up the agreement until after the arrival of Governor Pitkin, who is expected in a few days.

The Ute Ontbreak.

The house committee on Indian affairs to-day continued its investigation of the causes of the recent Ute outbreak.

Commissioner of Indian affairs Hayt concluded his statement, which embodied a general defense of his administration. Cherry, of the 5th cavalry, adjutant of Thornburgh's command, gave an interesting history of military movements, but expressed no opinion as to any remote causes of the outbreak.

The Pacific Coast Bailroad Extension. Conference committees of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and St. Louis and San Francisco railroad companies had another meeting in this city yesterday to discuss the combination of the two roads, and the building of an extension to the Pacific coast. It was stated by the officers of the St. Louis and San Francisco company that everything had been satisfactorily arranged except to draft necessary papers, and that the entire sum needed, $25,000,000, had been provided for.

Edison Talks about his Light.

The attention of Edison having been called by the doubts of some Parisian critics, concerning the stability of the carbon horse shoe, and claim that it eventually wastes away by decomposition, said : "A complete answer to that is the actual resuit. I can state that the oldest lamp in my laboratory, after burning 505 hours. had its electrical resistance measured, and there was not a difference of one-tenth of an ohm from the time when it was orig-inally put in the circuit. The surface of this carbon which burned 505 hours, is as bright to-day as it was the day when first put in, whereas oxidization makes carbon Edison says he has not sold a black." share of his stock.

Money Wanted,

A committee has been appointed of the elergy and laity of the Protestant Episcopal Church to devise a plan for raising 5750,000 to insure the payment of the general theological seminary's current expenses; to provide for library, dromitories, lecture room, a new chapel; support the faculty and/establish a few feilowships. For a long time there has been a want of funds at the seminary.

The Celebrated Rlot Case Dismissed.

In the case of Leopold Westheimer, agent, vs the Pennsylvania Fa iroad Co., in which he sues for $1,710, the value of goods shipped over the road and burned at Pittsburg during the railroad riot, Judge Wallace denied a new trial, holding that the company was not responsible for the acts of the mob.

A Successful Opera Season.

Chicago, Jan. 24 .- The Mapleson opera company to night concluded the most successful two weeks of opera ever given here, the receipts being over $60,060. Col. Mapleson has received overtures from California managers, but just now is not likely to accept them. If he does go to the east, it will be after June.

A Fearful and Perilous Accident.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 .- At 2 o'clock this morning an accident occurred on the ele-vated railroad on 14th street, by which a car containing workmen was wrecked and several men seriously injured. The engine, while running at the rate of 30 miles an hour or more, dragging its single car with 25 or more human beings, employes of the road, struck a switch with a jerk that threw every one off his feet, run over one middle track, jumped off, breaking the rail guard and rail, and ties for a distance of twenty feet or more, and landed below squarely on its wheels in the roadway. The three that were in the cab went down with it. Those in the rear were excited by the crash and shock, and realizing their danger, ran for the doors, expecting every second to follow, but the car stopped abruptly at the broken rail.

steamer will be allowed to come ashore after being well fumigated, to attend to necessary business. All freight on board will remain untouched until the passengers come ashore, when the ship will be thoroughly fumigated, after which the goods will be landed.

Mining Company Elections.

At the Sierra Nevada election to-day, John Skae retired and Messra, Drexler, Lyle, Fish, Graves and O'Connor were chosen directors. California re-elected the old board.

The report of the secretary of the Sierra

Nevada shows the following: Liabilities -Cash due Nevada Bank, $230,443; billpayable, and balance on Eureka util, due March 1, 1880, $37,500. No cash on hand. The report of the secretary of the California shows a cash surplus and bullion on hand in San Francisco and Virginia

Vinutsia, Jan. 21.-Captain Kelly has just returned from Lady Bryan and reports the drift east five feet from a point on an incline of 90 feet on a slope below the 750 level, and facing the ledge. He brings samples of ore there encountered, which are certainly very rich. The mine will be open to day till 1 P. M. to allow all who wish to see the formation, and the livery stables are being exhausted for team to take visitors there. Kelly says nothing further than the foregoing, and to all questions replies, "Go and see for yourseif." Assay offices are busy on the work.

