EXCITEMENT IN ROCHESTER.

The Commotion Caused by the Statement of a Physician.

An unusual article from the Rochester N. Y. Democrat and Chronicle, was republished in this paper and was a subject of much conversation both in professional circles and on the street. Apparently it caused even more commotion in Rochester, as the following from the same paper shows:

Dr. J. B. Henion, who is well known not only in Rochester but in nearly every part of America, sent an extended article to this paper, a few days since which was duly published; detailing his remarkable experience and rescue from death. It would be impossible to enumerate the personal enquiries which have been made at our office as to the validity of the article, but they have been so numerous that further investigation of the subject was deemed an editorial necessity.

With this end in view a representative of this paper called on Dr. Henion, at his residence on St. Paul street, when the following interview occurred: "That article of yours, Doctor, has created quite a whirlwind. Are the statements about the terrible condition you were in, and the way you were rescued such as you can sustain."

Every one of them and many additional ones. Few people ever get so near the grave as I did and then return and I am not surprised that the public think it marvelous. It was marvelous."

"How in the world did you, a physician, come to be brought so low?" "By neglecting the first and most simple symptoms. I did not think I was sick. It is true I had frequent headaches; felt tired most of the time; could eat nothing one day and was ravenous the next; felt dull indefinite pains and my stomach was out of order, but I did not think it meant anything serious."

"But have these common ailments anything to do with the fearful Bright's disease which took so firm a hold on you?"

"Anything? Why, they are the sure indications of the first stages of that dreadful malady. The fact is, few people know or realize what ails them, and I am sorry to say that too few physicians do either."

"That is a strange statement, doctor." "But it is a true one. The medical profession have been treating symptoms instead of diseases for years, and it is high time it ceased. We doctors have been clipping off the twigs when we should strike at the root. The symptoms I have just mentioned, or any unusual action or irritation of the water channel indicate the approach of Bright's disease even more than a cough announces the coming of consumption. We do not treat the cough but try to help the lungs. We should not waste our time trying to relieve the headache, stomach, pains about the body or other symptoms, but go directly to the kidneys, the source of most of these ailments."

"This, then, is what you meant when you said that more than one-half the deaths which occur arise from Bright's disease, is it Doctor?"

"Precisely, thousands of so called diseases are torturing people to-day, when it is in reality Bright's disease in some of its many forms. It is a Hydra-headed monster and should strike terror even at the slightest symptoms to every one who has them. I can look back and recall hundreds of deaths which physicians declared at the time were caused by paralysis, apoplexy, heart disease, Pneumonia, malarial fever and other common complaints which I see now were caused by Bright's disease."

"And did all these cases have simple symptoms at first?"

"Every one of them, and might have been cured as I was by the timely use of the same remedy—Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I am getting my eyes thoroughly opened in this matter, and think I am helping others to see the facts and their possible danger also. Why, there are no end of truths bearing on this subject. If you want to know more about it go and see Mr. Warner himself. He was sick, the same as I, and is the healthiest man in Rochester to-day. He made a study of this subject and can give you more facts than I can. Go, too, and see Dr. Lattimore, the chemist, at the University. If you want facts there are any quantity of them showing the alarming increase of Bright's disease, its simple and deceptive symptoms, and that there is but one way by which it can be escaped."

Fully satisfied of the force and truth of the Doctor's words, the reporter laid him good day and called on Mr. Warner at his establishment on Exchange street. At first Mr. Warner was inclined to be reticent, but learning that the information desired was about the alarming increase of Bright's disease, his manner changed instantly and he spoke very earnestly:

"It is true that Bright's disease has increased wonderfully, and we find, by reliable statistics that in the past ten years its growth has been 250 per cent. Look at the prominent men it has carried off: Everett, Sumner, Chase, Wilson, Carpenter, Bishop Haven and others. This is terrible and shows a greater growth than that of any other known complaint. It must be plain to every one that something must be done to check this increase or there is no knowing where it may end."

"Do you think many people are afflicted with it to-day who do not realize it, Mr. Warner?"

Hundreds of thousands. I have a striking example of this truth which has just come to my notice. A prominent professor in a New Orleans medical college was lecturing before his class on the subject of Bright's disease. He had various fluids under microscopic analysis and was showing the students what the indications of this terrible malady were. In order to draw the contrast between healthy and unhealthy fluids he had provided a vial, the contents of which were drawn from his own person. "And now, gentlemen," he said, "as we have seen the unhealthy indications, I will show you how it appears in a state of perfect health," and he submitted his own fluid to the usual test. As he watched the results his countenance suddenly changed—his color and command both left him and in a trembling voice he said: "Gentlemen, I have made a painful discovery; I have Bright's disease of the kidneys, and in less than a year he was dead."

"You believe then that it has no symptoms of its own and is frequently unknown by the person afflicted with it?"

"It has no symptoms of its own and very often none at all. Usually no two people have the same symptoms, and frequently death is the first symptom. The slightest indication of any kidney difficulty should be enough to strike terror to any one. I know what I am talking about for I have been all through all the stages of the kidney disease."

"You know of Dr. Henion's case?"

