ANNUAL ADDRESS.—The committee appointed to invite a speaker to address the societies, have invited Rev. G. J. Burchell, president of the McMinnville College, to deliver the annual address to the Laurean and Etaxian societies. We learn the invitation has been accepted, and that Wednesday, June 16, 10 o'clock A. M., has been fixed for the time of delivering the address. Fuller announcement will be made in due time. The societies may congratulate themselves that so able and pleasing a speaker has been secured.

CROP PROSPECTS.—From present prospects Lane county will have a bountiful harvest this year. From every locality we hear encouraging reports. Much more early grain has been sown than usual heretofore, and no great fear need be entertained of a possible repetition of last year's disaster.

FIRE INSTRUMENTS.—The University Brass Band has lately received two excellent horns from a manufacturer in the East. One is a baritone, helices shaped, and is owned by Robert Bushnell; the other is a B flat cornet and is owned by Frank Woolley. The two instruments cost $96 delivered.

MARRIED.—At the residence of Rev. W. M. Houston, in this city, on May 2, 1880, by Rev. Houston, Mr. M. S. Clerk, Jr., to Mrs. Ruby Elmer, all of Junction City.

Success in Carp.

For the encouragement of the parties who have engaged in carp culture, we give the following extract from a California paper showing the success that attended a carp venture in that State: "For the first time; since stocking it a little over a year ago, John T. Rodda, of this place, drew off his carp pond last Saturday, arriving at some definite idea as to his success. About the first of March last year Mr. Rodda procured from Mr. Poppe, of Sonoma county, four two-year old and fifty-two yearling carp—the former being about ten inches in length and the latter five inches. Only the few older fish are supposed to have bred, and of these only two are female, and their progeny now number several thousand. The larger fish now three years old, measure sixteen to eighteen inches in length, two-year olds ten inches, and the small fry are doubtless from three different spawnings, being from five inches down to an inch and a half in length—the latter evidently being a late crop, just as the cold weather set in, during which they do not grow. We have heretofore published the characteristics of this fish—its domestic habits and easy feeding capacity, and Mr. Rodda's experience has determined the success of their culture here beyond peradventure.—Foothill Tidings."

"Don't wait till the horse is stolen before you lock the stable door."

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters as plain honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use any other else.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

Installation of Officers.

The ceremony of installing the officers of the Laurean Society took place last Friday, in accordance with the provision of the constitution. The president performed the duty of formally inaugurating the officers elected at the last meeting. The rap of the gavel was a signal for the society to rise. Each officer as his name was called walked up to the stand, and took the oath of office. This spectacle was grand to behold, for who could assume those arduous duties of office without feeling the great responsibility devolving upon him. The members of the society were astounded by the splendor of the performance, and were with great difficulty restrained from breaking out in vociferous acclamations of joy. Imagine a supplicant before the bar of justice, notice his dejected demeanor, his haggard look, and general restlessness, and you will have a fair representation of a Laurean listening to the reading of his official duties.

The president elect was conducted to the chair amid a loud clapping of hands. The Congressional Globes catching the sound caused it to reverberate through the hall and to fall with beautiful cadence upon the ears of the members. Again and again the sound was renewed until it became almost visible. Alas! those archives will soon be locked up in that "new book case," and will no more echo and re-echo the merry laugh and eloquent sound of the Laurean's voice. When the sound had ceased the president delivered his inaugural address. He thanked the society for electing him to fill the chair of president, and in a few words ran over his record as a member and officer of the society. This gentleman has been an almost constant attendant, and has been prominent among the debaters. On account of his knowledge of parliamentary law, and precedents of the society, we may promise ourselves an interesting term.

The ex-president, Mr. Noland, introduced many important changes, and succeeded admirably in entirely pacifying the discordant factions. When he took his seat there existed two parties both striving for the supremacy with an ardor never before known. On the night of his election party spirit ran high and the society was on the verge of a general outbreak. All the petty jealousies and animosities seemed to have burst forth and threatened the peace of the society. Many things were done and said, which could not efface; but as we enter upon the new term we can behold the beneficial results of party strife, and although all signs of dissension have not yet vanished, there is a hope that subsequent elections will be as quiet as the last.

Eutaxian Notes.

