EUGENE CITY GUARD

LATEST NEWS SUMMARY.

BY TELEGRAPH TO BATE.

An intimate friend of Folger, says he will not resign before the last of December and not then unless elected governor.

The Chicago Christian convention met in that city on the 11th under the aus-500 ministers were present. The hall was well filled at the preliminary meeting to hear W. C. Luckey preach the opening sermon.

As two men, Martin Johnson and John Russell, attempted to board a train on the 8th near Berkeley, Cal., They missed their footing and the result was instantly fatal to one and nearly so to the other. Both men were intoxicated at the time and warned not to attempt to board the train. Russell was run over and his head completely severed from the body. ter of Austin, Texas, stabbed and killed John Turner in a quarrel. Chapman es-Johnson's arm was amputated but his recovery is very doubtful.

Carl P Sanders, proprietor of sailor boarding house, was shot twice on the 13th by a sailor named J. Hanson, on the wharf between Davis and Vallejo streets, San Francisco, and instantly killed. After shooting, Hanson threw the pistol overboard. He was arrested immediately and is now in custody. He seemed to exult in the deed and said he was glad Sanders was dead. From the circum-stances it seems to be a cold blooded murder.

The Jeannette board of inquiry were in session at the navy department on the 11th and examined Capt. P. C. Johnson, who was senior officer on the board of inspection which passed upon the Jeannette previous to her sailing from San Francisco. The report of the board was read. Capt. Johnson verified its findings and testified that, in his judgment, the Jeannette was in every partic-ular perfectly seaworthy when she started upon her ill-starred voyage. Lieut. • Danenhower will probably appear before the board.

A Philadelphia dispatch of Oct. 10th. says: The stockholders of the Iowa Gulch Mining Co. feel delighted to think they have at last succeeded in serving a writ on Lieut.-Gov. Tabor of Colorado, who was incautious enough to stop here Saturday on his way to New York. This company owns a claim near Leadville which was sold to Philadelphians at a handsome figure and the stock was placed at $2 per share. The ex-governor, who has had anusual good luck in disposing of his mining property, is one of those who are charged with swindling the company of Philadelphians who bought it.

The following is indirectly from the president himself: Arthur is not troubled with Bright's disease, or any other kidney complaint so far as he knows. There has been no consultation of physicians or no real or imaginary sickness affecting him. He had a cold some time ago and his physicians prescribed for that. When he left Washington he way troubled with malaria, but not in a severe form. His physicians advised him to go inland to get rid of it. This was the reason of his trip to the Thousand islands,

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

President Arthur left Boston for Marsh-

It is announced in Paris that negotiations for a treaty between France and

The new steamship Belgium, 4000 tons,

Every mill on the upper dam at Milltown, Maine, and a large amount of

A hearty reception was given to President Arthur in Boston on the 11th. The streets were densely packed with people.

Workers in the rolling mills and spike

Rhinehart Chapman, a Baptist minis-

The Irish conference at Dublin has de-representative men than was at first con-

The report that Smith and Wise fought a duel near Washington is not credited, as both men have been seen alive and Explosion during a fire in the hardware establishment of Jacob Knoershield, at Milwaukee, burned three firemen dread-

The Metholist church, the hotel and several stores, at Suncook, N. H., burned on the 11th; loss, $35,000. Mrs. Daman

Yellow fever is abating at Brownsville,

Texas. At Pensacola, Florida, there are 48 new cases reported, making a total of

The Sessions-Bradley bribery case in New York, growing out of the attempt to return Conkling to the senate after he resigned, has been put over till Decem-

At Bridgeport, Conn., a barrel containing 50,000 breech-loading caps exploded with terrific force, destroying the building in which it was located; no person

At a baptising at Canton, Ga., a bridge fell into the river and precipitated 200 persons into the water. No lives were

A strong reinforcement has been sent to Southern Tunis with the object of carrying on operations on a large scale against the insurgents during the cold

Henry Kenema, a carpenter at work on the tower at St. Xavier's Catholic church in Cincinnati, fell a distance of 60 feet, on the 12th, to the stone floor and was Theo. Finny, a 10 year old boy living at Glenwood, Neb., suicided on the 8th.

