

THE EUGENE CITY GUARD

EUGENE CITY, OREGON. SATURDAY, MAR. 30, 1880

Democratic County Convention.

At a meeting of the Democratic County Committee, held at Eugene City, Feb. 20, 1880, it was ordered that the Democratic County Convention be held at Eugene City, on Saturday, the 27th day of March, 1880, for the purpose of selecting 10 delegates to the State Convention, to be held at Albany, April 7th; also of nominating a candidate for State Senator, 4 candidates for Representatives, 2 candidates for County Commissioners, a candidate for County Judge, Sheriff, Clerk, Treasurer, Assessor, School Superintendent, Surveyor and Coroner. It was also recommended that the precinct conventions be held at the respective places of voting on Saturday, March 20th.

The County Convention will consist of 56 delegates, apportioned one for each precinct and one for every 25 votes or fraction thereof of 15 or over, cast for State Senator at the June election, 1878, as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Precinct Name and Number of Delegates. Includes Pleasant Hill (3), North Eugene (4), Camp Creek (1), Springfield (4), Willamette (3), Cottage Grove (4), Coast Fork (3), Mohawk (2), Spencer (2), Richardson (4).

Total 56. J. M. THOMPSON, Chairman.

Tilden.

Four years of ceaseless persecution and slander, from his enemies, has not weakened the strength of Mr. Tilden with the Democratic phalanx. His record when Governor of New York, purifying the public service of his State, and by the aid of his messages and vetoes redeeming it from a speculating ring, and securing the conviction and punishment of the offenders is a matter of history. No man could boast a fairer reputation, both with political adherents and opposers, than Mr. Tilden at the time of his nomination for the Presidency. But this was the signal for the opening of the floodgates of calumny and misrepresentation from opponents, who but a short period before had lauded and heralded him forth as a patriotic and honest citizen.

The day for the final contest came and, he was assured of the confidence of the people, receiving a plurality of over a quarter of a million votes, and a majority of the electoral votes had right and justice prevailed. But robbers who had thrived and fattened at the public crib for preceding years were not ready to relinquish their hold on the spoils, when by collusion and chicanery the will of the majority could be thwarted. Returning Boards in Louisiana and Florida, and a political Electoral Commission at the capitol, robbed Mr. Tilden of his fairly earned honors. It is a trite maxim, that we hate those whom we have wronged; this would account for all the Republican misrepresentations and lies that have been circulated prejudicial to Tilden, and with the hope of destroying him. They fear and hate the man whom they have so basely wronged. Should he be renominated nothing could prevent as honest count of the vote, and he would certainly be installed in the position from which he was kept before, by conscienceless and corrupt tools of the Republican party.

Can We Fund at Three Per Cent.?

There can be no doubt, the New York World alleges, that with proper legislation all the national indebtedness maturing in 1881 could be funded at three per cent, to the great and immediate advantage of the taxpayer, and, therefore, of the resources of the country. Measures really looking to this end have already been introduced into the legislature of New York, and of other States, and nothing can be more certain that this end is in the thought and purpose of intelligent and far-seeing men all over the country.

The State of Virginia is to-day, the Richmond Commonwealth declares, a repudiating State by the vote of her negroes, by the vote of the Republican party, while the "rebel element" which that party has been maliciously slandering and vilifying as the embodiment of lawlessness and disorder, is insisting and demanding that it shall have an opportunity to pay back the money which its State borrowed and spent.

LANE COUNTY is Democratic, and with good men on the ticket will so prove herself in June. Men who have occupied an equivocal political position are not wanted; nominate no man who has wandered away after strange gods, and only returns with a view to securing office.

"Honest John Whiteaker."