The Bubble Has Burst.

VIRCINIA, Jan. 21.-It is almost needless to say that the Lady Bryan bubble has burst. Visitors report the ledge regular in formation, but the rock assays only from $1 to $2. Everbody is thoroughly disgusted. The native silver said to have been horned out of the ore proves to be older. Kelly says that the miners salted drill holes on him, and the people say that Kelly salted the mine on them.

Why the Central Pacific Men Sold.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.-Concerning the sale of 50,000 shares of Central Pacific stock to a syndicate of eastern capitalists. Governor Stanford said yesterday to an Alta reporter: "I do not know that the sale will cause any change of policy. The amount sold was not such as to indicate any change in the control of the line. The stock was sold without any special object in view; but simply in accordance with the desire of stockholders to put the stock on the market and to enable them to sell at fair prices. The stock has been on the board before, but I do not know that any was sold. I would like to see our own neople take stock and keep it at home. The road is in such a condition as to pay 6 per cent per annum without any trouble. By dispersing the stock into a number of hands, there will be a large number of persons taking active interest in the company."

FOREIGN.

Distress in Ireland Acute and Extending.

DUBLIN, Jan. 20 .- An appeal of the Mansion committee to the people of the nited States, says: It is now admitted that the distress is of acute and exceptional character and certain to involve actual starvation if extensive aid be not promptly and liberally forthcoming. The distress daily increases in intensity and area, and it seems almost impossible to avert, until next harvest, absolute famine in very many places. This central committee distributes its relief through local committees, of which the clergy of all denominations in a district, rich and poor, the law and medical officers, must be members, and requires that relief be given only in kind and not in money.

Versailles and Paris.

Coquettish Susannahs are finding out that, from their point of view, it was betthat, from the parliament to sit at Versailles than on the Quai d'Orsay. Serions leg-islative work having been impossible when the Chamber met in the Department of Seine et Oise, legislators often applied their heart to amusement. The ourney to the Chamber and the journey back took, with the half hour passed in loitering at gossiping at the St. Lazare terminus, the best par, of the afternoon. Hardly had the Deputies got to their destination and sittled down to their places before it was time to start off Parisward. In running to and fro, they contracted a vagaboud and adventurous humor. There were agreeable recontres in the railway trains with the fair dames who adorn the tribanes. For these representative French ladies everything was for the best in the Versaillist regime. Women are never to happy as when the unforseen is always disturbing the daily course of their lives. And what a fine part the unforseen played in those express Deputies' train, and what delightful incidents cropped up ! The most trifling circumstante might be a hinge on which great events were to turn. A parliamentary session meant a parliament with a numerous female following continually on the wing. This vagrancy induced bustle, activity, and brisk excitement, and rid the fashionable world of Paris of the languiß blase style of beauty. The stage which was afforded to fashionable women between the parliamentary 'meet" at St. Inzare and the return home in the evening was most ample, public and never overcrowded. There was room and to spare for all. On the eve of great debates there were at certain dressmaking houses private exhibitions of the costumes which leading belles who habitually graced the tribune were to wear. Newspaper chroniclers were invited to attend the shows. Forewomen went round to prompt descriptions, and to enablescribes in their picturesque jottings on the morrow to render full justice to the robes no less than to the wearers. Explanations were interspersed with chitchat, which were set down in the note-books and worked into reports of the debite on the following evening for boulevird journals. The house which took the initiative in this kind of exhibition was soon able to give its forewoman a salary of 100,000 francs a year.