The reasons given for the act are that the boy's mind was filled with blood and John Finnerly, the prominent young Irish journalist of Chicago, has received 1300 this year, of which 112 have died.

was killed by a falling chimney.

lumber has been burned; loss $30,000.

built at Aberdeen for the American trade, was totally wrecked on her trial trip.

Corea are merely suspended.

field on the 11th

forgery.

roller.

caped.

templated.

well in Richmond.

fully; one fatally.

ber.

hurt.

broken.

season.

instautly killed.

thunder literature.

William Shakespeare is a booming F. Pritchard, claim agent of Washingpolitician in Michigan. on, has been arrested, charged with In the cities of Venice and Amsterdum there are 730 bridges. Recent contributions for the Garfield hospital from United States consuls, amounts to $12,000.

Pennsylvania is infested with tramps, who amuse themselves by burning barns. It is said that alcohol equal to that made from grain can be produced from acorns.

The city of Ottawa has expended $15,-700 on electric lights, which, after all, have proved a failure.

Richmond, Va., has a debt of $4,741,-707 65, on which she pays an annual interest of $303,134 43.

The insignificant youth with a very large cane looks like a two-inch sparrow lugging an eight-inch feather.

Of 1000 ounces of healthy human shops in Fiedegar, Va., have stopped blood 781.5 ounces consist of water work because of the dismissal of one 318.5 ounces consist of solid matter. blood 781.5 onnees consist of water and Twelve perpendicular feet of water are annually evaporated from the surface of the Red Sea between Nubia and Arabia. An old Philadelphia druggist says that no soda water dealer can use genuine syrups and charge less than ten cents cided to invite a much wider circle of a glass.

All solid bodies become self-luminous at about the same temperature, beginning to show a dull light at about 1000 degrees.

The greatest pressure of a steam boiler is at the bottom. The water adds one pound pressure for each twenty-seven inches depth.

It is said that 14,000,000 bushels of sweet potatoes will be raised in Georgia this season, and how to dispose of the crop is a problem.

To remove grease from wall paper, lay several folds of blotting paper on the spot and hold a hot iron near it until the grease is absorbed.

Furnaces in Germany are now being encased in silk, which is found to be a much better non-conductor of heat than felt, and no more expensive.

Adam Forepaugh, the circus man, owns 167 residences in Philadelphia, and he is said to have purchased for $110, 000 a block of land in Chicago.

About twenty tons of old iron, composed of rolls, skulls and salamanders. were recently placed in a pit at Chicago and reduced to fragments with dynamite. The United States has one medical man to every 600 inhabitants, while Canada has only one to 1200 inhabitants, Great lost, but many legs and arms were Britain one to 1672 and Cermany one to 3000.

Over 500,000,000 feet of lumber will be cut by the mills of Menominee, Marinette and Menekaune, Wis., this season, The entire amount will be shipped and sold in Chicago.

The brightest of stars appear the most unsteady and tremulous in their light; not from any quality inherent in themselves, but from the imperfections of vision in the surveyor .- [Plato.

Griffin, Ga., has the largest peach orchard in the South, containing 50,000 trees, and covering most 600 acres. On the same farm are 4000 grafted apple trees and 5000 pear trees.

A simple remedy for removing freckles is a pint of sour milk and a small quantity of horse-radish. Let the mixture stand over night and use it as a wash three times a day until the freekles disappear.

It isn't every man that can be a twin. isn't every family that can boast twins. (It isn't every family that wants them.) It isn't every man that would wish to be twinned, unless be was good-looking, at least-the idea would be disagreeable, not only to be ill-looking, but to have an ugly counterpart brother going about to double one's share of the world's slights on account of one's homely And again, who, being handsome (unless he

And again, who, being make is a faving a was virtuous), would run the risk of having a handsome twin brother liable mistaken for him on various critical occasions; and liable, in roguery, to be putting him into awkward positions and leaving him at his wit's end to get out of them? Providence has not greatly multiplied twisdom upon the world, and fathers and mothers and the rest of mankind, upon the whole, have reason to be thankful. The majority of us, fortunately, are nonsuches—original human tubs, ordained to stand, each upon its own in-dependent individual bottom. And if we are, therefore, the more responsible for our own individual moral leakiness we get, also, the more reward for our own special moral soundness. Let us, then, all strive to be water-tight.

