SEVEN AT A BIRTH.
The Trials and Tribulations of the Physician in Attendance.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 20th.—A few days ago a dispatch came from Nashville to the effect that a woman residing in Jackson county, that state, had given birth to seven children at one time. A correspondent to night telegraphs that after the first child was born the pains of labor continued. An examination convinced the physician that there were two instead of one and the woman was soon delivered of the second child, both girls. The physician gave directions as to the care of both mother and children, and prepared to take his leave.
Before reaching his home at the gate he was recalled, and delivered the woman of another girl baby. Again the physician took his leave, and again was recalled, bringing to light another baby. This was considered remarkable, and the physician was getting puzzled over the matter. He, however, congratulated the husband on his good fortune and departed for home.
He had not gone more than half a mile before he was overtaken by the excited husband of the woman, who, in breathless haste, informed him that there was still another child to be born. Hastening back the physician arrived in time to aid in delivering the woman of her fifth child. The physician was then prevailed upon by the father and husband to stay during the remainder of the night. He was not slow to accept the invitation, and sat down to wait developments. In the course of fifteen or twenty minutes he was again called to the bedside of the woman, and very soon the sixth child was breathing the breath of life.
Morning dawned and the Doctor took his leave. Having had no sleep during the night, he threw himself across the bed on his arrival at home, and was soon sound asleep. About 8 o'clock he was aroused by his wife who stated that Mr. B. was at the gate and wanted to see him immediately.
"What's the matter now," asked the Doctor.
"Mary appears to be going to—you know," replied Mr. B.
"What! another one!" exclaimed the Doctor, excitedly.
"That's it," said Mr. B., a smile spreading his mouth from ear to ear.
The doctor mounted his horse and was soon at the house of B. He was too late, however, to be of any service as the seventh child, a girl, was born, a few minutes previous to his arrival. The doctor remained about the premises during the rest of the day, but his services were not again needed. The gentleman who made the above statement, and it is almost in his exact words, says he has seen the seven babies several times; and, while not large, weighing four or five pounds each, they appear to be healthy, well developed children. The occurrence has caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood, and the people for miles around flock to see the woman and her babies. The husband is described as being of small stature—in fact, exceedingly thin—while his wife is said to be strong and healthy. Physicians here are considerably excited over the affair, and some are talking of paying the family a visit. The most singular feature of the children is that all of them have blue eyes, and so closely resemble each other that it is hard to tell "which from 't'other."

Great Cocking Main.
LANCASTER, Ohio, June 17.—Yesterday morning at 6 o'clock a monster cock fight was opened on the eastern shore of the Licking Reservation in Avondale. Chicken fanciers from all the territory round about were drawn by the announcement, until over 2,000 persons had gathered, and the rising of the sun was greeted by the crowing of five hundred spurred chanticleers. The first main was opened at 6 A. M., and as the battle progressed the excitement increased, until from eight to ten mains were being fought at one time. Night came, but the participants were too much interested to close the sport which went on by the light of torches and lanterns, and did not come to a close until 10 P. M. Five hundred roosters were fought, 150 of which were left dead on the grounds. Betting was freely indulged in, and over $5,000 is known to have changed hands.

The New Ocean Cable.
Jay Gould's new trans-atlantic cable which has just been laid makes no less than eleven cables from this country to Europe. The New York Sun is of the opinion that the business is being overdone, and that there are not enough messages sent to support all the companies. Rates will certainly fall still over. Eight years ago the rate was $1 50 per word, and the daily receipts of one company were $12,000. Since the messages have increased seven-fold, and yet the receipts of all the companies amount to only $13,675 a day.

"Eloquent," said the Chicago lawyer of his partner, "he's able to reason the kick out of a mule. Why here, a while ago, business was dull, and he decided that Mrs. Dasher ought to have a divorce, and he'd go into court and get it for her, and then charge her for it. Somehow she heard of what was going on. She galloped down to the Court House to stop him, as she didn't want a divorce. She got there just as he was making his plea for her. And, mind you, she was mad at him; but, by Jove sir! she listened to him five minutes and became so convinced she ought to have a divorce that she walked right up where the people could see her and shed three pints of tears while he recited her wrongs. And when he won the case she embraced him and said he should conduct all her divorce cases. I call that eloquence."

