The Albany Democrat says that J. H. Maine brought to that office Tuesday a maple leaf that would make eastern people open their eyes. It is 19 inches wide by 15 inches long, and 29 inches from tip of leaf to end of stem, being about ten times the size of the maple leaf that grows along the Atlantic.

As A. S. Bennett, the present Judge of the Fifth district, is a resident of Wasco, a new judge must be appointed for the Sixth. It is rumored that B. Whitten, of The Dalles, has been imported for the purpose of being judge, and the East Oregonian proceeds to declare war, claiming it an insult to the bar of that district.

The Harrisburg Disseminator says: We learn that Mrs. Kistner, mother of Wm. Kistner, with whom she is living, in this precinct, has attained the unusual age of one hundred and three years, and is lively and chipper as can be. Her father was one of the revolutionary soldiers, and she remembers many incidents of that war, and has a vivid remembrance of the war of 1812.

Canyonville was in a ferment of excitement during last Saturday, Sunday and Monday over a kidnapping affair. The particulars are about as follows: A man named Brown had a wife. She had a baby and it was a boy. She became tired of Brown or Brown tired of her, and they parted. A divorce was obtained and the boy given to the father. The mother then married Jones. Jones had lots of money and the woman, mother-like, wanted the boy. She got Jones interested and he helped her spirit him away, after which they sped for California. Happy mother. Disgusted Brown. Poor Jones.

Cremation—A Vivid Contrast.

By means of the modern and scientific method of cremation, the human body within an hour can be reduced to a few pounds of white and odorless ashes. There is nothing in the operation that can shock the feelings of the most sensitive, and the process, when thoroughly examined and understood, will be found its own best advocate.

"I have stood," says an eye-witness, "before the threshold of the crematory with a faltering heart. * * I have trembled at the thought of using fire beside the form of one whom I had loved. But when, in obedience to his dying request, I saw the door of the cinerator taken down, its rosy light shown forth, and his peaceful form, enrobed in white, laid there at rest amid a loveliness that was simply fascinating to the eye, and without a glimpse of flames or fire or coals or smoke, I said, and say so still, this method, beyond all methods I have seen, is the most pleasing to the senses, the most charming to the imagination, and the most grateful to the memory.

Opposition to incineration springs chiefly from ignorance of the manner in which it is carried on; and to remove all misapprehension, it cannot be too distinctly stated that the body never rests in flames, while during the entire process there is no fire or smoke or odor or noise to grieve in any manner the bereaved. Even the trestle on which the dead glide into the retort does not become heated prior to the body becoming incandescent.

The active and consuming agent is simply air, raised to a white heat—a temperature equivalent to 2000° Fahr; and this, cooled temporarily by the rushing current on the opening of the retort, causes the interior to assume beautiful, vibrating and ruddy tints. One who has lately witnessed it has said:

"As we turned away from the incinerator where we had left the body of our friend, it was pleasant to think of him still resting in its rosy light, surrounded and enveloped by what seemed to us floods of purity."

When all is over nothing remains but a few fragments of calcined bones and delicate white ashes, perfectly white and odorless. In all candor, is not this a more fitting destiny for the cast off body than that it should remain for years "a mass of loathsome and death bearing putrefaction?"—North American Review.

No Shooting.

Wanting to keep the readers of the GUARD thoroughly posted on all subjects to their advantage it is recommended to begin at once the sale of private "shooting irons." The last Legislature passed the following which will become the law of the land after Feb. 1st 1883, viz:

A bill for an act to prevent persons from carrying concealed weapons, and to provide for the punishment of the same. Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

SECTION 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to carry concealed about his person in any manner whatever any revolver, pistol or other firearm, or any knife (other than an ordinary pocket knife,) or any dirk or dagger, slungshot or metal knuckles, or any instrument by the use of which injury could be inflicted upon the person or property of any other person.

SEC. 2. Any person violating any of the provisions of section 1 of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars, nor more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than twenty-five days nor more than one hundred days, or by both fine or imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 3. Nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to any sheriff, constable, police or other peace officer, whose duty it is to serve process or make arrests.

SEC. 4. Justices of the Peace shall have concurrent jurisdiction to try any persons charged with violation of any of the provisions of this act.