There is no such field at the Palais Bourbon. The parliamentary belle drives there, and is shown toher place without loss of time. The sitting over, she hurries down a narrow starcase and out to the quai, where her brougham awaits her. As Deputies congregate in rooms sacred to themselves, and as the reporters enter in by the Rue de Bourgogne, there is little to be won by a toquettish Susannah in promenading it the Salle de la Paix, which is used as a lobby between writhing Laocoon and siern Minerva. A country cousin may here see Gambeita proceeding from his residence to take the chair. He is escorted by a picket of infantry and by a finelooking Colonel-Rieu - and a Lieutenant in command of a detachment of soldiers, who walk, holding their swords bared, beside him. He carries his crush hat in his hand. The picket keeps off place hunters and intemperate admirers. Ministers also pass from the Petit Bourbon through this lobby. The great postal reformer, Cochery, who will turn up in a new Cabinet if Waddington is defeated next winter, bre opening day at the Presidential Palace, where he met Lepere, Gen. Farre, De Freycinet and Henri Brisson, for whom Grevy may be obliged to send. At Versailles, both in the Senate House and in the Chamber of Deputies, the public tribunes were admirably disposed to show off the bonnets and busts of the ladies. The first tier was a wide balcon, and the parliamentary belles contrived to keep possession of the front seats. Skirts and pretty feet were displayed in the walk across the curbstone pavement of the Place d'Armes. In the Palais Bourbon there is no balcon. The first tier is disposed like the dress circle of a London opera house. No unbroken line of delicious bonnets and charming faces will rejoice the eye of M. Gambetta as he sits in the chair. Pillars and partitions cause solutions of continuity, and impede the instantaneous transmission from one extremity to the other of the semi-circular gallery of those electrical currents which an eloquent speaker generates. The press, which is lodged in the second or topmost gallery, resents being placed on a less-favored footing than a lot of idle women. A member of the bureau, on whom a grumbler called to expostulate, refused point blank to gratthe fourth estate by turning ladies ify out. He thought it was for the interest of the republic for the latter to come to the chamber. This consideration I will not go into, but I think the bureau of the chamber shows a wise discretion in keeping the ladies on its side. When Parisiennes bond against a government look out for its fall. The fate of cabinets is often decided in boudoirs and salons. Chief among the dispensers of official patronage are ladies. A parliamentary Ulysses with whom I have been talking about this state of things did not see that it was to be regretted. Frenchwomen, he said, did not make a corrupt use of their power to give away places. They are generally moved by an amiable wish to please, or by pity, when they are not actuated by hatred. Small attentions on the part of public men secure their gratitude, and they are prone to avenge triffing wrongs. It is a mistake to think the cocotte sways parliamentary groups. She is too unstable in her ideas to be a directing mind. Nor is the rapacious, handsome woman a power. An isolated man may be her slave; a number of men will not simultaneously be enslaved by her. Ulysses went over a list of fair contemporaneous wirepullers. There was not one of them, he said, who was not more or less goodnatured, and they have all arrived at that time of life when women enjoy doing kind actions Vanity, no doubt, was one of their ruling passions.

The road is now in full connection with the Atchison & Topeka.

Secretary Schurz on Pending Ute Ques-tions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 .- Secretary Schurz said to-day : "It has never been held by the department of the interior that if any individual member of the Ute nation committed a crime that the whole nation should be held responsible and punished arrest. therefor; but under provisions of the treaty of 1868 if certain offences are committed by the Utes against the whites, the Ute nation is bound to surrender the offenders, and this fact is fully recognized by Ouray. If a peaceful settlement can be made with the Utes there is no one in the department that desires to deprive them of their reservation without allowing them the most liberal compensation. It is thought by some members of the Ute delegation now in this city that a good many Indians will be willing to settle down in severalty upon agricultural lands on their present reservation and yield the balance of the land to the government, and that those who will not do this will go on 50,000 more. The price paid for the peaceably to the Unitah reservation." In stock is said to be 75, but a higher price. some further remarks the Secretary said : "I deem it my duty to do all I can toward settling the present difficulties without an Indian war and without doing injustice to any one."

Counterfeit Coins.

The solicitor of the treasury to-day rendered an official opinion classing the socalled educational toy money with counterfeit coins.

Matters of Interest to Oregon.

