Moody For Governor.

Z. F. Moody began the campaign at Salem last week, and to show our readers that his peer in oratory has not been known in the world since the days of Robert Emmet, we furnish his first speech. In response to the loud calls of the audience he took the stand and broke forth in the following eloquent strain:
Mr. Chairman and fellow Republicans: I congratulate the people of Salem and Marion—the banner county of the state—(cheers) for their enthusiasm as displayed on this occasion for the great cause, (cheers) and I hope the enthusiasm will continue until June, and—and—help to win the—the glorious fight. (Applause.) Thank you, gentlemen.
Mr. Moody, in this attempt to speak to his fellow citizens showed in a decided manner his incompetency to discharge the important duties of the high office to which he aspires. He demonstrated by this feeble effort that he is wholly ignorant of deep and vital questions of State that pertain to the office of chief executive of a great and growing State. It was apparent to every one present that Moody was not the man for Governor. Why did he not tell the people what policy he would pursue if elected? Why did he not explain why he voted against the bill to reduce interest on money while speaker of the House of Representatives two years ago? Why did he not show to the people why he voted and labored against the bill to reduce the fees of Sheriffs and Clerks in this State? Why did he not show to the people why it was that he worked against the bill to tax mortgages in the counties where the same are recorded and why he dodged the vote on the final passage of the bill? Why did he not show from his brief record in the legislature that he had stood with the interests of the farmers, mechanics and laboring men of the country. Why did Mr. Moody not explain why it was that he entered into a combination with Hish, Earhart, Lord & Co. in order to secure the nomination for Governor? Why did he not explain to the good Republicans of Marion that he was a merchant at the Dalles and purchased his goods of Sol. Hirsch & Co., and that he as Governor would do Sol's bidding?
Republicans, farmers and laboring men, of Linn county, do you desire a man for Governor of your state who voted against the measures above referred to. For Mr. Moody's record as a legislator we refer you to house journal of 1880, pages 338 and 239. It is apparent from this journal that he voted against every measure of vital interest to the farmer and laboring classes. That Moody is and will be in the interest of monopolies no one who knows his surroundings will deny. That he is largely interested in the great railroad monopoly of this State is also true. While Mr. Moody is not capable of putting up any deep and hidden schemes himself, yet he will be the tool in the hands of others, the enemies of the people's interests.
Let me urge you to examine the records of the two candidates now asking your suffrage for the office of Governor. Contrast their capability and fitness of the office in a candid and unprejudiced manner, and cast your vote accordingly, and we have no fears of the result. J. S. Smith is a man of undisputed ability, and of tried and established integrity, one who has lived among us for near forty years, and been identified with the leading interests of the State, and is well informed as to the wants of our State. Jo. Smith has always been on the side of the interests of the people—the farmer and the laboring men—and is a man that will be a credit to our State, and not a tool of any ring or clique. We believe that the people of Oregon, irrespective of party, will see to it that Jo. Smith is the next Governor of Oregon in spite of Sol Hirsch and his pals—Albany Democrat.

Railroad News.

Jacksonville Times.
From David Peninger, who returned from Roseburg this week, we learn that considerably work has been done on the railroad extension, considering the rough weather and rougher road. Now that the season is more favorable, the force of laborers is being increased daily. Chinese are being shipped constantly to the front and some white men are also employed. The graders and blasters are generally Chinamen, though there is one gang of white graders. The latter are paid $1 80 a day, but they are compelled to pay their own expenses and board at the railroad company's boarding house at $4 50 a week, which is a great hardship. A teamster and two horses command $4 a day, while he can get $6 per diem if he furnishes four horses. Feed and stock is high and scarce, hay being worth $20 a ton and oats about 55 cents a bushel. Seven cents gross can be obtained for hogs, while beef and pork are selling at 12 1/2 cents and upward on the block. Grading has been done a few miles out from Roseburg and is also being commenced near Myrtle creek. No effective work has been done on the tunnels, as Chief Engineer Morris has decided against the present surveys in that locality, saying that longer tunnels are necessary in order to secure the best grade and shortest route. It is not probable that the railroad will be built to the Siskiyou mountains before two years, where a longer tunnel than first supposed will be necessary, unless the road is built on the highest ridges and the Klamath river is crossed at the loftiest bluffs.

