

THE EUGENE CITY GUARD

EUGENE CITY, OREGON.

SATURDAY, JULY 17, 1880.

Democratic Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT: GEN. WINFIELD S. HANCOCK, Of New York.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT: WILLIAM H. ENGLISH, Of Indiana.

For Presidential Electors, J. K. WEATHERFORD, of Linn, T. G. OWEN, of Coos, J. G. FULTON, of Wasco.

Shame! Shame!

We clip the following from the Portland Bee, a Republican paper, in reference to the lies published in the Oregonian last Monday in relation to Gen. Hancock and wife. The Oregonian claims to be an independent paper, but, in truth, is one of the most radical and partisan papers published in Oregon, and on political questions is not to be relied on:

"Mrs. Hancock is the next victim doomed to the emasculation of all womanly and ladylike qualifications. It is to be seriously regretted that any Republican should so far forget his manhood and the interest of his party as to be guilty of a silly tirade against a lady in hope of gaining a little party favor thereby. Mrs. Hancock is not a candidate for the Presidency and should not be dragged before the public and picked to pieces by sensational correspondents and pitiful Jenkins of the press. The Republican party, as a party, is above such miserable subterfuge. And every right minded individual, Republican or Democrat, will condemn it. Respectable newspapers should positively refuse to publish any matter reflecting on the families or family relationships of the candidates. In fact we don't see any reason for alluding to Mrs. Hancock, Mrs. Garfield or their children during the campaign. The sickening stuff that is daily dished up for the people, has a contrary effect to that intended, and is sure to militate against, rather than promote the interests of the party. The sensational and lying twaddle impugning the valor and patriotism of General Hancock, which finds circulation through the Chicago Tribune, is not calculated to add dignity to that journal nor the party it advocates. To our certain knowledge these spiteful and lying diatribes are alienating staunch Republicans from the party and adding strength to the Democrats. Let the Republican press throughout the length and breadth of the land be first to crush these would be assassins of Gen. Hancock's character, and not by their silence indorse such a cowardly mode of warfare. We speak from a Republican and not a Democratic standpoint."

Not Popular.

There are spots in Massachusetts where General Arthur is not popular. The Springfield Republican says: The spectacle of Arthur parading on that platform with its civil service plank is one that the best Republicans down here cannot, at once contemplate with patience. It is difficult at this moment to find many, even among the machine men who are bound to be content with what is offered and declare it with fervor to be the very best, who will say that it was a wise concession and a skillful work. To say that the nomination for Vice President was given to Conkling to "conciliate him," after he had been beaten in a fair fight and his leadership rejected, and to say that Arthur was taken to make the ticket strong in New York State, where Arthur stands for the political methods which a large body of influential New York Republicans formally repudiate, is to talk in a way which doesn't help the matter.

The New York Sun says: The tribunal of eight to seven, infamous in history, overthrew a free and fair election by the people. No man who helped to strike that murderous blow at the suffrage, should receive honest votes for President of the United States. James A. Garfield was one of the guilty eight.

Returned.

We take the following from the Corvallis Gazette, although a Republican paper, it acknowledges that Gov. Whiteaker has made a good and faithful servant in the halls of Congress:

"Hon. John Whiteaker, member of Congress, has returned to Oregon for the summer. Gov. Whiteaker has made an efficient and faithful public servant, and we are glad to notice that the people of Oregon have shown their appreciation of his past services by public demonstrations in the various towns he has visited. Benton county especially, is under obligations to Congressman Whiteaker for his valuable services in the late Congress in relation to the Yaquina Bay, and the complimentary vote he received at the late election fully testifies that his efforts in our behalf were fully appreciated, his vote would have been even larger but that his opponent was also a man in whom our citizens had the utmost confidence, and many Republicans who did not vote for Gov. Whiteaker have the same kind and grateful feeling for him that under different circumstances might have resulted in their support at the polls.

Though opposed to us in politics we desire to join the many other citizens of Oregon, in the expression of grateful feelings to Gov. Whiteaker for his many and valuable services to our state. "Well done good and faithful servant."

Help for the Postmasters.

Following is a late dispatch from Washington: The increase of salaries of postmasters in Oregon under the new adjustment provided by law gives the following result: Albany, $2,000, an increase of $300; Astoria, $1,000; Baker City, $1,100; Corvallis, $1,200, an increase of $100; Eugene City, $1,300, an increase of $100; Oregon City, $1,500, an increase of $100; Portland, $3,000, an increase of $400; Salem, $2,600, an increase of $300.

So it seems our Oregon postmasters are to be enabled by an easy method to "come out" on the assessment made by the Radical Campaign committee. This opportune "raise" on their salaries comes just in good time, and will assist materially in swelling the funds of the corruption committee at Washington.

