

THEN AND NOW.

You loved me once, ah, well I knew it then! One night you kissed me, underneath the moon...

MONSIEUR MARNEFF'S BOOK.

Jacques Auried did not even manifest that sudden start of nervous anger that deepens the wrinkles of the face, and clenches the hands as though with the desire to smite an enemy when, at the bottom of his wife's jewel box, he found the letters of the poet Serge Hardanges.

physical death, which is rest and peace. Death of her heart, death of her youth. Jacques Auried did not love her. He had married her only to show off; to make a parade of her like some beautiful rare flower pinned in his button-hole.

More Physical Exercise Needed.

One of the problems of the age is to discover the cause why women cannot pursue the same course of studies with men, and not break down by the way, or invalidate themselves for the future if they keep on.

not for knowledge or skill, since the physicians have all that, it is to be supposed. They find by exercising this patience that poor creature who would not lie down for a week, and were put into the crib for their own rest, can be induced at last to lie down and take their rest like other people, and that treating them as nearly as possible as if they were rational is the only way to help them approach rationality.

The Rapidity of Thought

Blackwood's Magazine prints the following: To be shot dead is one of the easiest modes of terminating life; yet rapid as it is the body has leisure to feel and time to reflect. On the first attempt by one of the fanatic adherents of Spain to assassinate William, Prince of Orange, who took the lead in the revolt of the Netherlands, the ball passed through the bones of his face and brought him to the ground.

SCIENTIFIC MIS ELLANY.

Vivisection is to be rigidly prohibited throughout Sweden by order of the government. Dr. Hewson asserts that the common sparrow is liable to have smallpox and is capable of communicating that disease. It is suggested by Herr Duesberg that the moon may be habitable on the side invisible from the earth, the water and the atmosphere being drawn thither by the effects of gravitation.
