A Water Spout.

Following the warm weather of a week past a terrific thunder storm visited Canyon City, says the Grant County News, on Friday afternoon.

The chief force of the storm seemed to strike the hills east of town. The torrent came roaring down Town Gulch, bringing with it boulders, wood, etc. Striking the corner of Clark's store, the bulk of the flood turned down Main street, flooding most of the houses on the lower side of the street.

Clark's store, Wood and Church's stable, Segerdahl & Nicolas' hotel and Herburger's shop were flooded, and the floors covered with sediment. Part of the torrent came through the court house yard and through Gundlach's store, F. C. Sels and H. R. Sels' stores. The cellars of Gundlach Bros., F. C. Sels and H. R. Sels were also flooded, and much damage done. The muddy water poured through the residence of Phil Metz, Chan, covering the carpets with sediment. John Power's house was also flooded. Main street is now covered with boulders, sediment and sections of sidewalk. The force of the torrent was sufficient to carry down a piece of sidewalk forty feet long. The storm caused quite a panic during its continuance, and resulted in much inconvenience and not a little damage.

German Immigrants.

From all accounts the German emigration to the United States this year will be unprecedented. Whole towns are reported by German papers to be moving from various parts of the empire, and the government can do nothing to prevent it, and what is unusual large numbers of these new comers on their arrival in this country are seeking homes in the South.

The explanation is found in the changed order of things down there. The carpet bag and bayonets have been dethroned. Home rule and prosperity have been established. Labor and enterprise are liberally remunerated, and the thrifty emigrant naturally seeks that security to secure a comfortable home and build up his fortune.

When the South was governed as a province of the nation with a big N, it was too much like the place he left to attract the emigrants in search of larger freedom and opening fields of prosperity. The new regime has opened a new and better order of things, so the South will receive her share of thrifty emigrants.

Slain Out.

The Yreka Journal tells of a mining accident on Barkhouse creek in which Henry Lange was entirely buried by the caving of a bank of hard cement. The pipe was immediately turned on to sluice him out, and as soon as his body was visible, the hands employed reached him, and rendered all the aid possible to alleviate his suffering. When taken from the debris, he was able to talk, and instructed the messenger what physician to procure. His injuries are found to consist of a broken wrist, dislocated hip, one leg crushed below the knee and bruises about the head. His condition was critical, but he may recover. Though intensely excited the action of his comrades was prompt and efficient. That he was unearthen alive seems miraculous.

Says the Oregonian of the 7th inst: Yesterday afternoon, about 1 o'clock, Ed. Magoon and three other men were bringing a scow loaded with 40 cords of wood down the Willamette just above Oregon City. They floated down with the current, using paddles to keep their course. They steered for the head of the locks, but a strong gust of wind carried the scow amidstream. The men were unable to pull the craft ashore, and hurriedly jerked some ladders from the house for oars and jumped into a poor skiff which they had along and by the most strenuous efforts reached the western bank. As a matter of course, the scow went over the falls—between the island and Oregon City—and was smashed to splinters. The loss is about $400.

Cracked river bridge has been carried away by high water and Prineville Wasco county, is on an island.

STATE NEWS.

The steam tug Mary Taylor was sold at auction.

The delinquent tax of Wasco county amounts to $4,710 89.

A large amount of flax is being sown this Spring by Linn county farmers.

Thos. Marnett, of Benton County, was adjudged insane and committed to the asylum last week.

O. H. Wincent has been held in $1,000 bonds at Astoria, to appear on charges preferred by his brother-in-law, Peter Eckland.

A man named Williams fired his shotgun off into a rustling bush near Ochocho the other day, and broke a deer's leg by the experiment.

Sheriff Twombly has collected the entire tax of Clatsop county with the exception of about seven hundred dollars and turned it over to the treasurer.

The steel vault and safe front for the Bank of Oregon City has been ordered. It will be made to order, consequently it will not arrive for several weeks. They are to be made in Cincinnati.

We understand that Dr. E. R. Poppleton, of Lafayette, has been bound over in the sum of $2,000 to appear before the next grand jury on a charge of perjury in his testimony in his recent suit with Yamhill county.

Workmen are tearing up the track from Thomas creek to Scio, and the cut off or new line has been graded from the old line as far as Thomas creek bottom. There is about 1,000 feet of trestle work and filling yet to be done to complete the road bed for the track.

Wasco county is to have a new court house of the following dimensions: It is to be of brick, 66 feet front and 96 feet in depth, two stories high, with basement 7 feet. The total height of the building will be about 50 feet. The basement will be used for fuel and similar purposes.

The superintendent of schools for Wasco county reports the number of persons between the ages of 4 and 20 years in the county as 3169; number of pupils enrolled in the public schools, 1448; number of children not attending school, 1435; school houses in the county, 33; built during the past year, 7; estimated value of these, $13474.

Two secret societies, somewhat of the nature of vigilance committees, exist in Lake county, one with headquarters at Bonanza, and the other down on the Klamath. They were organized to check stock thieving, which had been carried on to an alarming extent. One or two suspicious characters have left the country at a hint from the executive committees of the societies.

W. L. Smith, who has charge of building the cribs and placing the cribs and mattresses in position in Yaquina Bay, is getting everything ready to commence work as soon as lumber can be sawed, probably this week. The quarry of stone owned by Mr. Cannon was leased by the government on very reasonable terms, and a small house to store the giant powder will be built at once.

A correspondent writes from Amity, Yamhill county as follows: Mr. A. M. Waddle, of Reed's farm, is plowing brush land where the hazels, seven feet high are ploughed down at the rate of three acres per day. Mr. W. says these hazels are as much as four years old and he uses a Champion Moline brush plow. There is quite a settlement of the society of Friends in the vicinity of Newburg, there being 200 members of the church. The narrow gauge is being built through the county with all dispatch.

A Buena Vista correspondent of the Salem Statesman writes: "A. M. Smith is making extensive improvements to his pottery, adding a new building that will give him double the capacity of the present building, and is building a new 20 foot kiln that will more than double his present kiln room. The pottery shipped over 1,000 tons of freight in eight months last year. It will double the shipment this year. Over 700 cords of woods are consumed annually in the manufacture of pipe and ware at this place."
