

THE EUGENE CITY GUARD

EUGENE CITY, OREGON. SATURDAY, AUG. 21, 1880.

Democratic Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT: GEN. WINFIELD S. HANCOCK, Of New York. FOR VICE-PRESIDENT: WILLIAM H. ENGLISH, Of Indiana.

For Presidential Electors, J. K. WEATHERFORD, of Linn, T. G. OWEN, of Coos, J. G. FULTON, of Wasco.

Carl Schurz's other Indianapolis Speech.

Indianapolis Sentinel. We give a few extracts from Carl Schurz's speech delivered in this city August 23, 1872. Our Republican friends will be pleased to know what Carl had to say of the party then as well as now.

"Has it fought against corruption? No. A party that fosters Governments like those in the South has become a protector rather than an enemy of corruption. It is the same in the North."

"The party, in ninety-nine cases out of one hundred, has shielded fraud and corruption." * * *

"Perhaps in no previous period of a time of peace have the constitution and the laws been trifled with in such an underhand manner as during the last three years." * * *

"A system of whitewashing and hushing up was resorted to because those who had committed these malpractices are ardent followers of the party."

In speaking of the Ku-Klux and the manner in which the Southern white people were compelled to vote the Republican ticket he said:

"In North Carolina 1,402 Ku-Klux indictments have been made, two of which have been tried, and 1,350 of which are against people who probably knew of the Ku-Klux not more than you or I. Deputy Marshals called on those people, saying if they voted the Grant ticket and exerted their influence for it they would not be prosecuted. Internal revenue officers went round spying in stores for any seeming violation of law, and by threats of prosecution causing the owners to vote the Grant ticket. We fight at present not only against Grant, but a system which firmly established, will make free elections impossible."

"Bulldozing."

The Oregonian has much to say about the bulldozing in the South of the poor negroes. We have, however, failed to see it condemn a Republican for intimidating those of the blacks belonging to the Democratic party, therefore we publish the following dispatch taken from the Philadelphia Record, an Independent Republican paper. Will the Oregonian please copy:

WILMINGTON, August 14th.—John H. Harris, the Virginia colored Democrat, who was mobbed at New Castle a few nights ago, spoke last night in this city. He had difficulty in escaping the fury of a crowd made up of white and colored Republicans, armed with sticks, while on the way to his boarding house. He is still in the city, however.

This is an outrage which the Radical organs fail to note, and which the partisan telegraph refuses to send to this coast. The political dispatches published by the Oregonian are not reliable, and are sent to deceive the people in regard to the favorable sentiment of the people of the East for Gen. Hancock.

"I don't blame you, Dan; Hancock is a good fellow," is the way Conkling responded to Gen. Butterfield's declaration that he should vote for the Democratic candidate. The words are full of such men as Dan, and there are lots of Republicans who, out of the abundance of the heart are giving like expressions to their sentiments.

Garfield rests his forlorn hope of success on New York. The Empire State will reply in the negative to his wishes by from fifty to seventy-five thousand majority.—Albany, N. Y. Times

General Walker on General Hancock.

General Francis A. Walker, the Superintendent of Census, served on the staff of General Hancock during the war and this is what he says of him:

"He was an ideal commander. His presence in the camp or along the line was like an impulse which every soldier felt. It seemed to travel through the army like a great wave. It is needless to say that he was everywhere beloved and admired. It was impossible for it to be otherwise when one saw the force of his character and his enthusiasm and energy. As a military genius he was a tactician of great skill and adroitness, as well as an executor of energy and power. It is seldom that you find these qualities united in one man, for it is generally considered as incompatible that a sagacity which was almost cunning should be combined with dash and industry. General Hancock possessed both to an eminent degree. Then he had all the instincts of a staff officer in regard to keeping up the discipline and condition of his command. He might have been the Inspector General for the care he exercised. When in battle he never issued commands from the rear, but was on the field in person. Even after he had given an order he would himself see that it was carried out. This was not always the pleasantest position for a subordinate officer; but looking back now, I can see that Hancock's almost invariable success was due to his incessant wakefulness and vigilance. He knew what he wanted, and he knew that a single word misunderstood might cause disaster to his troops, or make him lose a victory. He was not willing to run any risks."

Frank Appreciation Of Garfield's Letter.

New York Post, Ind. Republican. Gen. Garfield is neither courageous nor frank, only respectable and moderate; and we fear that his uncertain phrases will fail to give satisfaction to either branch of the party he represents or to stir the hearts of the people like the sounds of a trumpet. On the whole Gen. Garfield merely represents the leading opinions of his party with respectability, and no one who is inclined to them will be alienated from them by the manner in which they are presented by him; but, on the other hand, he will not win them adherents from the opposition. The States to which Mr. Garfield was bound to look with the most solicitude and to which he should have addressed his principal arguments are those Eastern States which are most determined in their economic notions, and these will not regard his letter as in any sense an improvement of the platform. They may be contented with his professions, but they will not be kindled to a growing enthusiasm.

A Good Thing.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boeckler, a celebrated German Physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in medicine. It quickly cures Coughs, Colds and all Lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Beware of medicines of similar names, lately introduced. Boeckler's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. These doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cents. Sample bottle, 10 cents.

Distressing Campaign Incident.

Venango Spectator. "Show me," said Mr Mackey, in his speech to the Garfield Club the other day, "Show me a Republican who is going to vote for Hancock?" And as he paused for a reply up rose a noble specimen of the human race and said: "I never voted anything but a Republican ticket in my life, and I am going to vote for General Hancock."

MR. ATWATER, the Greenback candidate for Governor of Connecticut, says he shall vote for Hancock, and that the 7,000 Greenback voters of that State will go the same way.

We have not noticed the hanging around the corners the old set of Republicans who kept their pocket-books out, bantering Democrats to bet on the election.

The colored Hancock and English club at Montgomery, Alabama, now numbers six hundred members, and they are still a-coming.

"It begins to look as though" the main objection to General Hancock's letter of acceptance is that it contains nothing to be objected to.

A CLUB of two hundred colored voters, Montgomery, Alabama, changed from Gen. Grant to a Hancock organization.

That Poland Committee did throw a great amount of mush, and the mischievousness of it is all sticks.

General Hancock will not make an ass of himself by impromptu speeches from balconies of hotels or car-platforms. The man after whom he was named "got left" for the Presidency by such folly as Garfield is committing, and our healthy candidate does not propose to get caught out that way. The second would be exponent of the Ohio idea has never heard of the "hasty plate of soup." When a man becomes prominent enough before his fellow citizens to be worthy of a nomination for the Presidency (or the Judgeship, either, for that matter) he is above, or should be above the vulgarity of stump speeches and the smoke reek of the hustings.—Inland Empire.