We who were not born twins, after the above philosophic considerations, may look with perfect nonchalance upon the story of Edward and Edwin Howlpaw, brothers, whom impartial Nature had rendered oqual in age, and alike in appearance-size, weight, form, gait, etc.--and; in almost every other respect. with the exception that Edward, whom we will designate as No. 1, was of a more serions turn of mind than Edwin, whom we will designate as Howlpaw No. 2. The latter was apt to play pranks at the expense of the former, so that requery bred indignation, and the twins quarrelled very often. in strange violation of the tacit injunction given by Nature when she harmonized their presentments in so signifi-cant a manner. Thus, though like, they were unlike, and likely to pull in different ways. No. 1 Howlpaw tried for a time to baffle the tricks of No. 2 Howlpaw by dressing differently; but it became too expensive and useless. for No. 2 copied the dress invariably, so that No. 1 must e'en change forever, or allow the odds to be evened. The odds were against him. It was odd, considering that he was a twin. And how very odd it is that brothers, especially twin brothers, should wrangle.

Yet, though these twins often quarreled, there was no malice between them. Though No. 2 often mortified No. 1, No. 1 saw that it proceeded only from a love of sport, and if angry, he suppressed the appearance of discord for the honor of the family, which was a very respectable one, and paid heavy taxes for the od of the commonwealth.

One day the two Howlpaws got into the raiload cars to go and see their rich uncle.

Serious and discreet No. 1 bought his ticket and took his seat. Roguish and reckless No. 2 took his seat in another part of the same car, but bought no ticket. He had determined to have some sport before the journey was through.

No. 1, from long experience, suspected some thing of the kind; and when the conductor came along, gave up his ticket and went into the forward car, passing his brother, to whose seat the conductor had not yet come. The colection of tickets had commenced in the rear car and was proceeding to the first one.

No. 2 Howlpaw bad seen No. 1 Howlpaw give up his ticket, and pass him, unseen by the conductor into the forward car; and now when the conductor came to him, he said: "You have my ticket, sir."

"I know it," replied the conductor, mis-taking him for his brother. "I demand it back again." said No. 2.

"Why so?" asked the surprised conductor.

Because you've no right to take a ticket until the journey is finished," said the bold Howlpaw, looking a volume of lawsuits. "It is the rule of the road." said the conduc-

"That may be, sir," persisted No. 2, "but it won't stand in law; and now I warn yon here in the presence of these witnesses, who have less again. "This may be all funny to you two twins, heard you admit that you have tsken my ticket, that unless you return it to me until the journey is ended, I shall certainly sue you the bourney is ended, I shall certainly sue you PUZZLING A RAILWAY CONDUCTOR. is now in these cars, and he it must have been It isn't every man that can be a twin. It mistake of identity."

"A twin brother who plays tricks upon him! A likely story! Hs, ha!" laughed many. "Guess you belong to a tricky family." "Guess you see double, as well as play double."

"All I ask," persisted No. 1. pale with shame and wrath, "is that you search the cars. You will certainly find him. We got in together, for we are going to see our uncle."

"Some pawnbroker," cried some, derisively, M course. He's a sharper, and he's hard "Of course. He's a sharper, and he's hard up." But the impatient conductor and No. 1 Howlpaw went in search of the twin brother, whom the former believed to be a myth.

Much to the surprise of the conductor and the joy of No. 1, No. 2 was found. He was having a whole seat to himself, and calmly cating peanuts. Experienced joker as he was, when he looked up and saw the anxious face of that brother who he seemed born to torment for having dared to be born at the same time with him, he could not refrain from langhing aloud; but he speed-ily resumed his equanimity, though it was exceedingly cheerful, and offered a handful of peanuls to both his persecuted brother and the conductor.

They declined, but made their errand known. No. 1 relating in detail how he had been mortified, and appealing to him to rectify the mistake and restore the ticket.

"I have had but one from both of you, gen-tlemen," added the conductor, "and that one I returned like a fool."

The invetorate No. 2 resolved not to let the joke stop here, spite of the imploring look of ais matter-of-fact brother.

