

What Senator Beak Said.

Through the misconception by a Milwaukee reporter of Senator Beck's remarks touching the organization of the Senate, he has been the recipient of so much sweetness from Republican journals that he has thought it necessary to explain that when the parties understand what he really did say they may think they have been cheated into being rather too prodigal with their honored words. He had only used some casual remarks, in private conversation, which he had no idea would find their way into print. He had simply asserted the desire of the Democrats and Southerners for the recovery of the President was genuine and heartfelt; that in the event of his death extreme measures would not be thought of for a moment; that possibly even a conservative Republican like Mr. Anthony would be permitted to be elected by Democrats, who, after consultation, might think it better not to seek the mere semblance of temporary power with one house of Congress against them, and the other a tie. What he said was in the spirit of repelling charges or intimations of bad faith or extreme purpose on the part of the Democrats, whose will, when expressed at full and free conference, will always receive his earnest and cordial support. Now Republican papers are abusing him for his disclaimer, and very unnecessarily as it seems to us. In what he said there is so much of moderation and fairness that certainly his political opponents have no right to complain thereof. No such conciliatory spirit toward Democrats ever find expression on the part of those who complain that the purchase of Mahone nothing was said by them about relinquishing their unfair and ill-gotten advantages.—S. F. Examiner.

ABOUT two years ago John Sherman, at that time Secretary of the Treasury, denounced Chester A. Arthur, then collector of customs at the port of New York, as corrupt, incompetent, and dishonest, and secured his removal in disgrace from that important position. Arthur's turn comes now. It is said he will remove the present Secretary, Windom, and appoint one of his own liking, when disclosures are expected that will not be at all complimentary to the Sherman regime. Garfield was in public life twenty years, and at the time of his death was a poor man. Sherman served his country for about the same length of time, and retired a millionaire.

CAMERON is not have its own way unquestioned in Pennsylvania. C. S. Wolfe of Lewisburg, prominent in State politics, a radical Republican, and an uncompromising enemy of the Conkling dynasty, has announced his purpose to run independent for State Treasurer against the candidate whose nomination the Camerons procured with difficulty. This, it is believed, will insure the defeat of the latter, and teach the Camerons a useful lesson.

SECRETARY WINDOM is anxious to resign his seat in the Cabinet at once. There is a Senator to be elected by the Minnesota legislature, which meets on the 10th, and he wants to be re-elected to the body from which he resigned to take a position in the Cabinet. His scramble for office is disgraceful.

SENATOR JONES, who is known to be a warm personal friend of President Arthur, is being closely watched by the newspaper correspondents. His every movement is supposed to be full of meaning, and a wink of his left eye would be accepted by any sagacious scribbler as an intimation of a complete change of Cabinet.

It is noted as a curious fact no President of the United States, from Washington to Garfield, was born in a city, and that only the second Adams was even nominally a resident of a city when elected.

SENATOR J. H. SLATER left his home at La Grande on the 1st inst., to attend the Executive session of the Senate called to meet on the 10th.

GEO. SOUVILLE, of Chicago, will act as counsel for Guitman. They are brothers-in-law. His defense will be based on a plea of insanity.

OSBOR PRATT, one of the apostles of the Latter Day Saints, died at Salt Lake City, on the 3d inst., aged 71 years.

ARTHUR's visitors and private counsellors are of the present Stalwart breed.

THE TAX LEVY.

"Taxpayer" Objects, and gives Figures of County Expenditures.

EUGENE CITY, Oct. 7, 1881.]

EDITOR GUARD:—The recent levy of twenty mills by the County Court of Lane county at its last session has evoked much criticism and the feeling is universal among the taxpayers that the levy is far in excess of the actual requirements to meet the current expenses of the county, including the cost of the Springfield bridge. The times are inauspicious for either high taxes or extravagance. Hence there is much dissatisfaction at the prospect of having to meet a burden unprecedented in the history of Lane county. The valuation of property under the last assessment exceeds any we have ever had by nearly a half million dollars. This, coupled with a high rate, follows the general depression of the last two years caused by poor crops and low prices. Our citizens have anticipated increased burdens in consequence of the damages from the floods of January and February last, and have shown a commendable willingness to meet them. I propose to show this can be done without exceeding the tax levy of last year. To verify this proposition the following facts and figures are submitted:

Table with 2 columns: Item, Amount. Includes Estimated ordinary expenses of Co., Estimated expense on bridges, Total expense, Tax on present levy, Cash in the treasury July 1, 1881, etc.

In the matter of expense, (omitting cost of Springfield bridge) I accept the highest estimate, $20,000, which I am creditably informed is claimed by any member of the County Board. A much lower expense might be claimed, as the following figures taken from the records of the County Court will verify:

Table with 2 columns: Expense of Co. year ending June 30, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 18, 87.

The sum of $5,655.36 was expended on bridges for the year ended July 1, 1881. This sum deducted from total expense of that year, ($13,977.62) will give the ordinary expense of running the county, which was $84,322.26.

From the foregoing figures it will be seen that my estimate for the present current year is liberal and fully demonstrates that there will be a surplus of $16,400 in the treasury July 1, 1881.

This surplus is equal to a tax of five mills on the net valuation of the property of the county under the last assessment. Hence the Hon. County Court can reduce, and ought to reduce, the recent levy to fifteen mills, and it is the duty of the taxpayers to use all honorable means to secure such reduction.

THE INSANE ASYLUM.

The north ward of the Insane Asylum says the Salem Talk, is up and all ready for the tin to be placed on the roof. The walls of the adjoining ward south are all up ready for the roof, and the walls of the main or central part of the building, which will be four stories high when completed—one story higher than the remainder of the building—will be finished in a few days time, as also the kitchen and chapel. Work has been commenced on the walls of the south ward, but it is not likely that they will be completed this Fall. Work on the building is being pushed forward as fast as possible. We learn that quite a number of carpenters are wanted. The Asylum when completed will be an immense building, and will be quite substantial looking.

Joaquin Miller has lost the last stake he made. Wall street got it; and now Walkeen is so much reduced in purse that his recent wedded wife is compelled to keep boarders at Saratoga. This isn't quite so romantic for the unfettered child of nature as roaming among the Sierras of his fancy and writing verses numerus lege solatis, but it makes him more certain of his grub.

Holloway Pills—What is Life Insurance? Apoplexy, etc.—Many people insure their lives to benefit their families by death—how paradoxical is this. To preserve life by preserving the health would be a far more rational manner of insuring it. Apoplexy is swift and insidious in its attacks, striking its victims without a moment's warning. Happily a preventive has been discovered—Holloway Pills—the only safe and certain remedy for this disease, they cool the blood and equalize its circulation through the system. To preserve the stomach in a sound condition and the blood pure is the true secret of health—Holloway's Pills will do this most effectively, and thousands owe their actual existence to them at the present day. IMPORTANT NOTICE—None are genuine unless the signature of J. H. HOLLOWAY is on each box of Pills and Ointment. Boxes at 25 cents, 50 cents and $1 each. There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes. HOLLOWAY & CO., NEW YORK.
