The Telegraph Monopoly.

Mr. Ford, of Missouri, has introduced into Congress a bill providing that the government take control, by purchase upon appealsement of the telegraph lines of the country; and that they be placed under the supervision of fixing a time for the bolding of a County fixed for dispatches, which will compen-

This is a move in the right direction. The telegraph has become a part of our civilization; it is a necessity to the communication of news, to the transac tion of business, as much so as is the mail. While at present the telegraph is entirely under control of a monopoly The bill introduced by Mr. Prescott, that not only refuses to permit the use of it by the people upon payment of all information from the general pubsic upon any and all questions when the interests of the monopolists would be injured thereby. The time will come speedily when this view of the matter will be unanimous among business and ten cent stamp, like a postage stamp, length, will insure its delivery within the hour to any town or city in the nation, if not in the world.