Of course a large class of the people may feel inclined to "buck" at the use of their money in this way, but we don't see how they are to help themselves just now. These salaries have been opportunistly and conveniently increased just on the heels of the Radical committee's assessment; the demand for the money comes with the sanction of Civil Service Reformer Hayes, and as a consequence the poor Nasbys of the country must "come out!"—Albany Democrat.

Throwing Mud at Gen. Hancock.

Democrats need not be apprised that the Republicans have already engaged in fabricating falsehoods on General Hancock to circulate for campaigning effect. The latest of these nefarious fabrications is that during the war he was the chief but unsuccessful conspirator in a plot to unseat Lincoln and Stanton and place McClellan at the head of the Government as well as of the Army. The desperate and unscrupulous liars who engage in this atrocious work, had they lived at that period would have libelled the Blessed Redeemer and fulminated the blaspheming calumny that He had causelessly driven Judas to his deed of self-murder. They would desecrate the name of Washington, and dishonor that of their father, if to do either should seem to them as the only means by which their party could be maintained in power and them obtain place. Their wicked lies will not avail, except to their own deeper disgrace.—Examiner.

A Straw of the Popular Brezce.

On the announcement of the nomination of General Hancock, Judge Hilton of New York, successor of the late A. T. Stewart, who has heretofore voted the Republican ticket, sent a dispatch to the nominee to this effect: "Neither too soon nor too heartily can I express my great delight at your nomination for the presidency. The convention in honoring you with its confidence, honored itself and faithfully expressed the wish of the great Democratic party. With you for our candidate I feel that the victory is assured."

The Republicans had a hard time in getting anyone to take the responsibility of Garfield's fore-ordained defeat. Don Cameron scented demoralization in the air and declined the chairmanship of the National Republican Committee.

Forney's Message to Hancock.

On the event of the nomination of General Hancock, John W. Forney, the veteran Republican journalist, sent him this message: "I congratulate you on your nomination for President, and predict your election and the complete restoration of peace to all sections. Your life-long friend."

He also telegraphed to the noted Irish orator, Daniel Dougherty of Philadelphia, who put Gen. Hancock in nomination, before the result was achieved, to this effect: "I congratulate you, dear old friend, on your great speech in favor of the living hero of Gettysburg, the Murat of Pennsylvania and if nominated at Cincinnati for President, would deliver this great Commonwealth from the terrible curse that has polluted its fair fame, destroyed the hopes of its young men and enriched its insolent politicians. It will be a welcome to hundreds of thousands of Democrats who regard Grant's sacrifice at Chicago as the unspeakable ingratitude of the age, and it will consolidate North and South in the holy bonds of fraternal peace and prosperity. I embrace you."

The Strongest Candidate.

In making their choice for the Presidency the Democrats, the Philadelphia Ledger, independent, declares, took one of the two men who are, beyond all doubt, their most desirable candidates. Senator Bayard is the other. Both are men of high character and distinction, justly standing high in the favor of the country, and either is a more formidable candidate than any other in the list before the Convention. Bayard has the largest experience in public affairs, but he was threatened with an attack on his war record. "The war, in fact, was continuing to be uppermost in party politics notwithstanding the lapse of fifteen years since the suppression of the rebellion, it is this which constrains Conventions to turn their attentions to military celebrities, and it is this which moved the Cincinnati Convention to concentrate on Gen Hancock, who is by far the strongest candidate the Democrats could have put in the field.

Gen. Pearson Supports Hancock.

The following is a copy of a letter resigning the Chairmanship of the Pittsburg Republican Executive Committee:

DEAR SIR—Having concluded to support Gen. Hancock for President, I very respectfully tender my resignation as Chairman of the City Executive Committee of Pittsburg. Entertaining the highest regard for every member of that Committee, yet I conceive it my duty to sever my political connection with the committee.

Very respectfully, A. L. PEARSON.

Gen. Pearson is one of the most prominent Republicans of the county. He was a brave soldier, and his course has created consternation in the ranks of the Republican party.

Pennsylvania.

From the Peoria, Ill., Journal, (Rep.) John W. Forney, of Pennsylvania, who has been acting with the Republican party for many years, has come out in favor of Hancock. There is no use in Republicans endeavoring to belittle Forney's influence. He is a power in Pennsylvania, and will make himself felt in the coming election. It will be all that the Cameron clan can do to keep Pennsylvania in the Republican ranks, and if they lose it we shall not be surprised.

AFTER carefully reading Garfield's amplification of the Republican platform—called his letter of acceptance—we fail to find one single little word in explanation of the Credit Mobilier and DeGolyer villainies.—Stand ard.
