The Circus.
Sherman's circus gave performances in this place Wednesday and Thursday evenings to large houses. Wednesday evening it is said there were 1,700 people present. The educated horses are the best that has ever performed through this part of the country, and we doubt if there is anywhere three better trained horses than these with this show. The performances on the horizontal bar and trapeze are fair, as is also the tumbling. The riding consists of a gentleman riding the hairless horse. This is the weakest part of the circus. Everybody expected some of the old bareback riding, and the audience was disappointed in this feature of the show. The clowns are only ordinary. The tight rope walking is one of the best performances in the whole entertainment, and received the praise of all. In the main, we believe the people generally considered they received one dollar's worth of amusement, and hence are satisfied with the entertainment.

Hops.
We clip the following from the Portland Standard, of last Tuesday, which explains itself: "A gentleman who has just returned from a trip through Lane county states that in that county there are 39 hop yards containing 282 acres, and that the crop this season will amount to 269,000 lbs. At the price now offered, 45¢ per pound, the crop will amount to nearly $134,500. Parties on the ground have, it is stated, received 50¢ per pound for their crop. The cause of the great advance in the price of hops this season is that there are no old stocks on hand in Germany or England, nor anywhere on the globe, and the crop is a complete failure in nearly every place except Oregon. In some places the vines have gone into the black blight, an irreparable ruin. The destruction of vineyards in France and Germany has almost stopped the production of wine in those countries, and now the Englishman is threatened with the loss of his beloved beer, for beer cannot be made if "they" haven't the "ops to put in it"—and America will soon have to supply Europe with wine and beer."
PURCHASED.—We are informed that Messrs S E and A J Goodman have purchased the entire stock of drugs and medicines belonging to Mr L Robinson, of Independence. The Messrs Goodman are well known in Eugene City and Lane county, and are gentlemen of energy and integrity. Mr S E Goodman is a first-class druggist, he having worked for Mr Wilkins of this place for several years. We wish the gentlemen all the success imaginable.
TO HOP GROWERS.—We are desirous of procuring reliable information in regard to the hop crop of Lane county for the season of 1882, for the purpose of publication in this paper. We would ask each owner or lessee of a yard to send us as soon as picked or weighed, the number of pounds of his crop, and also the number of acres from which produced.
TO MILLERS.—Old type for rabbit metal for sale at this office.

KILLED.

Jack Kerns, an Indian, Killed at Bonnett's Hop Yard.
Information was brought to town Thursday morning that an Indian had been badly stabbed at Bonnett's hop yard, about five east of this city. Drs Osborne and Nicklin went to attend on the wounded man, but when they arrived at the hop yard the Indian was dead. The following testimony was elicited at the Coroner's inquest, held before G W Klusey, J P, Coroner Osburn being sick:
TESTIMONY.
Dr A Sharples, examining physician, being sworn, says: I find a wound made by some sharp instrument, in the left side of abdomen, reaching down obliquely, from which a large amount of the intestines protruded.
Mrs Kerns being sworn, testified as follows: Deceased was her husband and is named Jack Kerns; deceased and Jim Kirke with a white man known as Jackson or Stewart, had a difficulty within a few yards of deceased camp on the morning of Sept 14th. Witness thought fight would soon be over and getting scared left them to fight it out. There was only three engaged in the difficulty. Deceased had no weapons on at the time of the trouble. Believe that Jim Kirke and Jackson did the killing.
Eliza Kirke, being sworn, says that Jackson did the killing but Kerns began the quarrel.
Albert Kirke being sworn, said, he heard Jackson say he wanted to shoot the deceased; left when the trouble began.
The Coroner's jury returned the following VERDICT:
We the jury summoned to enquire into the cause of the death of the person before us, find that his name is Jack Kerns, and that he came to his death by reason of wounds received in the abdomen, inflicted by some sharp instrument, in the hands of Jim Kirke (Indian), and Jackson (white).

KILLED TWO DEER.—Mr Geo S Kincaid, wife of one of the proprietors of the Eugene Journal, killed two deer one day this week, near the McKenzie bridge. We will wager a new hat that George will not hereafter brag of his sportmanship while his wife is in hearing.

A Strategic Movement.
It would seem that there is some truth in the statement that the O R & N Co. will extend their branch line from Baker City through to the Union Pacific. We learn that Chief Engineer E H Mix with a party of employes of the Oregon Construction Co has made a survey through and taken possession of the Burn River Canyon, located the line, and that a large force is at work along the route all the way from Baker City to Snake River. The Construction Company is sending forward a large force of men for the work and is also pushing the construction of the line through the Blue Mountains to Baker City. Burnt River Canyon is a very narrow pass and the first company locating a line there takes possession of a strip 100 feet in width. This looks as if the Oregon Short Line was to be headed off from reaching Baker City. Hon D P Thompson is president of the Oregon Construction Company and vice-president of the Oregon Short Line Co., and when they look horns on the Snake River we have a curiosity to see how he will make things fade.

