

The Law of Libel.

In a recent suit for libel against the San Francisco Evening Post, wherein the verdict was given for defense, Judge Hunt said the law of libel holds to be innocent a statement of facts made without malice, even though it should afterward appear that some inaccuracies were contained in the article.

"The honest paper attempts to be as just and impartial as possible. It prints nothing that it does not believe to be true, and it tries to get at the truth as closely as it can. But in the matter of arrests on criminal charges, for instances the paper most usually trusts to the police for the facts. Its reporters get their information at police headquarters generally, sometimes being able to supplement it from other sources. No doubt very many incorrect statements thus find their way into print; but, clearly, the paper is without malice in making them, and is only endeavoring to give the news as obtained from the persons most likely to be familiar with the actual facts."

So it is in giving news of any kind. The province of the newspaper is to give facts as they are at present known to the publishers, not as they may be known sometime in the future. It is plain therefore that a paper should not suffer but should be protected in giving the news of the day without malicious purpose to misrepresent.

The Meaning of It.

Would you know the meaning of the political revolution which struck its first blow in Ohio about three weeks ago, and will sweep through Pennsylvania next Tuesday?

It means these four things: I. Reduce the expenses of every branch of the Federal Government to a basis of simplicity, economy, and honesty!

II. Abolish the internal revenue abomination!

III. Make the tariff simple and rational, and just sufficient to provide for the wants of an honest and economical Administration in time of peace!

IV. No stealing, either by the Administration and its agents, or by Congress and its employees!

This is the meaning and the purpose of this mighty overturn.

The Coming Tidal Wave.

Evidence accumulates, says the Albany, N. Y., Evening Journal, that this is to be another tidal year. In the smaller States, relatively affected but slightly by the conduct of an Administration, the Republican party is as strong at the polls as ever. But in the three greatest states of the Union, which gave Garfield their eight-six electoral votes two years ago, the Republican party is in an unspeakably bad condition. Republican papers in various parts of the country give signs of expectation that Illinois, Indiana, New York and Colorado, all Garfield States, will be submerged by the tidal wave. It is wise to be prepared for all this. It is well to brace ourselves against the wave, and settle in advance precisely how much it will mean, and how its effects can best be turned to advantage.

The New York Outlook.

The letter of Grover Cleveland, the Democratic candidate for Governor of New York, has the right ring. It is the utterance of an honest and earnest man, devoted to the public welfare and sincerely seeking to inaugurate reforms. It is understood that the Stalwarts intend to make a desperate effort to elect Folger by the tactics so successfully employed in the last Presidential campaign. They will expend money lavishly, and will seek to unduly swell their vote in certain interior counties by colonizing and purchase. There is much reason to hope, however, that these devices will fail, and that Cleveland will be elected by large majority—a consummation most devoutly to be wished by all good citizens.

Give Him a Start.

Mr. Mitchell at the reception of Mr. Dolph at Salem, said: "Twenty years ago this month, there came to my office in Portland, a long, lean, awkward young man, who was introduced to me as Mr. Dolph, by the Rev. Mr. — (and you know I always had a good deal to do with ministers.) He was pretty ragged and peniless, said he was a lawyer and wanted work. I then had a large law practice, and had a case over at Vancouver that I wanted continued, made out the proper affidavit and asked the young man if he thought he could attend to it. I gave him $20—the first $20 gold piece he ever saw in Oregon. He attended to the work satisfactorily and returned. I then took him for three months, in which I was to pay his board bill as a full compensation for his service, but during the time it became necessary for me to become responsible for a suit of clothes for him. At the end of the time we went into partnership for a year, and continued in partnership for eleven years, during which time our relations were of the most pleasant character. That gentleman is now your U. S. Senator, and I congratulate you upon the selection of a man of so much ability and personal worth."

The remarks of Mr. Mitchell caused Cap. Humphrey to remark that it was amazing how large a man could become from a small start.

Supposed Murder.

About two weeks ago, Thomas Ray, a young man living a short distance above Scio, took his gun and went out to hunt sheep. Not returning home when he was expected, search was instituted for him, but without success. He was then supposed to have been drowned, but upon further investigation, his gun was found on Thomas creek. A short distance further down his hat with four buck-shot through it was picked up. This immediately aroused suspicion, and returning to where the gun lay, they discovered where a gun had been fired by some one on a knoll a short distance off, and where the shot had grazed a small grub in a direct line with where it is supposed he stood when killed. One of the buck-shot was removed from the grub and it proved to be of the same size as the ones that had passed through his hat. The body has not yet been discovered, but is supposed to be secreted either in the creek, or some where near the spot where the hat and gun were found.

The plan of shipping dressed beef to the East has borne good results already. In N. Y. the price of beef has been reduced one cent per pound, and the prospects is that when a large amount is transported prices will tumble still more. No monopoly is more crushing than one which strikes at common articles of food. The Eastern butchers have combined to put beef out of the reach of the poorer classes. This vigorous competition by Western men will compel them to adopt a different policy, and will make impossible any further "corner" in beef.

THE Sunday Welcome, Portland's neatest paper, has changed hands, being now the property of J. F. Macintosh, John J. Burnett, late editor of the Mercury, and last but not least, Thos. J. Sutherland. The latter gentleman purchased the one-half interest of J. D. Wilcox, and will take charge the first of November. Thos. S. has made the paper interesting, but with the assistance of Burnett we expect to see a journal filled with first-class talent. Let the good work go on.
