Killed by the Cars.

The cars ran over a man at Comstock's station Friday evening, Dec 22, 1883, killing him instantly. From the evidence elicited before the corener it seems that the man got on the freight train at Comstock and by some accident fell between the cars and was killed The deceased told a bridge curpenter a short time is fore his death that he had come from Cahfornia, having been on the road about five weeks and that he was coing to Portland. In an old sack he was carrying was found $330 in gold. A thorough search of his person and blankets revealed no paper or clue to his identity whatever.

CORONER JURY VERDICT.

EUGENE CITY, December 21, 1883. We, the Jury empanelled to inquire into the cause of the death of the body now lying before us, find from the evidence, that he came to his death by accidentally falling from and being run over by a train of care about two miles north of Comstock station; that deceased was about five test nine inches in heighth, of sandy complexion, and about fifty years old and of Irish birth: that the name of the deensed is unknown to the i ury.

"Left."

A person hailing under the name of Arthur Williams arrived in town Thursday from Dram's Station, and as the saying is "dead broke." In the afternoon he strolled into the store of Mr Tom Hendricks, and, intreducing himself as a large sheep raiser, he commenced buying bacon, crackers, coffee, baking powder, etc in wholesale quantities. He wanted several barrels of sugar, but ou account of a slight difference of one-fourth cent per pound, he declared he would buy his sugar at Drain's. Just at the critical moment when Tom, feeling good over the sale of the large bill of goods, the stranger asked the loan of a dollar which was forth. coming immediately, and the "sheep raiser" proceeded to one of the nearest saloons and commenced "ginning" up in the most approved style. Soon he run out of money and having struck a mint he "tapped" Matt for a halt, which he got. He went again to the saloon and spent the amount. The third time he went after money the boys at the store had "tumbled" and refused to loan another cent. We would not advise our readers to say "bacon" to Tom for a few weeks, for he does not appreciate the joka. William was arrested for being druuk ar. disorderly (Tom having furnished the money and was fined $10 and costs by Record.
