Editorial Notes.

Puck says the only safe way to wash a mule is to stand on the other side of the fence.

It will interest a great many Republicans to learn that Mr. Tilden's health is rapidly improving.

Republican promises to reform the Government have expired under the statute of limitations.

Mr. Blaine will stop writing political reminiscences long enough to take a tilt in the Ohio canvas.

Chambord cherished the delusion to the last that France was just crazy to have him for her king.

The Chicago Tribune is mistaken. It was Wm. L. Marcy, and not Jackson, who said: "To the victors belong the spoils."

Having begun to kick at the immigrants, somebody now wants to protest against the importation of any more Mormons.

The outlawed trade dollar, about which so much is being said of late, was the result of one of the paternal inclinations of the Government.

The suggestion that the Republican party is ready for unity probably arises from the fact that there are no more spoils in sight for it.

There are but few millionaires who are not Republicans. The parlors of the "grand old party" are rarely soiled by the boots of the laboring man.

OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

The early settlers of Polk county organized a pioneer society on the 14th.

On the 1st of July, near Roseburg, on Fall creek, a man by the name of Morton killed a snow white doe.

According to the figures of the county Assessor, the population of Columbia county is 5,399.

The Oregon Construction Company wants 2,000 men and 1,000 teams to work, $2.25 for men and $4.50 for teams.

Mader, Luse & Co., type founders, of San Francisco, have attached the material of the Boomerang at Palouse City.

R. N. McLean, a citizen of Walla Walla, has fallen heir, a report says, of one-thirteenth of $100,000,000. That will be enough, though.

McPherson and Snodry have been chained to the jail floor, to await the day of execution. Snodry completely broke down at the act of the Sheriff.

A coroner's inquest was held over the body of the man found drowned near the Palouse ferry, but nothing was elicited to identify the unfortunate.

The postmaster at Tacoma is in trouble. It seems that he has been trying to live higher than his salary will admit of, so his bondsmen have taken charge.
