There is a something that grows in every wrong that explodes it. These oppressive mono po of New York there is now a powerful antimonopoly organization with its creeping webs extending around every commercial center. All this comes from not the monopoly itself, but from its strange and mysterious working. Monopolies are needed and will always find favor with the masses if they are but properly directed and understood. This anti-monopoly feeling cannot exist against Mr. Villard. He has no secrets. He tells the people what he can do for them and how he will aid them in their endeavors to develop the resources of this great country. He wants
