ative by the Misses Alice Dorris, Bettle Shaw, DeEtta Cogswell and Ida Patterson; on the negative by the Misses Hattie Collier, Jennie Spencer, Elma Lockwood and Emma Wright. The debate was lengthy and spirited, and both the merits and the demerits of the two great statesmen were discussed with a good deal of warmth. About the worst thing we learned of Gambetta was that "he was as immoral asany one we know of i" and Gladstone caused some poor Irishmen to 'starve for the want of hunger!" Inacmuch as the immorality of Gambetta outweighed the heartlessness of Gladstone, the judges decided in favor of the negative.

negative. Among the visitors the faculty was repre-sented by Profs. Bailey, Condon, Spiller and Burke. The seatery was gratified by some pleasing remarks from the President of the Laureans, and also from Miss Nettie McCor-nack; but owing to the lateness of the hour, the others perhaps thought their silence would be preferable to a speech, and so were obliged to forego the pleasure of listening to them. There being nothing further before the house, the society stood adjourned, and many a freed soul sped homeward, but not many on "wings of the birds of Paradise."

Social Club.

The programme of the last meeting of the social club, though not all carried out, was quite interesting. The part which was executed consisted of music and quotations. At the previous meeting the President appointed Mr E E Burke and Miss Nettie McCornack as leaders on an exercise to be conducted something after the manuer of a spelling school, except that instead of spelling words, the participants should give quotations. Mr Burke was aided by the Misses Gertrude McLafferty, Mary McCornack, Hattie Collier, DeEtta Cogswell, Emn.a Bean, and Mr. George Dorris.