In the senate to-day there was pre-sented a petition of H. Villard, president of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Co., praying that the duty on imported steel rails shall be specific and not to exceed ten dollars per ton 1 also, a petition of the Portland board of trade for the appropriation of $250,000 for the improvement of the Columbia river.

A Land League Meeting Disturbed by a Priest.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20,-A London di patch says: On Sunday an unusual scene occurred at Balla in county Mayo at a meeting of tenant farmers to join the Balla tenants in defense of the association. After the mass meeting the members attempted to explain the purpose of the Irish national league association. While the rules were being read, the parish priest, Father Sheridan, entered and in a rage called on the people to disperse. He said that he would not allow interference in the parish, nor allow any secret organization. A gentleman said that it was not a secret organization. These are the rules of the national land league, he said. I represent it, and so does Charles Stewart Great cheers were given for Parnell and Davitt. The crowd was excited. The priest said that the gentleman was a blackguard and wanted to extort money from the people. The parish priest vainly commanded and begged the people to disperse, and finally went away discomfited. The meeting then chose delegates. The retiring delegates were escorted by large

In New Hands.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 .- The Tribune this morning publishes the following: A syndicate of the prominent bankers, which includes a number of persons largely interested in the Wabash & U. P. R. R. systems, has been formed for the purpose of buying a large block of Central Pacific stock. Negotiation for the purchase of the stock has been in progress for the last two weeks, but the contract was not completed until yesterday. C.P. Huntington, vice president of the Central Pacific Co., in behalf of himself and other owners of the road, has sold to the syndicate 50,000 shares of the stock and has given option said to be 80, will be paid for the second lot in case the syndicate shall take the option. This privilege extends over six months, but it is believed by prominent me abers of the syndicate that it will be taken long before it expires. Payment for the stock is to be made in cash, and no change will be made at present in the management of the road or its managers. It seems to be probable that, in case of the full success in marketing of the stock, the present transaction will be followed others. No condition in regard to by future purchase of stock, or the management of the road, has been included in the contract. It is purely a cash tran-saction. The owners of the road have been induced to part with their stock in order to share with others the control of the road, believing this divided control will add to the value of the property. Almost the entire stock of the company has been held by the original builders; Le-land Stanford, C. P. Huntington, Charles Crocker and C. F. Crocker. It is said that they consented to the sale of part of their stock in the belief that public attention would be attracted by this means to the value of the property. The members of the syndicate which has secured an interest in the C. P. road, are R. P. Fowler & Co., Prince & Whitley, Hatch & Foote, John Loebe & Co., and Hall, Garten & Co., May & King, Marx & Co., I. S. Wormser, Phillip Speyer & Co., Fisk & Hatch, Brewster, Sweet & Co., of Boston, Wm. H. Trayers, August Rutten, Morton, Bliss & Co., Speyer Brothers & Co., of Holland, Russell Sage and Jay Gould. An executive committee consisting of R. P. Flower, J. D. Prince and J. D. Probst, was chosen to conduct the affairs of the syndicate. The stock will not be sold by subscription, but a portion of it will be offered early next week on the stock exchange. The stock has been on the list of the exchange for many years, but dealings in it have been almost nothing, for the reason that the stock was held in a few hands, It is the purpose of the committee to make the stock one of the active stocks on the exchange, and to this end a small amount will be offered, probably on Monday. One person who had been admitted to the syndicate yesterday sold his privilege at a very large advance. It was stated by a Death of Commodore Blake.

NEW York, Jan. 22 .- Commdore Homes C. Blake, of the United States navy, died to-day from a malarial disease contracted during a recent cruise in the Asiatic squadron. He was at Washington about six weeks ago, when he passed an examination for promotion to commodore. He was confined to his house only a week. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

Yakoob Bey's Condemned Children.

