The "Dark Horse" Story.

Grand Rapids (Iowa) Times.
"The Dayton (Ohio) Journal mentions a little incident of the Chicago Convention which seems to show that Senator Conkling foresaw the outcome from nearer the beginning than many others. It was an incident in which Conkling and Garfield, one for Grant and the other for Sherman, were the characters, and is related as follows:
"Among the late President Garfield's papers will probably be found a little memorandum from Roscoe Conkling to him in pencil, written in the hall of the National Convention at Chicago in about these words:
"MY DEAR GARFIELD: If there is to be a dark horse in this convention, there is no person whom I would prefer before yourself.
"The reply was:
"MY DEAR CONKLING: There will be no dark horse in this convention. I am for Sherman. J. A. GARFIELD.
"This was pending the great struggle and just before the mighty tornado which carried Garfield into the presidency—and the grave." Our esteemed contemporary must needs forego such pleasure as it may derive from fancying that "Conkling foresaw the outcome." We were fortunate enough to have been present at the Chicago Convention, and to have seen the incident which gave rise to the above item. Conkling—arrogant, able, presuming, peacocky and plucky—was trying to throttle all opposition by passing a gag law binding all delegates to support the nominee of the convention.
A delegate from West Virginia—he who replied to the sneering inquiry as to his identity made by the turkey gobbler from New York by saying that he was the man who made a hundred speeches for Hayes in the last campaign while Conkling was making but one—opposed the motion, but just before it was put General Garfield came to the front and made his famous plea for peace. The waters were troubled for a time, but the oil poured by the politic Senator-elect from Ohio quieted them and the motion was withdrawn.
It was at this moment that Conkling turned to Garfield a face burning with indignation and impudence. Calling a page he sent the card to Garfield, who glanced over it, tore it into pieces and threw them on the floor. Having noticed the affair we were curious about the contents of the card, and after ad-journalment explained to a journalistic friend who was upon the floor of the house the circumstances. He found the card. Upon it was the single sentence, "Is this the dark horse putting himself forward?" The occurrence made a marked impression upon us at that time, and since then we have narrated it upon several occasions. We tell the story again because it is being presented in a distorted light by several contemporaries.

Blackmail.

Several years ago in Boise City, says the bright editor of the Idaho Democrat, we published something like the following:
"If the married man who was seen at a late hour last night talking love to another man's wife over the back fence, will send us a box of good cigars, num's the word."
Reaching the office next morning nine boxes of fragrant Havanas greeted our vision, piled up on our table.
It was an experiment, and worked to a charm, but we have never yet been able to understand why nine boxes should have been sent around where but one man was mentioned.

WILL ASK FOR A SUBSIDY.—It is rumored that among the schemes to be brought before Congress is one asking for a subsidy in aid of a line of steamers to be established by Villard and others on the Pacific Mail between California and Panama, and with the Pacific Navigation Company between Panama, Callao and Valparaiso.

A juvenile temperance organization called the Band of Hope, at Dallas, has been instituted. It is under the auspices of the Good Templars. The pledge is to refrain from the use of alcoholic beverages, tobacco, sweet cider, and not to swear.

STATE NEWS.

Harvey Vaden, living in the foothills near Lebanon, lost between 500 and 600 bushels of wheat by the rains.
A three year old son of W. H. Klum living near Lebanon, was badly scalded recently by falling into a kettle of boiling water.
The outer walls of the insane asylum building at Salem have been finished and the whole structure will be placed under roof as speedily as possible.
Among the victims of the small pox at Dayton, W. T., are Henry Black and son, formerly for many years a resident of Washington county. Mr.
Black was well advanced in years and highly respected by his many acquaintances.

The body of Russell Price, drowned some days since in the Calapooia has not been recovered, though every effort has been made. That of his horse was found about a mile and a half below the place where the drowning occurred. It was lodged in the rocks and a bundle of clothes was still strapped to the saddle.

The large flax warehouse at Albany is receiving the flax crop daily as it dries, after leaving the rotting ponds.
The estimated crop of lint flax raised in that section this year will be 40,000 pounds. This will keep the flax mills going for six or eight months. It is said that the lint is of a very fine quality, and although the crop was much depreciated on account of foul seed and ground, in many instances the ground being so bad as to choke the flax out entirely, yet the crop as a rule will be a paying one all around.

Railroad Survey.

The surveying party of eleven men under the charge of Col Hurlbart, went over the mountains last Sunday, says the Jacksonville Sentinel, and camped near Cole's, at the point where the heavy grade will begin. They will probably be at work between the summit and the California line a good part of the winter, and may have some rough weather to contend with. Mr.
Hurlbart's work is to make a final location of the road from the summit to the Klamath, and it may be necessary to run a number of lines before this can be accomplished. He begins at Klamath, and will run to the summit with a level, of course, instead of using the aneroid barometer to obtain the altitudes, as in the preliminary surveys. A Portland engineer has been engaged to begin work on the northern approach to the Siskiyou pass, but was prevented by sickness from coming out, and Mr. Howard of Jacksonville, will probably be sent here in his stead. The exact location of the required tunnel cannot be fixed until the line of approach has been settled, and there will doubtless be as little delay as possible, so that the boring of the tunnel may be begun at an early day. Whether a long tunnel or a short one shall be made is not yet decided. The short one would be 1000 feet long, and the long one might be 4000 feet. To excavate a 4000-foot tunnel would require many months steady work, and the importance of beginning in time for completion with the rest of the road can readily be seen.

Never Had It.

When the first case of small pox was moved to the pest house the city authorities cast about to find a suitable person to be employed to nurse the sick man. A strong, healthy-looking man from up the valley presented himself as an applicant for the position, assuring the Mayor that he had the small-pox a number of years ago. He was engaged, and entered at once upon the discharge of his duties. In the course of time he manifested unmistakable symptoms of the smallpox, and took to his bed, when another nurse was employed for both patients. Nurse No. 1 is now able to be up, having had the disease in a severe form. The Mayor says he is willing to give a certificate that the nurse has had the smallpox in earnest this time. There was probably a mistake about his having had it before.—Telegram.
