A Knight With Bedraggled Plumes.

N. Y. Pack (Rep.) on Blaine.
 A man who has dishonor for an ally, on whom corruption fawns for favor. A man whose name for years has been bandied about in bold and confident accusations of dishonesty. A man whose trickiness, unworthy smartness, whose shifty craft has been the theme of common jest. A man who will now have to meet clear and specific charges of dishonesty—to meet them? Nay, he will shrink away from them, he will evade them, he will slip out of and around them and under them, and affect not to see them; and if he be made to see them, make out somehow to put them aside with bluster and bullying—do anything, try anything—anything but meet them fairly and bravely. A man against whom every honest voter in the party will raise up; a man whose friends are the notorious foes of decent government.

German Opposition to Blaine.

There is strong opposition to Blaine on the part of the Germans. Blaine has antagonized the German element to a large extent during his Congressional career. Carl Schurz voices the sentiment of that and other foreign elements when he makes the following bold announcement: "I cannot support Blaine, and I cannot see how any citizen of foreign birth with a spark of manhood can." With scarcely an exception the German newspapers refuse to endorse the ticket. The Staats Zeitung of New York, the Staats Zeitung of Chicago and the Westliche Post of St. Louis, are all against it. So is N. Y. Pack. In New York City it is said but one paper printed in any language will support the Republican nominees.

The Boston Herald, Republican, says: "Believing that Mr. Blaine would be a bad and dangerous President, we hope to see him defeated. Believing him to be a weak candidate we expect to see him defeated. His zealots say he can be elected without the vote of New York. They will have a chance to prove it. Perhaps they think he can be elected without the help of Massachusetts. It is not improbable that they may have a chance to test this also."

The New York Independent, organ of the Young Republicans, says Blaine will lose at least ten thousand Republican votes in New York city alone. The Young Men's Republican Club of Brooklyn with its 3,000 votes will not only vote but actively work against Blaine's election.

The New York Times (Rep.) publishes from three to four columns a day for Republicans who endorse its course in opposing Blaine, and who say they would vote for such a man as Cleveland or Bayard, but will under no circumstances vote for Blaine.

Various papers are figuring up big majorities for their Presidential candidates. These papers, Republican and Democratic alike, show in spite of themselves that whoever receives the electoral votes of New York will be our next President.

THE GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK LEADS THE LIST FOR THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION AT CHICAGO.

Grover Cleveland, the present Governor of New York, and is looked upon by the leaders in the Democratic party as the most available candidate for the Presidency, and it is conceded at this writing that he will probably be nominated on the first or second ballot.

Governor Cleveland is a native of New Jersey, and is now in his forty-seventh year. He comes from a ministerial family, his father and a number of his relatives being Protestant clergymen. Grover received an academic education after which he went to New York City as a clerk in some charitable institution. He soon became infected with the western fever, and on his route to his intended destination he stopped in Buffalo, N. Y., to visit a wealthy uncle residing in that city, who persuaded his nephew to remain and take a position in his store. Young Cleveland, however, aspired to become a lawyer and his relatives encouraged him in this ambition by securing him a clerkship with a prominent law firm in Buffalo. Mr. Cleveland was admitted to the bar in 1869, and soon thereafter was appointed Assistant District Attorney of Erie. In 1870 he was elected Sheriff of the county, and in 1881 Mayor of the city. His election in 1882 as Governor of New York was a noted triumph of his popularity with the people, his majority over Judge Folger being nearly 200,000. Upon this fact is based his present prominence as a candidate before the approaching Democratic Convention, and it is claimed by his admirers, that if nominated, he would sweep the Empire State with a large majority over Blaine.

Governor Cleveland is a bachelor, and should he become the next incumbent of the White House he will have to run the gamut of a second campaign with marriageable ladies who will aspire to do the honors as mistress of the social household of the President of the United States.

The St. Louis Westliche Post, of which Carl Schurz was formerly editor-in-chief, says Blaine's nomination was vigorously opposed by every German journalist in attendance at Chicago. They fought Blaine's nomination with the same energy that characterized their opposition to a third term for U. S. Grant.

"I will not vote for Mr. Blaine for any office in the United States so long as I live. I think the Republicans are making more promises than they can fulfill. I do not believe in a new party—if we can't elect a good Republican we will elect a Democrat.—HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Why did Blaine refuse to preside at the meeting held in Baltimore in 1881 to sympathize with the Irish subjects? The question may, however, be asked of those Republican editors who are endeavoring to draw the Irish vote. Will some of them answer?"

Hon. Jesse L. Williams, a great Republican capitalist of Fort Wayne Ind., emphatically denounces Blaine's nomination. The members of the Trade's Union at Fort Wayne say they will, to a man, vote against the Republican ticket.