So he put on a graver and half-reproachful appect as he said:

Now, Ned, this is is what I call carrying the joke a little too far! You may play your jokes on me, as you always do, and I'll not say a word; but it is not right to play tricks upon travelers-strangers who are under no obligation to make allowances for you. This gentle-man is well aware that 1 gave him my ticket when he first entered the other car, and that he then came to you and gave my ticket to you; and since then like myself has been mortified at your shifting and sheffing. If you haven't money to pay for your own ticket for pity's sake give hum back mine, and I'll pay for yours !"

The imperturbable audacity of his brother, instead of enhouraging No. 1, now actually caused him to smile; and, for a moment, he ras incapable of a reply. The conductor looked from one to the other, and shook his head in a hopeless maze. First he doubted one, then the other, then both; and at last he exclaimed:

"Gentlemen. I don't like to swear; but, for God's sake, tell me which is which-for I am beginning to think I am bewitched, or be turned, or be-something-or-othered."

"You are only betwixt and between," replied the cool No. 2; "but I am for deciding the question. Come into the other car. I'll take the voice of my fellow passengers. No. 2 led the way back again, followed meekly by No. 1 and the conductor. The reappearance of the parties set the whole car in a roar. There were twins aboard, sure enough; but as the passengers strove to detect points of difference, they became as much puzzled as the conductor as to which of the twins received a ticket bac . No. 2 repeated the statement he had made to the conductor, and entreated somebody to swear that he wan't the one who played the

"For it is only a joke, I assure you, gentle-men," said he ; "though I don't think it is ex-actly principle, for him always to be playing tricks on his younger brother."

His younger brother !" repeated some one. How can that be? You are twins.' "Ah !' replied No. 2, "but he has the oldest bond, and always did get ahead of me !"

This way of deciding seniority caused much laughter; but the conductor, feeling that some might be laughing at him, became rest-

BETTER THAS GOLD. CALIFORNIA FRUIT SALT.

A Pleasant and Efficacious Remedy.

PL. 61 SLAVEN'S 18 Palifornia BUIT SAL 0 0

Staven's California Fruit Salt. And feel young once more. It is the woman's fries Try it; s1 per bottle; 6 bottles for $5. For sale of all druggists. HODGE, DAVIS & CO, wholesale of all

R. E. QUEEN

NO MORE DYSPEPSIA.

Read Cestificates on back of Battle. A Sure Cure for Indigesion, Loss of Appelie, and the Best Liver Regulator known. SOLD ONLY IN GLASS.

To fill or sell any but the renulne article out of our bottle is felony, and when detected, will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Trade supplied by Arpad Haraszthy & Ca 530 Washington St. Nan Francisco, Cal

Simmond's Kentucky Nabob

Bourbon Whiskey. SIMMOND'S NAEOE

He enjoyed himself very much while health. Any stories of his having chronic disease of any kind are pure fabrications.

The question of assessing a duty upon sugar from the Hawaiian islands is again before the treasury department from the collector of customs at New York. In the case in point, which is regarded as a test case, the collector has assessed the duty on a cargo of sugar from the Hawaiian islands to the amount of nearly $200,000. Protests were filed against the assessment on the ground that sugar was exempt from duty under the provisious of the reciprocity treaty with the Ha-walian islands. It was contended on the other hand that the sugar in question did not come within the terms of the treaty, as it was of a different class from those made on the islands at the time the treaty was ratified. In his report on the subject the collector of customs states that the case involves questions of fact which he cannot undertake to decide. It is probable that the question will be referred to the collector at San Francisco in order to determine whether the sugar in question is of a class to be included with the terms of the treaty.

A Seattle dispatch of Oct. 11th says: The captains and first officers of the two vessels, Challenger and Harvester, who were arrested for cruelty to sailors have been dealt with by the law as their inhuman and brutal conduct deserved, being placed under heavy bonds to await trial. Bennett, first mate of the ship Harvester, was indicted on two charges of assault with a deadly weapon committed on the person of one of the ship's crew. Lilly, second mate of the ship, was also indicted on the same charge. The result of the examination of the charges against Capt. Mountford, of the ship Challenger at Tacoma, resulted in his being held in the sum of $6000 to await the action of the grand jury here. Conway, first mate of the same ship was held in the sum of $10,000. The treatment given the unfortunate men on the ship Challenger appears more inhuman and horrible at every narration. In addition to what has already been published the facts show that one man who had been so terribly beaten that one of his broken ribs protruded through the flesh, jumped overboard and drowned himself to escape the outrages and tortures to which he was subjected. The crew consisted principally of Norwegians and Germans, who as a class make very submissive sailors. The poor fellow Smith, who shipped as third mate, and was disrated because he deprecated the beating of the sailors, and submitted to the most terrible punishments, was acquitted on the charge of insanity pre-ferred against him by the captain. He will perhaps never again be a well man. While he was confined in a miserable, wet, cold, filthy room, seven feet long, five feet wide and four feet high, where he was deprived of all comforts of life and subjected to all the miserable treatment that can be imagined, the first mate, a great burly Liverpool Irishman named Conway, would take other men to his hovel and compel them to fight and beat him, threatening their lives if they refused. Every sailor on that ship was more or less beaten and bruised. Some have their heads broken, others have their arms bruised and broken, and all are more or less used up.