"Yes, I have both heard and read of it."

"It is very wonderful, is it not?"

"A very prominent case but no more so than a great many others that have come to my notice as having been cured by the same means."

"You believe then that Bright's disease can be cured?"

"I know it can. I know it from my experience of hundreds of prominent persons who were given up to die by both their physicians and friends."

"You speak of your own experience, what was it?"

"A fearful one. I had felt languid and unfitted for business for years, but I did not know what ailed me. When, however, I found it was kidney difficulty I thought there was little hope and so did the doctors. I have since learned that one of the physicians of this city pointed me out to a gentleman on the street one day, saying: 'there goes a man who will be dead within a year.' I believe his words would have proven true if I had not fortunately secured and used the remedy now known as Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure."

"And this caused you to manufacture it?"

"No, it caused me to investigate. I went to the principal cities with Dr. Craig the discoverer and saw the physicians prescribing and using it and saw that Dr. Craig was unable with his facilities, to supply the thousands who wanted it. I therefore determined, as a duty I owed humanity and the suffering, to bring it within their reach and now it is known in every part of America, is sold in every drug store and has become a household necessity."

The reporter left Mr. Warner, much impressed with the earnestness and sincerity of his statements and next paid a visit to Dr. A. S. Lattimore at his residence on Prince Street. Dr. Lattimore, although busily engaged upon some matters connected with the State Board of Health, of which he is one of the analysts, courteously answered the questions that were propounded him:

"Did you make a chemical analysis of the case of Mr. H. H. Warner some three years ago, Doctor?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did this analysis show you?"

"The presence of albumen and tube casts in great abundance."

"And what did the symptoms indicate?"

"A serious disease of the kidneys?"

"Did you think Mr. Warner could recover?"

"No, sir. I did not think it possible. It was seldom, indeed, that so pronounced a case had, up to that time ever been cured."

"Do you know anything about the remedy which cured him?"

"Yes, I have chemically analyzed it and upon critical examination, find it entirely free from any poisonous or deleterious substances."

We publish the following statements in view of the commotion which the publicity of Dr. Henion's article has caused and to meet the protestations which have been made. The standing of Dr. Henion, Mr. Warner and Dr. Lattimore in the community is beyond question and the statement they make, cannot for a moment be doubted. They conclusively show that Bright's disease of the kidneys is one of the most deceptive and dangerous of all diseases, that it is exceedingly common, alarmingly increasing and that it can be cured.

STATE NEWS.

The road from Ashland to Linkville was last week covered with about six feet of fresh snow from the late storm, and a great quantity of snow covers the mountains and country all the way up Klamath river to the lake, which will keep the river up until late, to the disappointment of river miners. Warm rains may possibly start it off early, and thus get rid of the supply to let the river down by the middle or latter part of June.

Eleven car loads of steel rails arrived at Roseburg last Saturday. While coming through the little canyon north of Drain Station, one of the cars jumped the track, and the train ran about 300 yards before it was ascertained that one of the component parts was running on its own hook across the ties without the aid of the regular iron rails. The train hands had to stop and unload the car ere they could get it on the track again and then reload it once more, which operation delayed the train about three hours.

One of the severest snow storms ever known at this season of the year in Oregon visited Douglas and adjoining counties on the 18th and 19th. The snow in Cow creek and Wolf creek valleys was near a foot deep, while on the hills adjoining, it was about twenty inches. Travel was almost entirely suspended for several days, and the stages were only crowded through by the persistent energy of the gentlemanly drivers. It is well that good weather so speedily followed the storm, as there was considerable stock in that section of country needing feed and shelter. The "oldest inhabitant" has registered February and March 1882 as the severest ever known in the history of the State.

Jacob Walter, a Russian, has been looking about Douglas county for the past week or ten days in search of lands. He desires to find a suitable tract of from 12,000 to 18,000 acres, all in a body, for the colonization of four Russian societies, composed of about 35 families each, who are now residents of Dakota territory, and desire to immigrate into our state providing they can find a suitable location where they can hold their land in common, on a similar plan as the Aurora society held theirs until recently. Mr. Walter represents these societies, and if he can find such land as will suit his people, and can purchase it at reasonable figures, he will make arrangements for its immediate colonization by a hardy and industrious people.

There is being considerable discussion among the fishermen and others in this State relative to "steel-heads," a kind of salmon, but not the regular fish used in commerce. Some annoyance and threats of arrest for catching them having been made as it is charged that it is a violation of a State law against catching salmon in the month of March in the waters of the State. An agreed upon case was made up in Oregon City recently before the State Circuit Court and Mr. Jonathan Humphrey was charged with catching steel-heads which he admitted. The case was submitted to the court by the prosecuting attorney, who was himself of the opinion that the law had not been violated. Judge Stott held that the steel heads are not salmon under the law. This will be a gratifying decision to many persons.

The position of Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, which has been going abegging ever since Hunt was retired, has at last been accepted by Judge Samuel Blatchford of New York, who was confirmed by the Senate. Lord Conkling recommended Clarence Seward, but President Arthur ignored his suggestion, which is thought to have caused hard feelings all round.