Salem Statesman: The assistant county treasurer, H. A. Johnson, informs us that during the year ending June 30, 1881, he has received into the general fund $97,975 35 and has disbursed $95,975 35, leaving a balance on hand of $2,000 00. Of school funds he has received $17,072 43, and disbursed $16,907 64, leaving a balance on hand of $164 79.

A lot of fossils have been found near Albany, which are creating considerable interest. One of the tusks is over 8 feet long and about 25 inches in circumference at the base. The bones are crumpled and broken up badly, but sufficient remains to indicate that they must have come from some animal larger than any now known.

The Lord's Prayer.
The following comparison of the text of the old and revised version of the New Testament shows the exact changes made in the wording of the Lord's prayer, in Matthew 6, 9-13, the most important being the omission of the doxology at the end:
OLD
9. After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name.
10. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven.
11. Give us this day our daily bread.
12. And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors.
13. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil; for thine is the kingdom, and the power and the glory, forever, amen.
NEW
After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in Heaven, so on earth. And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors. And bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one.

STATE NEWS.
The report of the county treasurer of Polk county for the year ending July 6, shows a balance in the treasury of $1020 74.
About 5 o'clock on the evening of the 7th inst, two convicts employed on the new insane asylum building at Salem, attempted to escape. The guards fired a number of shots at them arresting their flight and returning them to custody.
The whole number of organized school districts in Polk county is 44. Of this number 42 as required by law reported and drew from the school fund. There were 1665 pupils enrolled in the public schools last year. Average attendance, 1,090; number of school buildings, 43.
An artesian well is now in operation on the old soap hole flat, Wasco county, which throws a continuous stream about 25 feet high. Prof. Hurley bored down by the side of one of the soap holes to a depth of 219 feet, finding nothing but that curious mud which created such an excitement a few years ago, and when the boring ceased the water spouted from the hole, and keeps it up constantly.
Albany Democrat: Andrew Wiley of Linn county who has lost so many sheep from attacks of cougars, is now beginning to get even. A week or so ago he put some poison on the carcasses of several sheep which had been killed by a cougar, and he has not lost a sheep since. Another matter which causes him to believe that he has succeeded in killing the old sheepstealer, is that a lot of young cougars have been running around there since that time making a living for themselves. He has captured two of them, and Mr. E. Jackson has taken one and killed another. Mr. J. treed one of them with his dogs and then fastening a steel trap on a pole he climbed the tree with it. Upon getting up close to the animal he stuck the trap up against one of its paws and caught it.

Austria's rapid road to ruin is chiefly caused by its inordinate thirst for military glory, for which it never had the means to pay. Since 1879 there has not been a single year in which her revenues has come up to her expenditures. The accumulation of deficits from 1851 to 1866 amounted to $650,000, and is still going on. The deficits between 1870 and 1877 have amounted to nearly $85,000,000. Her debt has grown from $625,000,000 in 1848 to $1,955,000,000 in 1880. The most unsatisfactory outcome of all this is that, notwithstanding these enormous expenditures on her army, she has during this period of waste and extravagance lost her Italian provinces, and been badly whipped by Prussia. She still keeps up her show of military grandeur and is reorganizing the army with a view of having its war footing amount to 1,064,025 rank and file, with 31,808 officers and 188,107 horses.

The consumption of wheat in France is increasing, while its production is at a standstill. The laboring classes demand an improved diet, with more of wheat bread and an additional allowance of meat, and they look to this country for a share of our grain and pork. The area in wheat in France has varied little in twenty years, and is very near seventeen million acres, and the product in average seasons come near to three hundred million bushels, recent bad harvests falling off from 10 to 15 per cent. The average yield is usually 40 to 50 per cent better than in this country, yet for four years, with improvements here and decline there, the yield per acre has been the same in both countries.

Statistics for May show an increase in the grain receipts of St. Louis of 30 per cent over the same month of 1880, and a decrease of Chicago receipts of 45 per cent. There is said to be a revolution going on in the grain-carrying trade of the ocean. The water route by way of the Mississippi to New Orleans is the cause of the change. The railroads are now taking grain from Chicago to New York at about half the rates they were charging a year ago.