a call from 5000 independent democrats there and has come back fully restored to of the 2d congressional district to run for congress and has accepted.

The body of Fannie Parnell will be removed from Bordentown on the 18th inst. and taken to Philadelphia, thence to New York and Boston, whence the body will be taken to Ireland for interment.

The North Staffordshire, England, coal mine owners have acceded to the application of the miners for an advance of 10 per cent. in their wages. Twenty thousand men are affected by the decision.

The central committee of national liberals at Berlin, have resolved not to present an address to the electors. Their prospects are favorable in western, but ess encouraging in eastern provinces. The beer brewers of Chicago have decided, in view of the failure of the hop crop and the high price of barley, that it would become necessary within the next two months to increase the price per barrel.

The Smithsonian Institute have received news from the academy of Vienna of the discovery by Prof. Schmidt, at Athens, on the 6th of Oct., of a comet with the same motion in right ascension and delination.

Lord Errington, who is reported as endeavoring to effect a modus vivedi between Great Britain and the Vatican, has arrived at Rome. He has had an interview with Cardinal Jacobini, pontifical secretary of state.

There is a scandal in the census bureau that will probably call for an investigation. It is alleged the returns on which the last census was figured were made up of speculation and are worthless. Other irregularities are spoken of.

Peruvian papers say the peace negotiations conducted by Minister Logan, between Chili and Garcia Calderon, have failed. It is remored that Calderon will not hear the proposals of Chili, and Chili prefers to treat with Pierola.

The Georgeville mill dam at Providence having become dangerous, the supreme court has ordered the water drawn off as far as possible. If the dam should go a large business section of the city could scarcely escape destruction.

The competitive drill between the St. Bernard commandery of Knights Templars of Chicago, and the Roper commandery of Knights Templars of Chicago, and the Roper commandery of Indiana Police, for the possession of the prize drill-banner awardek by the Triennial Conclave of 1880, has been won by the St. Bernard.

Ed. Clark and Mrs. Blair were arrested in Dubuque, Iowa, on the 11th on a charge of issuing counterfeit coih. A raid by the officers in a back room in White street revealed dies and moulds and counterfeit silver coin. The man arrested has been active in the exercises of the Young Men's Christian association, and his mistress an untiring laborer among the prisoners in the jail.

The steamship Newbern, while being taken out at the north ways on the 11th. for overhauling, slid back and was thrown over on her side. The steamer now lies on her beam ends in the mud and it will be very difficult to get the vessel in position again. No one was

To gild leather dust over the surface finely powdered resin, then lay on the leaf and apply, hot, the letters or impressions you wish to transfer; lastly, dust off the loose metal with a cloth or bruah.

The trustees of Oglethrope's Colony in Georgia legislated in 1733, and here is what they did: "Enacted that the drink of rum in Georgia shall be absolutely prohibted, and that all which shall be brought 'there shall be staved.'

All sorts of vessels and utensils may be purified from long retained smells of every kind, in the easiest and most per fect manner, by rinsing them out well charcoal powder, after the grosser with impurities have been scoured off with sand or potash.

A Nevada miner has found, at the depth of sixteen feet, imbedded in solid rock, a petrified stump in which was an iron staple. The people thereabouts are lost in conjectures as to what kind of a being drove the staple, and how many years ago the staple was driven.

In the six months ending June 30th there were granted in the city of New York permits for 1365 new structures, estimated to cost $26,048,705; and for 1998 alterations of buildings, estimated to cost $2,747,532-in all, $28,796,237 to be expended on dwellings and warehouses.