Since the April vacation we miss the genial presence of a good many Eutaxians from the society hall, making a noticeable decrease in our number. Still the attendance is very good, and the lively interest manifested by the most of the members seems to indicate that there will not be the want of activity that usually exists near the close of the year. To be sure, there are a few who seem disposed to take the position of auditors rather than that of working members, but their number is gradually diminishing, and we hope that before the close of the year each individual member will take an active part in the exercises. Certainly some of the girls are making rapid progress. Some of those who a few months ago could scarcely nerve themselves to say "Miss President, I believe—I think—I have nothing to say on the subject," can now discuss "Woman's Rights," or "Old Maids" with the boldest. We are glad to see that the friends outside of the school are taking an interest in the working of the society. Almost every Friday brings some friend or friends to inspire us to better efforts by their presence. The members were very much pleased to greet Miss Ina Condon last Friday, after an absence of some time. Miss Ina was formerly one of our most active members, and we hope she will frequently be seen in her old place among us. Our literary exercises consist of a debate and extemporaneous speeches on subjects drawn by lot, on one week, alternating with essays, readings, recitations, and discussion of biographical characters on the next. Occasionally the exercises are varied by an impromptu debate. These are usually quite interesting, and sometimes quite amusing. The society has made quite a step in advance of its state last year and we all feel encouraged to believe that we may in the near future sustain the characters indicated by our name, "Well sustained."

Rhetoricals.

Friday, April 30th, was the regular day for rhetoricals in chapel. Notwithstanding the very hot weather a few visitors were present. Exercises commenced with an instrumental solo, executed by Miss Mae Underwood in her usually brilliant style. The vocal music was excellent, but brief. The manner in which Mr. Frazer executed a piano solo was the admiration of all.

The rhetoricals, consisting of essays, declamations and recitations, were generally pretty good, though some were entirely too long. All with one or two exceptions were of a sober character. Nothing very brilliant was brought forth. Essays by Miss Aggie McCormack, and George Noland, declamations by W. J. McDaniels, and W. Mount, and recitation by Miss Atwater were worthy special mention. An essay on "Woman" by Mr. Wait, in which that gentleman extolled the superior qualities of the article, was particularly pleasing to the "Dunway League." Their sweet smiles deepened into a broad grin as it close. These meetings of the various divisions in chapel have been an interesting feature of the institution this year. The next, the last for the year, will be on June 5, when all who have not taken part heretofore will appear. "Co."

The Oregon Kidney Tea.

Read the following testimonials, not from persons 3,000 miles away, whom no one knows, but from well known and trustworthy citizens of Oregon, whose names, written with their own hands, can be seen at our office:

UNATILLA, Or., Jan. 20, 1880.

Having received great benefit by the use of the Oregon Kidney Tea, I take great pleasure in recommending it to those suffering from kidney troubles or lumbago as a speedy and sure cure.

J. A. PERKINS.

PORTLAND, Or., March 25, 1880.

Having tried the effects of the concentrated extract of Oregon Kidney Tea, we cheerfully bear witness to its beneficial agency in affections of the digestive organs. It is simple, safe and sure; is easily taken, and restores healthy vitality to the organs it is intended to operate upon with assured success.

We Challenge the World.

When we say we believe, we have evidence to prove that Shiloh's Consumption Cure is decidedly the best Lung Medicine made, in as much as it will cure a common Chronic Cough in one-half the time an I relieve Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, and show more cases of Consumption cured than all others. It will cure where they fail, it is pleasant to take, harmless to the youngest child, and we guarantee what we say. Price, 10 cts., 50 cts. and $1. If your Lungs are sore, Chest or Back lame use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by Osburn & Co., Druggists.

REMEMBER UPON THE FEMININE COMPLEXION that, if of a complexional nature, speedily vanishes when GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP is used to liberate them. Pimples, blotches, moth, redness, patches, roughness, tan and freckles are invariably banished by the incomparable clarifying agents. Eruptive ailments, sores, cuts, bruises, scabs and other affections and injuries of the cuticle are likewise removed by it. Sulphur baths have long been renowned as the best remedy for skin diseases, Rheumatism and gout. GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP is in every respect as efficacious, and far cheaper. By opening the pores and promoting a vigorous superficial circulation, this excellent article contributes to the health of the entire system, and is as that of the cuticle. Since its introduction to the public notice it has repeatedly been commended by the medical profession and pressed and few external specifics have won such "golden opinions" among all classes. It prevents obnoxious diseases as well as remedies them, and disinfects clothing and linen impregnated with diseases. Dandruff is entirely eradicated by it, and its use is, on that account greatly desirous by persons whose hair is thinning out in consequence of dryness of the scalp. Those who have used ointments and liquids without fail avail for the cure of eruptions of an obstinate character, will find, if they try it, that GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP removes scurfy complaints irretrievably by less efficacious means, and prevents the recurrence of such disorders. For bleaching fine articles of needlework and all kinds of white woolen, cotton and linen fabrics this soap is superior to any article that can be used for the purpose.
