STATE NEWS.

The Dalles deplores the presence of several women who are in the habit of drinking to intoxication.
It is expected that the new Methodist church at Astoria will be ready for occupancy about New Years.
Geo. Derriek of Umatilla county dug 4,500 pounds of potatoes from three quarters of an acre of ground.
Mr. Hanley last week sold to Gin Lin, a celestial miner from Applegate, fifty hogs, averaging 300 pounds each in weight.
George McNulty, son of Capt McNulty, is lying sick with small pox in the Dalles. The case is isolated as much as possible and the patient is doing well.
A band of horses numbering 88 head belonging to the estate of H. J. Waldron, were sold at auction in the Dalles last week. The average price was $50 per head.
The amount to be raised by Multnomah county this fiscal year in the way of taxes, is over $222,000, a sum which certainly ought to run that county in pretty good shape.
A joint stock company has been formed to build a public hall in Pendleton. A building 40x100 feet will be erected, costing about $2,000. The shares are $50 each, all of which have been subscribed.
On the 7th inst., Fred Miller died at his home on the John Day river, while watering his stock at the barn. He was in his usual health and died without a moment's warning. Heart disease is the stated cause.
The following entries were made at The Dalles land office during October: Timber culture, thirty entries; pre-emption filings, thirty nine; homestead entries, twenty-two cash entries, eight. The total aggregate, 18,000 acres.
Hepper has had one case of small pox. The victim was Miss Nancy Yarlott, a young lady about 20 years old. It is not known how she contracted the disease, and of the numerous persons exposed, none have taken it from her.
A child of Rev. J. M. McIntire of Hubbard, Linn county, was fatally poisoned on the 7th, by the mother mistaking morphine for quinine and administering a dose of the former. The child lived but two hours after taking the medicine.
It is stated that there are 15,000 bushels of grain undrashed in the country above Sheridan when the rains began, and only a small portion of it was saved as merchantable grain. This is a discouraging event for one little section.
Messrs. A. Sanders and Levi Robbins, of Molalla Prairie, drove a fine lot of hogs to Messrs. Albright & Logus, Oregon City, last week. The former had 18 which averaged 270 pounds and the latter 14 with an average of 298 pounds each.
Early last Sunday morning a large fire tree near the home of John Hinderman of Highland was struck by lightning and a piece about sixty feet long was torn away from the main body and left hanging. Some distance from there a dead tree was also struck and shivered into fragments.
Travel has now almost ceased for this year across the Lebanon mountain road, and very few more will attempt the trip before the road opens next spring. Walter McGee, the keeper of the gate at Canyon creek, says that the number of wagons passing that point was 758 and that the toll collected amounted to a little over $2,000.
The store of Evert & Hiestad situated on the Meadows, Umatilla, was burned recently and all its contents destroyed with the exception of about $500 worth of goods which were gotten out by insurance. The fire originated by one of the employees going into a back room after night with a lighted candle to get some rope. While there he accidentally set fire to a curtain. The fire spread rapidly and the building being at some distance from any other house it was wrapped in flames before help could arrive.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

It has long been the pious custom of our people with the closing of the year to look back upon the blessings brought to them in the changing course of seasons and to return solemn thanks to the all giving source from whom they flow, and although at this period, when the falling leaf admonishes us that the time of our sacred duty is at hand, our nation lies in the shadow of a great bereavement, the mourning which fills our hearts finds us sorrowful toward the God before whom we but lately bowed in grief and supplication, yet the countless benefits which have showered upon us during the past 12 months call for our fervent gratitude and make it fitting that we should rejoice with thankful hearts that the Lord in his infinite mercy has most signally favored our people and country. Peace without and prosperity within have been vouchsafed to us, no pestilence has visited our shores, the abundant privileges of freedom which our fathers left us in their wisdom are still our increasing heritage, and if in parts of its vast domain some affliction has visited our brethren in their forest homes, yet even this calamity has been tempered and in a manner sanctified by a generous compassion for the sufferers which has been called forth throughout our land. For all these things it is meet that the voice of the nation should go up to God in devout homage. Therefore I, Chester A. Arthur, president of the United States, do recommend that all people observe Thursday, the 24th day of November, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, by ceasing so far as may be from their secular labors and meeting in their several places of worship, there to join ascribing honor and praise to Almighty God whose goodness has been so manifest in our history and in our lives, and offering our honest prayers that his bounties may continue to us and our children. In witness whereof, etc.
CHESTER A. ARTHUR.
By the president:
JAS. G. BLAINE, Secretary of State.
Much excitement has prevailed in Baker county relative to the death and subsequent disposal of the remains of J. S. Winn at Baker City some days ago. As soon as Mr. Winn was taken sick he sent for his mother, in La Grande, to come to him, and in the meantime making affidavit before Judge Elmer that he had not sufficient means for his immediate necessities, he was placed in the care of Dr. Brown, keeper of the county poor. Before Mrs. Winn reached Baker City he was buried. Upon her arrival she decided to have the remains removed to La Grande; but was horrified to find that they had been taken away, the coffin having been broken in from the top. Search was immediately instituted, and after several days the corpse was found buried in Dr. Atwood's barn, alongside the manger, in a perfectly nude state. It was brought to La Grande and received decent burial on Tuesday. The friends of the deceased were amply able to have cared for him had they been properly informed of his condition.
A. J. Buck has a curiosity on exhibition in Oregon City. It is about the size of an Indian pestle, but carved on both ends and on one side. On the side is a good representation of a heart. It was probably a small idol and was found, as were also some huge teeth that are with it, about sixty feet below the surface of the ground, where the excavations are being made for the railroad at the Cascades on the Columbia.
Alfred Wilson, who lives near Sheridan, killed a large black bear recently after a fight of several hours. He was aided in the battle by five dogs, all of them being fearfully torn in the struggle, his wife, two daughters, and finally a man, came to the rescue. As told by a correspondent, it was one of the most famous bear fights of modern times. A large panther was also killed near the same place shortly after.
The foulest monopoly in the land—a combination of six firms now control the whole poultry trade of the South.