The building of the New Haven breakwater has ruined the finest oyster planting beach on the coast. The swift and continuous current essential to successful oyster culture has, the oystermen claim, been totally destroyed at many points. They are without remedy at law.

Elijah Tracey, of Mount Carmel, Ill., shipped a valuable and yet vicious stallion, and, that the animal might not be neglected in transit, he himself occupied the box-car with the horse. When the car was opened at Robinson, Tracey was found dead, having been kicked and trampled by the angry brute.

In a jewelry store at Erie hangs a clock about the size of an ordinary eight-day clock with a pendulum weighing forty pounds. This pendulum is made to oscilate beneath a horse shoe magnet, about which is a coil magnet. A zinc plate buried one foot above a copper plate in the earth furnishes electric power to run the clock perpetually.

The St Louis Globe says ahat Tel-el-Kebir means the "City of the Tomb." The St. Louis Post says it means the the "River Bank." The Cincinnati Commercial says it means the "Plain of Fire." And the Cetroit Free Press says that when three distinguished Egyptologists differ on such a question the plight of common folks is, as regards such matters, pitiful in the extreme.

It has been proved in New York that pearls are not beautiful food for cats. A gentleman's pet tabby did, one night, suddenly jump upon its master's expan sive bosom and tear from his immaculate shirt front a $40 stud. All attempts to make the cat give up the jewel were in vain, and now the only consolation enjoyed by the unhappy man lies in the injured but the machinery of the steamer fact that the pussy, once so fat and so is thought to be seriously damaged by playful, is rapidly becoming thin, feeble the shock.

for the outrage!"

Here was a perplexing predicament for a conductor. The question raised was new to the conductor; and being merely a man of routine, no more prepared to argue a point with a passenger than if he had been a ma-chine, he became confused, cast appealing looks at the other passengers to decide the matter for him, and, finally, feeling insecure and dreading the law, he had heard such tricky things about it after a few angry words. he reluctantly gave andacions No. 2 a ticket and then sped into the next car forward to col-lect his tickets and his vexation. As soon as he had vanished No. 2, with the ticket went back in the car to the seat which his brother had first occupied, and awaited the result with merrily twinkling eyes. His fellow passengers thought he was No. 1, and thought he was a smart fellow to have overawed a conductor. And so he was.

Meanwhile the chagrined conductor discussed the question with several friends in the ward car; and they sided with him, and told him he ought to demand the instant return of the licket, or stop the cars and put the fellow out. After this debate the conductor, pondering over the matter, resumed the collection of tickets; and soon, on his way, he encountered No. 1 Howlpaw, whom he mistook for No. 2. "So, sir, you have followed me into this car, have you?" said the conductor. "I chose to change my seat," replied No. 1; but you have received my ticket in the car behind.

"I did sir; but I gave it to you again; and I have since taken advice on the subject, and now I demand it back."

"Did you say you gave it back to me?" said No. 1, with a grave surprise.

"Certainly, because you throatened law upon me; but the law can't touch me, I find."

"The law will touch you," returned No. 1, much nettled, and in his anger forgetting that he had a mischlevous brother; nor could he onceive of such a trick at any rate, "The law will touch you if you force the price of two tickets from one passenger. You have made a blunder. Mr. Conductor. Traveling so much in the cars confuses you sometimes, no doubt." "I want that ere ticket!" responded the conductor in a voice tremulous with rage. "I don't, for I've given it to you once: and all I want is my ride, which I am baving.

while so serving in Germany his eye was one day attracted by a woven blue-and white check-ered haudkerelistef. It was a lucky moment for Glasgow when Flakefield bought this article. "You won't have it out! I'll stop the train." "Mr. Conductor," said No. 1 Howlpaw, ris ng, "go with me into the car you have just left, and if anybody says he saw me receive my ticket back again, perhaps I'll pay you the price of it."

'Come along, then," said the conductor, triumphantly, and they went. But No. 2 saw them coming; and as, fortu-nately for his game, the train stopped at a way station just then, he slipped ont of the back door, and going forward, re-entered the train in the car ahead. train started again. and the conductor and No. 1 made their appeals as to the return of the ticket. Of course, everybody mistook No. 1 for No. 2, and while some testified that No. 1 had given his ticket, nearly everybody was positive that he had made a fuss about it; that they saw him leave his seat, and saw him take back his ticket and then go back to his sent again.