The Pacific Coast's Share.

Mouth of Coquille, Or..... 10000
Examinations and surveys of rivers and harbors generally.. 75000
For expense of board of engineers to examine mouth of Columbia river..... 7500
The secretary of war is also authorized to expend money appropriated by the act of March 5, 1879, for construction of a harbor of refuge at Port Orford on the Pacific coast, if in his opinion it be deemed judicious to do so.

Homicide in Douglas County.

MYRTLE CREEK, May 14.—Friday morning I. C. Hill shot and instantly killed his brother-in-law, Caleb Young, in front of the postoffice. There had been a family feud existing between them for some time. It appears that Hill, in a fit of anger, punished his step-daughter for refusing to obey him. This so incensed her relatives that they sent him a written notice to settle up and leave the country in twelve hours. Hill, not wishing to be forced to leave, remained in town until the next morning. While standing on the porch in front of the postoffice Young drove up and approached Hill in a threatening manner, using insulting language, when Hill shot with an X. L. revolver, forty calibre, instantly killing him. Hill was immediately arrested and taken to Roseburg, where the grand jury is investigating the case.
Corvallis is going to have a 4th of July.

STATE NEWS.

Chinese labor on the Baker City extension of the O. R. & N. Co. costs $30 per month.
Scio is going to have a Fourth of July. Next.
The printers of Albany want to have a picnic.
Gervais, Marion county, wants to find some one with capital to build a flouring mill.
Coal has been discovered at Middleton, Yamhill county. The bed is ten feet in width.
Buildings to the value of over $50,000 will be erected in Astoria this season.
The salmon, says the Astorian, are running light and only eight to a boat is the average.
Several new brick buildings are contemplated and in course of construction at Corvallis.
The Gervais Teller says Mr. Brown has donated one block for the convent school building, and the railroad one.
Salmon trout, says the Enterprise, are running in the Clackamas and are of excellent quality.
Gangs of Chinamen are arriving and are being put to work on the tunnels of the Oregon Pacific R. R.
The Astorian has an exhaustive article in which it says there is gold in the sands of Gray's harbor and that a company has been formed to work it.
Says the Benton Leader: We understand that Mr. Crow, the present mail contractor between here and Yaquina Bay, will put his mail hack on the route next week.

H. C. Laws has been discharged from custody by the authorities of Modoc county, Cal, where he was taken on a requisition from Gov. Perkins. The district attorney was opposed the whole proceeding on account of the expense of trial, and the grand jury refused to find a bill.

Andrew Davison has set three six-horse gangs at work breaking ground on P. Donnegan's ranch on Rogue river. Mr. D. has about 3000 acres, and will have as much as possible broken so as to be ready for the fall seeding, being satisfied that summer following is the most sure and preferable mode.

At 5 P. M. Friday, May 12, a fisherman by the name of Anderson, fell overboard out of his boat, says the Astorian, about 300 yards from the ship Mt. Washington. John Nelson, together with Mr. F. E. Fitch, chief officer, and James Stevens, jumped into a boat and endeavored to save the man, but he sank about 5 seconds before they could reach him. They picked up the unfortunate man's hat. Two attempts were made to get hold of him but without avail.

Carrying Dead Chinamen's Remains Home.

A committee of Chinamen from the Chinese six companies in San Francisco, came up on the last steamer and are now located in Chinatown. These men have an important project in hand, which is nothing more or less than removing the bones of every Chinaman in Oregon, Washington Territory and Idaho, who shall have been dead five years. According to the rites of the Chinese religion, the bones of every true mongolian should rest in the soil of the Flowery Kingdom. To this end it is that the members of the companies committees will visit every graveyard in the two Territories and Oregon and disinter the bones. These will be shipped in large boxes to this city and sent hence by steamer or sailing vessel to China. There are supposed to be over 1,500 dead Celestials in the regions above mentioned, and it will take some time before all their bones can be recovered. This morning a gang of men started in to uncover certain graves in Lone Fir cemetery, where the bodies of nearly 150 Chinese are buried. On the macadamized road burying ground the bodies of about 75 Chinamen have been interred. Considerable money will be expended in the work of recovering the osseous remains of the dead mongolians.—Telegram.
