STATE NEWS.

The necessity of street cleaning and good drainage has reached Corvallis.
The wife of Postmaster Helman, of Ashland, Jackson county, died suddenly on the 12th.
The coming harvest does not promise so well now in Jackson county as earlier in the season.
A large force of men is diligently at work on the Crescent City road, giving sea outlet to Southern Oregon.
Mother Masters, aged 91, died recently in Cole's Valley, Douglas county, loved and respected by all who knew her.
While the testimony against Clark, at Coos Bay, for robbing the sheriff's desk is purely circumstantial, it is very damaging.
Capt. Lafayette Allen, a Jackson county pioneer, and veteran of the Mexican war, died at his home on Lower Applegate, lately.
On the 26th, 27th and 28th, Jackson county Teachers' Institute will meet in Jacksonville. Prof. Powell, State Superintendent, will be in attendance.
A ten year old son of Mr. Rosecrans of Birch Creek, Umatilla county, was run over by a heavy wagon last week and sustained injuries that are considered fatal.
The new steam ferry boat, which has been under course of construction at Salem for some time past, is now nearly ready to go on active service, between Salem and the Polk county shore.

Last Friday Geo. L. Hayes, one of the owners of the Tom Payne ledge, called at the Baker City Democrat office with a specimen of quartz that weighed 32 ounces Troy, and contained $250 in gold.
Only one boat, the Occident, makes regular trips at this time between Salem and Portland. The water on the Willamette is so low now, says the Salem Talk, that boats do not run above this city.

On Thursday the Dallas and Albany hack broke down, frightening the horses, which ran away, smashing the conveyance and badly hurting the only passenger, Mr. Hughes, the Moumouth telegraph operator, and the driver.
Columbia City is looking up in view of the N. P. R. R. extension. The mill property sold lately at an advance of $3,000 over what was paid for the same property a few months ago and a new story, etc., has been started lately.

Rumor says, according to the Salem Statesman, that two young men in Jackson county have discovered a quartz ledge in that county, and have pounded out within the space of one week with a mortar, from rock taken from the ledge, the sum of $1300. If this proves true, we will soon take the morning train for Jackson county.

Recent Progress of Domestic Science.

Chicago Tribune.
It is unhealthy to wear your boots in the house after 1 o'clock a. m. The common way is to remove them in the hallway, but many of our most experienced husbands prefer the front steps. Always take a boot in each hand when going up stairs. This plan gives you two shots at the cat after stepping on her. Never say anything to your wife on the occasions except "yes" and "no." Eating clothes impedes the speech. Never compel your wife to get up first and build the fire. If she doesn't do it of her accord, go to sleep again. When your daughter gets big enough to have gentlemen visitors, give up the parlor to them cheerfully. It is much cheaper to let the dog bite them as they start for home than to scold the girl until she cries, and then have to buy her a seal skin sacque as a souvenir of your idiocy. Always remember your wedding day and try to mark the occasion by some little act showing that you remember it. Coming home half full will often signalize the anniversary in a marked but inexpensive manner. Bring your sons up to some occupation that will enable them to get a living when thrown upon their own resources. Nothing makes a young man so self reliant as having a trade of his own. In Cincinnati husko steers frequently make $100 a day.

Further particulars regarding the terrible charge of incest against a prominent citizen of Polk county, we take from the Riverside of Independence:
Last week a man named Moses Robbins, living some four miles east of Dallas, was indicted by the grand jury of this county, charged with the crime of incest, the victims of his lust being two of his daughters. The evidence given before the grand jury by his wife and daughters was said to have been most conclusive of guilt, and of a most damaging character, showing a state of moral degradation and beastliness unparalleled in the annals of crime. If the evidence, as reported, was true, our laws furnish no punishment commensurate with the crime committed and the laws should be changed to meet such cases. On last Tuesday Robbins was to have his trial, but as no evidence could be adduced to prove that he had ever been married, or that the girls were his daughters, the indictment was quashed, and the prisoner discharged. Intense excitement prevailed and strong threats of violence were used, but better counsel prevailed and this worse than savage will go forth among his fellow men unwhipped of justice because his wife did not preserve her marriage certificate, and was not allowed to testify against her husband.
Since the above was in type, we learn that Robbins was held on one indictment in the sum of $1,500 bail until the fall term of court.
In the second indictment he was bound over in the sum of $1,500 to appear at the next term of the court in that county. In the meantime, Prosecuting Attorney Piper will learn all the facts from Missouri, where Mrs. Robbins claims they were married, and will be better prepared to prosecute him to the fullest extent of the law.

Polk County Incest Case.

Stonewall and the Wagon-Tongues.
Mr. Howell, one of the proprietors of the Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution, recently said of Stonewall Jackson: "His genius lay in two things—the thoroughness of discipline and his devotion. I do not think he was a man of great natural ability. He could not talk at all. He was not an entertaining person. He was a rigid military man; educated at West Point, he had learned his lesson well and applied it unflinchingly. I remember a single order which he always enforced, which, in my mind, accounted for a good deal of success. It was that whenever we stopped on a march the wagons must go to the side of the road and be unlatched with their tongues pointing to the road, so they could be driven either up the road or down. Now that would seem to be a simple thing, but it accounts for the remarkable celerity of Jackson's marches. Suppose a man would stop and his wagon-tongue would point the wrong way, and at a certain hour in the morning we would begin to march, and that the wagon would block up the road. If there were many such wagons the march would be delayed a certain time to let them get ship-shape. Jackson rode up and down his lines every day, morning and evening, to see if such orders as these were strictly carried out.
Wm. Webb, who was arrested by Nickerson, agent of the Klamath Indians, en route to Wood river to start a store, was examined by U. S. Commissioner Strong at Linkville and discharged. Everything was returned to him except the whiskey which had been poured out. The arbitrary conduct of Agent Nickerson is severely commented on in Southern Oregon.
The courageous and determined fight made by the Democrats to frustrate the consummation of the most flagrant and corrupt bargain of which any political party in the United States was ever guilty, has been crowned with victory. Of course the Republicans will let themselves down easy by pretending to renew the contest, but the Mahone dicker is off; the goods could not be delivered. Alas, poor Riddleberger!
One of the Sailing brothers was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years, and each of the China camp robbers were sent to the same institution for five years from Polk county.