No. I was overwhelmed.
"I did leave my seat, but I left the car also."
"But you came in again," said several, "as oon as the train started. We saw you."

"Was there ever such a pack of stupid liars!" nuttered No. 1, looking ferociously at the inquisitive company. "Please to fork back that ticket," insisted the conductor; "I am tired of this nonsense." "You are right now, Mr. Conductor," said several. "though you were much to blame for giving it up in the first place."

"Where is Edwin?" reflected No. 1, looking in vain for him, that he might come to his astained for the expenses of the war, which amounted to £1800. It seems incredible, but sistance. Buddenly the solution of the mystery was clear to him. His agitation provented it before.

"Gentleman!" he exclaimed, "mortified as I made Glasgow second only to Edinburgh, which am to confess it, I see how the mistake has oc-eurred and will explain it to you. I have contributed £3880; and thus, in the course of twin brother who looks exactly like me, and is always playing tricks upon me. That brother and I haven't a ticket from either of you. One of you is humbagging me; and if both ain't. one is humbugging the other. I don't want to trouble you, for you've made some sport; but I will make this proposition to you, that it one of you will please to go out and jump off the platform and break his neck, the other will be enough of the kind, to satisfy the world, and pay all charges on this trip."

"Oh, pay up, Ned, pay up !" now reiterated twin No. 2. "Give him back my ticket, and give up your own or pay for one. This is get-ting too serious to be anything but stupid." "I think so myself,' said No. 1. "I wish you had thought this playing proxy was a tire

"Of course ! You know we are within out a joke. But, Mr. Conductor, believe me.

if is only a joke. Here is the price of two tickets. Of course, I pay for him-for it is for the honor of our family; and now, in justice to my own honor, which cannot permit you to have suffered all this annoyance without some recompense, permit me to present you with this ticket !"

And he returned the ticket which now explained "which was which." "Now, don't give it back to me, I beg of you !" And with a bound he left the car, followed

y his exonerated brother and roars of laughter

In the last year of the seventeenth century man appeared in Glasgow in whom the city found a benefactor, who has been rather un-gratefully forgotten. His name was Wilson he was born in Flakefield, and, in as far as he is remembered at all, it is by the name of his birthplace. He had been a weaver before he served as a soldier in the continental wars; and He stowed it away among his treasures, and he resolved some day to weave one like it. In the year above mamed he and the prized hand-kerchief, with Fiakefield's father and brother, ettled in Glasgow, and there the ex-soldier, re turning to his old calling, attempted to prokerchief. After some unsuccessful essays Flake-field succeeded and the blue-and-white checkers were soon familiar all over the country. There was a rage for the novel handkerchief.

Fresh setup looms could hardly produce these articles fast enough, and on them the extensive linem manufacture of Glasgow was

Some years after the town-drummer of the city was a man who excited much sympathy. This humble official, in fact, was none other thay Wilson of Flakefield, the old soldier and t can be proved. The amount of this tribute

the field the "wabster body" ince a wover blue-and-white checkered flereely

rom all.

onniled.

some thing, years ago when you have first bo-gan to annoy me," and No. 1, with a lachrymose countenance, was actually edging away toward the forward and of the car, when his "NABOB"

Is notorious. It is made from pure barley and what spirite, and its various component parts blended with scientific accuracy. "Where are you going. Ned?" "To jump out of the car!" said No. 1, The Best and Purest Brand in the Market.

TODD & BIVEN. Sole Agents for Portland, Oregon and the Te quarter of a mile of the depot, now ; we shall stop in a minute, and it will be safe enough riteries, where the inside can be supplied by rel half barrel or case, at the same price and t in Kentucky or San Francisco. for you to jump. There ! we are stopping 1850. 32 Years Practical Experience, 1882. And the train stopped. "I was not aware of it," declared No. 1. "You see, gentlemen, how well he can carry John A. Child ALL DE LE DE

WHISK

Special attents paid to orders in mail when accor panied with the can

The Bishop Scott Grammar Schol A BOARDING AND DAY SCIL J. W. HILL, M. D. Ha