The Walla Walla Statesman, of March 6th, pays our Representative in Congress, the following well-merited compliment:

Oregon may well feel proud of her Representative to Congress, John Whiteaker, familiarly and favorably known as "Honest John." It was thought by his friends, and even some of the most intimate, that Gov. Whiteaker, as a Congressman, would be little else than a painstaking, conscientious member, keeping strictly within the lines of duty, and seldom rising above what is known as the average M. C. There were never any fears that he would be dormant, or a mere seat warmer, but few expected he would be the active Congressman that he is. We are informed through Washington correspondence that Gov. Whiteaker is looked upon as the encyclopedia of the House Committee on Indian Affairs, and is invariably its leader in all deliberations. His familiarity with parliamentary law, acquired while honorably serving his State as President of the Senate, makes him the peer of any tactician on the floor; and who is one of the oldest and best posted members of the House, does not deem it inadvisable to occasionally consult on the governing rules with the Lane county farmer. Oregon has never before had a Congressman who has been more on the alert for its interests, and who has introduced and carefully carried to a successful close more bills. In the departments, our correspondent says he is a perfect power; and never have one of his constituents yet sent him work in such quarters that has not been pushed to the uttermost. Again we say, we congratulate Oregon on her Congressman, and regret that she has not oftener been so ably represented.

LAYING OUT A WARM SUMMER.

Suppose the Republicans nominate General Grant for President; suppose the Independent Republicans nominate a candidate of their own; suppose Tilden captures the Democratic nomination; suppose the anti-Tildenites run John Kelly; then suppose General Butler takes the field as a Workingman's candidate--wouldn't there be politics enough abroad in this glorious and to make things lively this Summer? asks the New York Tribune.

The Fulton, Pa., Democrat, says: Never before, we suppose, in the history of the country has a political party so succeeded in stultifying itself as has the Republican party. In 1875-76 it is again at a third term, and so expressed itself in very certain terms. In 1880 it deliberately declares for a third term, and casts its previous utterances on the subject to the four winds. Comment on such gross inconsistency is hardly necessary.

If the Democratic party ever expects to get power again, remarks the Bloomsburg, Pa., Columbian, it must learn a few things from the opposition. Republicans have their leaders whom they have acknowledged as such, and follow them. This leads to perfect organization, and victory is the result. There is too much fighting among our Captains; and hence too little confidence in them by the rank and file.

The only safe course, the Utica Observer thinks, is to incorporate the one-term principle in the Constitution and make the President directly ineligible to re-election, leaving the term at four years. The Democratic party must enter the canvass as the advocates of this doctrine. We must defeat not only the threatened revival of Grantism, but all possibility of third terms and second terms hereafter.

The Radical party cannot stand the quieting and prosperous effects of peace; therefore the premeditated and ceaseless attempts to encourage and breed sectional discord. Grant is needed to stir up and foster discords between the sections, to again involve the country in discordant brawls, that the party may have a plea for another lease of power.

INDIANA Republicans are growing tired of the negro invasion. In the last batch that arrived in that State, six were voters and forty women and children. The gentlemen who look to the exodus as a means of political revolutionizing the State are praying for more "bucks" of an advanced age.

A Heavy Sentence.

A San Francisco dispatch of March 16th, gives us the information that the Police Judge, that morning, sentenced Dennis Kearney to six-months imprisonment, and $1,000 fine. Kearney appealed to the Superior court.

The language used by Kearney upon which this outrageous sentence is based is as follows:

"There is Claus Spreckles the biggest thief that ever went unhung and ---, I am man enough to tell him so to his face," and "I tell you right here, if I hear of any man plotting to kill me, by ---, I shall kill him so help me God;" and the modern Jeffreys in passing sentence, stated that he acted without prejudice, feeling or vindictiveness. An absolute despot could hardly use severer measures to repress an exercise of free speech. Dennis Kearney may deserve punishment on general principles, but such an arbitrary, unjust sentence as the above will create a sympathy for him in the mind of every lover of our free institutions.

A Pertinent Resolution.

At the National Democratic Convention, held at St. Louis, July 1876, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the States be requested to instruct their Delegates to the National Democratic Convention, to be held in 1880, whether it be desirable to continue the two-thirds rule longer in force in the National Convention and that the National convention insert such a request in the call for the next Convention.

