STATE NEWS.
An unusual amount of sickness is reported in Lake county this season.
There is a potato vine 10 feet high in the garden of a Roseburg shoemaker.

T. Marks & Co. have completed a grain warehouse and elevator at Roseburg.
C. D. Perkins has been jailed at Lafayette for 30 days for indecent exposure.
Colvin's wheat crop on Willow ranch Lake county, averaged 50 bushels to the acre.
Jacob Rugg of McMinnville, who was recently kicked by a horse had to be castrated to save his life.
The Lake county Examiner speaks unequivocally of the "Logan Variety Troupe" as the worst in the deck.

E. G. Hursh has bought half of the Roseburg Plaindealer, and has been installed as editor. We extend him a friendly greeting.
W. B. Todhunter pays taxes in Grant county on $73,000. Had he been a "tod" finder instead of only a Todhunter we venture to say he would not now be worth 73,000 cents.

A boy named Collier at Hillsboro, fell from a window nine feet striking on the small of his back which threw him into spasms—the poor little fellow having 22 ribs in less than a day.
Geo. Graham of Beaver Creek, Clackamas county, threshed off of seven acres of oats 352 bushels, which is more than 50 bushels to the acre and this too on land that had been farmed for many years.

The Journal says: This is a remarkable good season for a heavy oat yield. Never were they more plentiful and cheap. On the farm of R. B. Cochran, near Colburg, 170 bushels were cut and threshed from three acres of new ground.

The Oswego Iron Co. intends shutting down some time next week for the purpose of putting in a new hearth, the old one having burned out. This is an extensive repair, as the huge stones have to be brought from Ohio, and cost in the neighborhood of $1000.

Cattle buyers, says the Grant county News, are plentiful this year and bovines command a good price. We hear that as high as $17 per head has been offered for two-year olds and cows. It is the judgment of many who are in a position to form a correct opinion, that prices will still further advance.

Three prisoners confined in the Linn county jail at Albany, made their escape last Sunday morning by breaking a hole through the wall, escaping without being discovered. The Albany Register says: So quiet and easy did the rascals work for their liberty, that their escape was not known by the sheriff who resides over the jail, until Sunday morning about eight, when his attention was called to the hole in the wall by some one passing by. J. T. Fox has been confined there since the 14th day of last May, charged with the crime of breaking into a house in Seio. T. J. Ankeny is one of the men who robbed Lafayette Harpool in Monteith's pasture a short time ago. John Williams, whose right name is Arnett, the third man, was confined there for giving whisky to Indians. There is no reward offered as yet for their capture.

PERPETUATING A NAME.—LAFAYETTE, Ind., August 25th.—The one regret in the life of the late Jesse McHenry of this county, was that he had no son to bear his name, no children having come to bless his home. In order, therefore, that the name should not die out and be forgotten, the old gentleman set apart a sum to be distributed to those who shall name their offspring after him. He provides: "To all namesakes, open to all comers, for one year, the only limitation being that the parents shall be of good moral character, $25 each." This may prove a bigger undertaking than the venerable old gentleman contemplated. As he was an Ohio man born, the idea may be appropriately claimed as an Ohio plan, and as it is "open to all comers," no telling what may result.—Special to Cincinnati Commercial.

Gen. Hancock declines all invitations to public entertainments since the attack on the President. "It is not proper that I accept invitations to festive entertainments while the President, ex-officio my commander-in-chief, is hovering between life and death."

"Of the industrial future of the South," the Memphis Appeal says, "a survey of the whole field is inspiring, giving, as it does, cheering signs of a prospective prosperity which will be contemplated with pleasure by every American citizen."

Gene From Our Gaze.
The Albany Herald says: Thursday morning, September 1st, A. L. Grey, of the firm of Stewart & Gray, publishers of the State Rights Democrat, left here for Portland, with the avowed purpose of obtaining a sum of money which he said was owing to him by some one in Portland, and with which he proposed paying the first instalment due Mr. Stewart for his interest in the Democrat. Since that time he has not been heard from, and during the last day or two suspicion was aroused that everything was not as it should be. On inquiry it was learned that he had forged the name of Mr. John Turner (a farmer living about ten miles from town; who acted as agent for the First National Bank, of Portland, and through whom Stewart & Gray received money to loan) to a check for $1,700 and obtained the money from Mr. John Conner, banker, of this place. He had also drawn $1680 deposited in the bank in the name of the firm, and which was to have been loaned to a customer as soon as the necessary arrangements could be effected.

Several of our storekeepers are also said to be losers to a greater or lesser degree; he having obtained extensive credit wherever he could do so, until some of them had already shut down on him.

The blow is a heavy one to Mr. Stewart, who is a loser to the amount of $1300 cash, which will have to be made good; but we hope he will be able to pull through.

The ascender leaves a wife and child in this city, entirely unprovided for, we believe.

Conkling and Robertson.
Mr. Conkling was a great political boss. When Collector Robertson entered upon the duties of his office at the port of New York the other day, one of his first duties was to look up the horde of officeholders who had been put into place by Mr. Conkling. It was not much of a horde. It consisted of a widow and her son and a one-armed soldier from Utica. The ex-Senator has not made hay while the sun shone. But that pattern bandbox civil service reformer, George William Curtis, has seventy-five fellows ensconced therein—foremost of whom was his brother, with a soft thing at $2200 a year.—Burlington Hawkeye.

DEATH OF A PIONEER.—Mr. J. Geer, one of the early pioneers of this State, died at his residence in Yamhill county, opposite Butteville, on Saturday evening, August 27th, at the advanced age of 87 years. He came to this State in 1847 and has ever since resided on the farm where he died. He has been blind for the last 25 years, but has enjoyed excellent health and bid fair to live for many years to come, but some weeks since he accidentally fell and struck his head against a lounge, receiving injuries which resulted in his death. He leaves a numerous family, among whom are Mrs. C. F. Rent and J. C. Geer, of Portland, and Hon. Ralph Geer, of Marion county.

The appraisers of the estate of the late Chas. De Young, appointed by Judge Flinn of the Probate Court of San Francisco, have filed an inventory and appraisal of the property owned by him at the time of his death. It aggregates $79,705, consisting of moneys which come into the hands of the executors, amounting to $51,111, and book accounts amounting to about $28,600. The schedule is signed by the appraisers and attested correct by M. H. De Young and R. H. Lloyd, executors of the estate.
