Lower Siuslaw.

[Coos Bay News.]

The settlers of the North Fork of the Siuslaw by the authority of the School Superintendent of their county held a meeting, organized a school district and reported twenty scholars in time to draw their apportionment of public school fund.

At the month and along the lower part of Siuslaw, in Lane county, there is a population of about 100 voters without any precinct organization. The authorities in Lane should attend to this matter as the settlers there are very desirous of an organization.

A Bold Outrage.

We have learned the particulars of a rather bold outrage perpetrated up the McKenzie, Friday evening, March 19th. About dark on that evening while a son of Mr. Matt Spores, about sixteen years of age, was attending to the stable duties he was knocked down by being struck on the back of the head with some blunt instrument, and his pockets turned inside out. The would be robbers secured nothing but an old jack knife, and while leaving the premises dropped a plug of tobacco. Mr. Spores becoming alarmed at the prolonged absence of his son, and fearing that he had been kicked by a horse, started for the stable and found the boy coming to his senses, crawling around on his hands and knees. The boy says there were two men, and describes them as being black. It is surmised that they are the parties who escaped from the jail here, a short time since. The boy sustained no permanent injuries. Mr. Spores offers a reward of $100 for the arrest of the guilty parties.

STOCK SHIPMENT—The shipments of horses and cattle from this place have been large during the present week. Tuesday, two car loads of stall fed cattle were sent below, one to Salem by Mr. Geo. Milligan, and the other to Portland, of stock fattened by Mr. C. W. Young. Mr. Frazier, who is buying horses for work on the railroad from the Dalles to Walla Walla, also shipped three car loads of good work horses, numbering about fifty head. Over $10,000 has been realized from the stock sold at this place within the past few weeks.

EASTER CONCERT—A concert for the benefit of the M. E. S. S., consisting of an "Easter Service," will be given at the M. E. Church Sunday evening. An entertaining programme has been prepared for the occasion. A contribution of ten cents will be asked at the door, which will be applied to supplying the school with necessary papers and lesson helps.

RUNAWAY—A team belonging to Mr. John Hollis took a spin down Willamette street, breaking the harness and wagon, and scattering the load of flour contained in the wagon last Saturday.

REOPENED—Louis Solomon reopened his store at Junction City, last Monday.

Burglary.

Frank Sutor's Store at Coburg Robbed—$200 Extracted from the Safe.

On last Sunday evening between the hours of two and five o'clock the store room of Frank Sutor, at Coburg, Willamette Forks, was entered by a burglar and $140 in gold and $60 in silver abstracted from the safe. Mr. Sutor left the store at two o'clock, with his gun, on a shooting expedition, and on his return at five became aware of the robbery. The thief had entered the cellar of the ware room through an air-hole, and from this made his way to the store room through a door that was only tied with a string. Unfortunately for Mr. Sutor, when closing the safe, he had not put on the combination, and the burglar easily secured the spoil. Nothing else was disturbed, the burglar leaving everything except the coin, exactly as he found it. The only clue to the perpetrator is that he is a tobacco chewer. From all the circumstances, it is evident that the guilty party lives in the neighborhood, and is familiar with the surroundings of the store.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

A column devoted to the interests of the Laurean and Estaxian Literary Societies, and the State University.

A. S. ROSENTHAL, EDITOR.

Salutatory.

At the last meeting of the Laurean Society, the resignation of Mr. G. A. Dorris was accepted and the present incumbent elected to fill the vacancy. In justice to the gentleman, it is enough to say that the society had great confidence in his ability as editor, and had he not been called away on business, he would have filled this position with honor to himself and pride to the society. It has long been the custom to regard the aforesaid as one of the pillars of the Laureans, but when the burden of editing the paper fell upon his shoulders, he collapsed and in his fall the load fell upon our head. The departure of Mr. Dorris has left the society unsupported, and deprived our president of his right bower. The only consolation that Mr. Noland has in this bitter extremity is the satisfaction that he will be able to suppress all disorder, if not by parliamentary law, at least by that gavel which he wields so courageously. As he sits in the chair of State with that formidable weapon in his hand, one would almost imagine himself in the presence of old Samson.

In entering upon this task we are aware of our inability to present any extensive news before the public, and therefore bespeak a certain share of your indulgence. Trusting that we will be able to express our ideas in as forcible and concise a manner as possible, and that we will advance this scheme that has been inaugurated, until it shall assume a permanent feature of our society.

A. S. ROSENTHAL.

Junior Items.

The rhetorical exercises in Prof. Gatch's room last Friday were uncommonly interesting. The programme was neatly printed on the board and consisted of orations, essays, declamations and quotations from prominent authors. These quotations are a new feature in our rhetorical, and are interesting as well as valuable one. Shakespeare, Cooper, Milton, Wordsworth, Pope and others were quoted from. Some literary gems were thus introduced.

The junior division consists of about 20 "hoplites," and Prof. Gatch is doing much towards drilling this division, determined that it shall become as famous as that illustrious tenth legion of Caesar. The great want now is visitors, and in order to secure them Professor Gatch is talking of making negotiations with an Eastern firm to furnish cheap chromos which he will offer as an inducement to citizens of Eugene to attend rhetorical exercises so that the bashful juniors may become accustomed to speaking before company.

Only four visitors were present last Friday—four young ladies—"Sweet sixteens." This caused the boys to do their "purtiest" for some way or other those heart-smashing sophtories, for some reason which we challenge the faculty to explain, are all the incentive an average junior wants to push him right through to success.

Don't forget to attend these Friday afternoon exercises. Seats free, and we never "pass the hat."

Laurean News.

On Friday evening, Mar. 19th, our usually quiet society was agreeably surprised, as after calling the roll, Hon. R. B. Cochran, arose from his seat, and presented the society with a handsome gavel. He spoke of the various uses of the gavel in deliberative bodies, and of its efficiency in maintaining order and decorum. He hoped its rap would resound through the Laurean Hall announcing decisions rendered in all fairness and impartiality. The society thankfully appreciated the gift, and especially the kindly interest manifested by the gentleman in behalf of the society.

The question for debate, "Should the State be taxed for the support of Higher Education," was one of interest as was shown by the many participants in the debate. Although a great majority of the students have scholarships, yet the negative side prevailed.

April 2d the society will discuss the question, Resolved, "That Dennis Kearney has been a benefit to the working classes of California." As both leaders and colleagues are tyros in logic's intricate mazes, we shall expect Dennis to be roughly handled.

QUISQUAM.

Resolution of Thanks.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted by the Laurean Society:

WHEREAS, This society has been presented with a handsome gavel by Hon. R. B. Cochran, and in order to show our appreciation for the gift, therefore be it

Resolved, That the thanks of this society are due and hereby extended to that gentleman.

There will be a meeting of the corporation April 3d, at 3 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of transacting important business. All the members are requested to attend.
