Came to Grief at Last

Mr. Spanwick, the notorious as last been settled by his church. The following publication in the Baptist Beacon requires no explanation:

The case of the Rev. T. W. Spanwick, was taken up by the First Baptist church, of Salem, Oregon, at a meeting held December 28, 1880, to consider the following charges:

First, "Prevarication and falsehood."

Second, "Conduct unbecoming and unbecoming a Christian minister."

Over his own signature he had been guilty to the charges, and by the unanimous vote of the church he was expelled from its fellowship, and deposed from its ministry.

The church also voted to publish its action in the Baptist Beacon, and asks all Baptist papers to copy.

A Narrow Escape.

The Standard of the 4th has the following account of the narrow escape of W. J. Shipley, formerly a resident of Eugene, from drowning in the Willamette:

"Mr. W. J. Shipley, book-keeper at Smith Bros, and a prominent member of the Odd Fellows fraternity, met with a narrow escape from a frightful death on last Sunday night. He had been to East Portland to install the officers of Orient Lodge at that place, and had started back on his return. The large ferry boat of the Stark street was not running owing to the great amount of drift wood in the river, and passengers were carried across to either side by a small boat. In attempting to get into this, Mr. Shipley, in stepping off from the apron of the ferry boat, made a miscalculation and was plunged into the river. A rush was made to get a life-preserver to throw him, but none being found, a small boat was speedily manned, and Shipley, in a half drowned condition, was picked up out of the water several hundred yards north of the ferry slip. He lost a handsome regalia, the property of Sheriff Bacotel, which he had worn that night during the installation services. It was a very narrow escape for him, and it is a wonder he did not sink beneath the icy waters.

EDITORS: C. A. WOODY, MAGGIE SERBEST.

Prof. Straub is now to be found in the room formerly occupied by Prof. Gatch.

Misses Aggie and Nettie McCornack, after some months absence, are again at home.

Miss Ione Craudill spent the holidays at home, but has returned to Sheeds to complete her school.

New Books Received.

Outlines of History, by Freeman.

Poems of Edna Dean, by Proctor.

Hand Book of Universal Literature, by Anna C. L. Botta.

Manual of American Literature, John Hart.

Tent on the Beach, by J. G. Whittier.

History of the U. S., by Redpath.

Studies in English Literature, by William Swinton.

Brevities.

Which do you need resolution or brains?

Why can we not have a UNIVERSITY JOURNAL?

Which one of the "Juniors" kicked the coffee over on New Years Day?

After all, is there not in our mode a system of education a cultivation of retentive ability to the detriment of reflective ability?

The volumes of the Cyclopaedia Britannica are added to the library as rapidly as they are published. Twelve volumes have been received up to date.

The Junior Editor of the column misses the helpful pen of "Gretchen." She has been spending the holidays with friends in Benton county, and returns re-invigorated for the work of the term we hope.

Joseph Cook says there are three links in the American system of education—the iron, the silver and the golden. The iron link is the common school, the silver link the high school, and the golden link the College.

Will not some one in each of the classes send us a few "class notes." They would make the column better, help the editor and bring the work of the University more fully before the public. Let the classes meet and elect some one who shall attend to it. Whom shall we hear from first?

The Societies regularly receive the North American Review, Harpers Weekly, and Monthly Magazine, the Popular Science Monthly. They also receive the New Northwest, the Daily Bulletin, the Eugene City Grand and Journal. In addition to all these they receive much valuable matter from the Bureau of Education.

The University opened with quite a number of new students, principally additions to the Freshman class. The work of Prof. Gatch has been distributed among the rest of the Professors and work goes on as usual. Classes begin in several new studies this term. Among these are Ancient History, Livy, Homer's Iliad, Natural Philosophy, Geology and Mental Philosophy.

Why read cheap? any more, when for less money you can get a valuable book?

Why pay 35 cents for "That Wife of Mine," when for the same money you can buy a volume of Knight's Celebrated History of England? Why spend 15 cents for a cigar when for the same money you could have bought Macaulay's Essays or Edwin Arnold's Sight of Asia. John Ploughman's Talks can be had for twelve cents. It is a mine of good things; get it and you will have no inclination to loaf away your time. Read these sayings which are selected at random:

"When I see a young lady with a flower garden on her head, and a draper's shop on her body, taking her head about as if she thought everybody was charmed with her, I am sure she must be ignorant, very ignorant. Sensible men don't marry a wardrobe or a bonnet-box, they want a woman of sense,
