Assessing a Dead Man-

Of all the ingenious methods by which the fertile brain of Hubbell grinds the government employee, commend us to the very latest from the novereign State of Massachusetts. The imperious clay of a Casar in the bung of a barrel is completely outdone and overshadowed by this otilarian kink. Five years ago a laborer in one of the d-partments was assessed to help to defray the expenses of the Republican eampaign, whereupon he died. The boldness of the suggestion may have struck him and hastened his departure, tion. No one knows, and there is no authorized account of the mournful event. The one thing certain is that be died, and, like a well regulated and thoroughly sensible corpse, he has remained dead; yet his name has continued on the pay roll and his salary has been paid all the time. When the circular peddlers wanted to find him and collect his "contribution" to the election of Republican Congressman the other day, he did not answer to his name, and inquiry disclosed the fact that he had been dead for five years past, that the fact was known to the circle of which Mr. James Hubbell forms an honorable and highly favored part. The dead man's salary had all the time been collected for political purposes, but those who knew about it negligently forgot to inform the colnegligently forgot to inform the col-lectors under Hubbell's tate circular, it was thought that he could not surand hence the secret leaked out. Yet ent campaign, and keeps in exhiberating motion the salary of the treat departed. Although his bened "bave loug" ainte orumbled, and his winged spirit has for these five years been circking in the actor one million dollars worth in conazure saults, he has bilita fugat active section with the Star-Boute trials, says entity, with mountain in strongly he will bring suits for the money soon. impressed apair and Accel principality The Baltimore Herald wonders what worked lassition of he interfered of he salues the undernaged remainder as the transaction would prove wost interesting and we suggest that some moral-minited official, if any such there he in regard to matters of this deficate will come to Engene to remain permanently, character, look into this curious affair, teaches the German and English method of and unravel the ledgerdemain by which Engering and claimical music in all its grades the trick has been so successfully and expressions. Hotel Blown Down

SPORANE FALLS, July 9:-At 3 o'clock P M to-day the large three-story hotel building n process of erection near the depot was blown over in a high wind. The building had just been covered and the floors and window frames were not yet in place. Work was going on very rapidly, and though ordinarily well braced there were not enough braces, the floors not being in. The building hung about fifteen minutes after it started, and a quantity of frames were torn out before it went down. All of the men assisting got out, and no one was injured. The loss falls entirely on the proprietor, Mr Kauser for whom there is much sympathy felt. The material is an entire loss. So far as rebuilding is concerned, Mr Kaiser does not say what he will do, but it is thought he will rebuild. His loss is nearly $5,000. The scene of the wreck presents one confused mass of broken timber covered with an uneven surface of roofing and siding. Men or he may have expired of mortifica- and boys are walking over a roof that one hour ago was between 50 and 60 feet above its present position. Your correspondent never saw a more complete wreck. The wind blew from the southwest, but was no stronger than a high wind.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT. - At the races on Saturday last, says the Rosehurg Independent, Mr. W. G. Hill was so much interested in the success of Gipsey Girl that when she passed the post shead of Parrott he threw his hat in the air and it landed upon the track. Not thinking of Pinto, who was far behind, he undertook to get the hat and was struck and was run over by the third horse. He was removed to his home which fortunately is only a short distance from the track. He was terribly bruised about the head, has two ribs torn from the spinal column, one broken, and otherwise internally vive, but we are glad to say that be is expected.
