OFF FOR THE COAST .- The members of the Eugene City Brass Band leaves for the coast hext Monday. They will take their instrugood fime generally.

About a month ago a young and handsome woman, giving her name as Mrs Conners, arrived in Junction City and reated a dwelling house of Justice String, saying that her busband, who was working as a carpenter on the railroad, would join her in a few days. In due time Convers served and took up his abode with his presumed wife, and for some time the pair was apparently living a happy and contented life together. But recently it was rumored that all was not going on as well as might be in the Conner's domicile and the upshot was that on last Wednesday morning the woman made her appearance at the office of Justice String and swore out a warrant against Conners for threstening to kill her. It was then that the good people of the staid and quiet little village of Junction were shocked, fearfully so; for in making the necessary affidavit to the complaint before the warrant was issued the woman when called upon to place her autograph to the document, did not in tears and subdued sobs affix the name of Conners, but in a lively manner she took up the pen and when she had finished the name of "Faunie Johnson' stood out in bold relief. In explanation the woman said she was not the wife of the man. only his affinity, and she had got enough of him. Conners was arrested and in default committed to juil at Eugene City. A PRESIDENTIAL STRAW .- On the last trip of the steamship Oregon, a ballot was taken among the gentlemen passengers to ascertain their choice for President, and after the Teachers' Institute, after which she goes the vote had been counted, Hancock had a majority of 30 of the number polled. This did not suit the adherents of Garfield, who to vote which was acceded to, and the Democratic nominee was again victor by 15 votes. The chagrined Republicans who had proposed the scheme, as a last resort claimed a third ballot on the ground that a number of the passengers had not been allowed to vote. This was found to be true, for off in one corner of the steamer was the Chinese theatrical troupe and on their being allowed to gote, the tables were turned and the Garfield men received a victory. -Standard.

All along the line of railroad fields of grain in the shock, and standing ready for reaping, greet the passenger, affording an encouraging spectacle. The yield of grain of all kinds will be immense, as an instance of which it is mentioned that one granger at Eugene who procured sacks for 3,500 bushels of wheat expecting no greater harvest, was obliged to purchase 1,500 additional when the grain was threshed. The same amount of land in cultivation only produced 900 bushels last year .- Bee.