It will be in order for the State Democratic Convention of Oregon, when delegates to the National Convention at Cincinnati, June 22d, are chosen, to declare the sense of the Convention on the above resolution.

The pretense that General Grant would only be a candidate for President in response to a call from his party, and in obedience to what he believed to be the demands of public exigency, has been stripped from his shoulders by the actions of his friends, and to-day, it is a recognized fact that not only is he a candidate of the Conkings and Camerons.

How quickly organs in favor of protection change the tune when the shoe pinches their foot. They feel the injustice of the legalized robbery otherwise called protective tariff, when paper is the commodity that has protection sufficient to enable the manufacturer to advance prices fifty per cent.

MR. HENRY WARD BEECHER should keep out of politics, is the opinion of the Cincinnati Commercial, and confine himself to preaching the gospel of love. He always was a failure when he attempted to make a sensation in a political way.

ATTEND the primary meetings to-day. Every Democrat interested in the welfare of the country should add strength to the party by taking part in the primary conventions.

AN exchange says that all the Presidential candidates are in the hands of their friends. Before long, however, the great number will be in the hands of their enemies.

FRANK LESLIE'S SUNDAY MAGAZINE--The March number is promptly on our table, taking precedence of all its contemporaries. It is in every respect a most admirable one; a religious, pure and moral tone prevades its pages, and still they abound with articles which appeal to all tastes and classes, and from the pen of the most notable authors. The opening article, by Heart Lytton, entitled "Eather Brandon's Mission Class," is a very pleasing narrative of the lady's experience in the mission. "The Puritan Revolution," by Rev. Lyman Abbott, is replete with the stirring incidents resulting in the organization of the Puritan party under Cromwell. Those admirable articles on "The Persecutions," of the Huguenots in France under Louis XIV. Etc., etc. An elaborate article on the late Frank Leslie, by the editor (with illustrations), is a beautiful tribute to the artistic and personal merit of the deceased. There are poems of great excellence sketches, essays, and adventures, etc. One hundred and twenty-eight quarto pages and 100 illustrations; the price of a single copy 25 cts., or $3 per annum, postpaid. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

REMEMBER UPON THE FEMINE COUNTENANCE, if of a complexion that needs special nourishment when GLENN'S SCALP SOAP is used to obliterate them. Pimples, blotches, moths, redness, patches, roughness, tan and freckles are invariably banished by the incomparable clarifying agent. Eruptive ailments, sores, cuts, bruises, scalds and other affections and injuries of the article are likewise removed by it. Scalp baths have long been renowned as the best remedy for skin diseases, Rheumatism and gout. GLENN'S SCALP SOAP is in every respect as efficacious, and far cheaper. By opening the pores and promoting a vigorous superficial circulation, this excellent article contributes to the health of the entire system as well as to that of the cuticle. Since its introduction to public notice it has repeatedly been commended by the medical profession on pressed and few external specifics have won such "golden opinions" among all classes. It prevents obnoxious diseases as well as remedies them, and disinfects clothing and linen impregnated with disease. Dandruff is entirely eradicated by it, and its use is, on that account greatly desiderated by persons whose hair is thinning out in consequence of dryness of the scalp. Those who have used ointments and liquids without fail avail for the cure of eruptions of an obstinate character, will find, if they try it, that GLENN'S SCALP SOAP removes scabrous complaints irremediable by less efficacious means, and prevents the recurrence of such disorders. For bleaching fine articles of needlework and all kinds of white woolen, cotton and linen fabrics this soap is superior to any article that can be used for the purpose. Sold by druggists. Price 25c. per cake. 1 box (3 cakes) 75c., sent by mail, prepaid, on receipt of price. C. N. Crittenton, Prop'r, 58th Avenue, New York. Hill's hair and whisker dye, black or brown, 50c.