WASAINGTON, Jan. 22 .- The president of the New York Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Children memoralized congress to-day through Senator Kernan, calling attention to the barbarities practiced on certain Chinese children. has sent to congress and the president a communication in relation to a pitiful appeal which has reached him from the Pacific coast. He says that in 1877 Yakoob Bey, the famous Central Asian Chief and Chinese Rebel, was captured and put to death by the Chinese government by a slow and painful process. Those of his family who had not fled on his death into Russian territory were cruelly executed. As if the exile or slaughter of every adult kinsman of his were not penalty enough. four of his children, ranging in ages from fourteen to five have been solemnly arraigned for 'hereditary high treason to the Emperor of China,' One would naturally conclude that the complicity of the boys being disproved, their acquittal of guilt should follow, especially in view of their tender years. On the contrary they are consigned to a doom more horrible than death. In brief, they are to be kept until a certain age in prison and then cruelly emasculated and consigned as slaves to the soldiery for uses and practices unhappily to common in the east, but which, Lord Coke says, "are not so much as to be named among Christians." "This," says President Gerry, "is no overdrawn picture." He implores immediate action in the matter, and states that if the Chinese government will commute the sentence of these wretched children to banishment this Society stands ready to receive and place them at its own expense where they will be properly maintained. educated and cared for.

A Big Consolidation.

One end tipped over the abyss below. the coupling broke and only the engine fell. Had the car followed and fallen on it, instant death would have been the fate beyond a doubt of those who escaped with comparitively slight bruises. Those in the car above managed to make their way out and along the track to a depot a block further back, and thence into the street. Many were bleeding from slight cuts and bruises, and one brakem in named Hayes was taken from the platform of the car into which the train had r in, to sed over from the platform of h s own car by the concussion, much bewild-ered, though little hurt. Those who ran to the engine expected fully to see its three occupants dead under the wreck but to their astonishment met half way the engineer and fireman who had climbed through the shattered cab windows. The conductor was helped out the sime way. He of all was most badly hurt one leg being broken in several places. Murder by Texan Cow Boys.

Sr. Louis, Jan. 24,--The Republican has a special from Trinidad, Colorado, which says: Several cow boys, from the Panhandle of Texas are said to be camped between here and Las Vegas. Forty-five of them entered Las Vegas on Thursday night, killed the city marshal, two citizens and wounded five others.

Appeal from the Lord Mayor of Dablin.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin has issued an appeal through the London press in behalf of the Mansion House relief committee, stating that the committee is not connected with any organization, and that it consists of representatives of all creeds and all shades of politics. The appeal states that evidence accumulates that there is scarcely a county in Ireland in which terrible privation does not exist in some portion, though it is more severe in the western counties and on the northwest and southwest seaboards. The lord mayor ears that the public of London does not realize the gravity of the crisis, or that unless prompt assistance be given, thousanpe of people must die of starvation. He cannot think that if they did, they who gave hundreds of thousands to avert the famine in India, would have given less to the Mansion house fund, than had Sydney or Melbourne. The lord mayor states that £8000 have already been distributed out of the $20,000 received, but that this is a mere drop in the ocean of need. He fears the recurrence of the disaster of 1847, when abundant assistance was forthcoming, but too late to save life. At Saturday's meeting of the Dublin Mansion house relief committee 80 applications for relief were received and grants were made amounting to £2685. The total amount so far granted is £8340. Five hundred pounds w rate vived from Washington and £1500 troin New York.

The Suffering Poor Still Call For Aid. A deputation of unemployed laborers of Dublin yesterday waited upon Right Honorable James Lowther, chief secre-tary of Ireland, to ask his influence in providing means to relieve distress among the laboring and poorer classes. The spokesman for the workingmen said that here were four thousand laborers unemployed in Dublin, whose families are des titute. Lowther expressed his sympathy. but said he could not see in what manner the governmeut could give them employment. A largely attended meeting of tenant farmers was held at Ballymoney, county Antrim, last evening. Intenstfied Distress in Ireland. The distress in Ireland is intensifying under the influence of hard frost and biting cold, which during the last four days succeeded the mild weather which had prevailed since Christmas, Clare Lowell Read, addressing his constituents at Diss, Norfolk, yesterday, detailed his experiences of a recent visit to America, and highly eulogized Americans.