Homicide in Salem.
About midnight Saturday night, Mrs John C Long was shot and killed under circumstances which point to her husband and one John W Bingham as the murderers. The Coroner held an inquest at 4 o'clock Sunday morning, on which Mr Long testified that his wife got up from her bed and went out doors, returning in a few minutes said good bye to him and shot herself through the left temple, the ball going through her head and out of a window. The adverse facts, however, and that Mr Long was not left handed; there were no traces of powder on her face, indicating that the pistol had been held some distance from her head, the position in which she laid when the Coroner found her showed that she could not have shot herself as she was turned completely around in her position on the floor. The revolver could not be found during the inquest but was afterward found under Mrs Long's night-dress, in which she was clad at the time of the homicide. It was very evident that Mrs Long could not have turned around and secreted the pistol after having sent a ball through her brain. Testimony was also brought out that Bingham was occupying a room in the house with a twelve-year-old daughter of Mrs Long and that the person of the daughter had been violated. Mrs Long was the mother of three children by a former husband and had been married three months to Mr Long. No cause is assigned for the deed. It was understood last night that Long and Bingham were held without bail to await the action of the grand jury.
Strayed.
A large grey mare, Percheron stock, six years old, left my place Aug 14th. Anyone returning said animal to my place five miles north of Eugene will be liberally rewarded.

County Fair.

EDITOR GUARD.—Some time ago quite a number of the prominent citizens of this county anticipated getting up, and did make proper efforts, to get up an Agricultural County Fair in good shape, by incorporating into a joint stock company, but for lack of means and interest taken by a great many the matter was not successful, and now a number are yet anxious and have decided to have a free fair anyhow; that is using but little money, fixing a mile track sufficient for running and trotting and buildings suitable for all other exhibits, with entrance and exhibit fees free, hence all premiums will have to be awarded with the blue and red ribbon. This is a new and an untried way of holding and managing agricultural fairs, nevertheless it is the only and best means we can see at the present time. Now it does not follow that the premiums not being paid in money that the people are not precluded by it. Experience has taught and is yearly teaching us that fairs and exhibitions are very important for practical education, neither are they confined to one nationality, but are regarded of great advantage to the producing classes. We are past the time when it is said that some would put corn in one end of the sack and a rock in the other to balance over the horse's back, and go to mill. The world is moving on fast and men are required to better succeed to apply their energies differently and do more with their heads, and their labor in quicker time, as it costs much more to live than it did fifty years ago. Agriculture is ahead of all other industries and out-ranks other professions, nevertheless much information is yet needed. The producer must have increased knowledge, and with this knowledge come pride, and these create energy. A long time back it was thought by many that a steamer would never cross the Atlantic Ocean. The improvement of domestic stock and vegetation is of recent origin, also the rapid improvement made on machinery and implements, and I can well recollect raking grain from one of the first reapers made at Cincinnati, Ohio, running without any real things are not as they once were; people are looking for the best and if we cannot produce the equal, we shall be left behind. All branches of agriculture should be well understood, and the thing called scrub stock should only be remembered as a thing of the past, and the farmers are the only ones to bring about this change. People by going to an agricultural fair will always see something to suit their peculiar taste, and most all are benefited by attending these fairs; by making more friends and becoming better acquainted. Competition is the life of trade and improvement, and the grand secret of American progress, yet there is plenty of room for improvement. In the dark ages, before civilization became a fixed star, it was safe enough to rest and let well enough alone, but at last well enough has gone where the woodbine twines, among the debris of old foggiam. I will say in conclusion that the old place chosen for holding the exhibition is not as central as I would wish but it is the best we could get under the present circumstances. If well I will probably exhibit the most varieties of wheat and the finest and best ever exhibited in any nation; the whitest and the darkest; the softest and the hardest; the tallest straw and the largest heads, and the smallest heads and the shortest straw; the smallest grains and the largest, and it is likely that it will be the last exhibit of wheat I will make in Oregon. I have been a large exhibitor of cereals for many years in different places, and with what success most of you know, but will at any time be ready to compete with any State or Nation. The exhibition is to be on the 5th and 6th of October, on the farm of J R Sellers, five miles east of Goshen. We would wish the farmers in general to bring all their best stock of all ages, names and grades, grain and vegetables; fruits and flowers; and above all we would like to see the ladies department well filled with all kinds of home work, which would make the exhibition much more attractive. So let us all go and camp and have a good time.
GEORGE BELMONT.
A newspaper man is expected to be everywhere, see everything and catch every item afloat, simply because that is his profession. But an exchange reminds its readers that he can't do it. His friends can help him thro' by sending or bringing such items of interest. All manner of legitimate local news goes to make up an interesting local newspaper and will be received with thanks.
Oregon's Legislature should follow the example set by Texas law-makers, who passed a bill taxing all persons selling the Police Gazette, Police News and similar papers $500 per annum. The tax practically prohibits the sale of papers that undermine the morals of the young.
