Should We Have a Change.

Without entering into any such comparison, it will be recognized by every teacher and intelligent patron that the impetu-given to the study of reading, and the interest awakened in it by the introduction into the actions of new reading matter with bright new illustrations, cannot help being great. This new interest and enthusiasm will also communicate itself to other studies. No one doubts these propositions. As bearing on the question of the adoption of the Independent iteaders to present methods of instruction it should be stated, also, that the publishers of that series have issued an entirely new series within a year, based on methods quite opposite to those which obtain in the old books. The inference cannot be avoided that the old series has lost the confidence of the great body of

The financial gain will also appear (2) in the

"But what are we going to do with our old books. We can't afford to throw them all away nd get new ones."

The publishers were prepared for this objection, because it is not a new one. But they do not meet it as it has been met by other publishers on former occasions, heedless of the in-terests and wishes of the public. On the contrary the public interest has been consulted as well as the publisher's interest, and the objection is generously met by a proposition which not only calls for no sacrifice of any reader now in ose, but on the contrary, when any such reader can be no longer used by its owner it will be accepted in # payment of the book next required. The hardships which the public has etofore experienced in a change, arises from the following facts:

1. That only the old reader of a particular grade was received for a new reader of the same rade; that is, a First Reader for a First Readr, a Second Reader for a Second Reader, etc. That at the end of three months top util extersion was replaced by a prompt an rance to full price for all books purchas at, the old books remaining in the hands of the pupil, counting for absolutely nothing.

Bancroft & Co present no forcing process of this kind. There proposition differs from the above in both particulars.

1. When school opens after Jely 1885, all children who have finished their old readers may exchange them for the new higher reader. Calef, 95; Effic Young; 94; Martha Calef, 93; that must be bought in any event, and save $ of the usual pric. If these prices are reduced when the publishers solicit a new contract, it will be because our competition has forced tham to it, but they have not, up to this time, been reduced in Oregon. It may be of interest to the public, however, to know that the publishers of the Independent Readers offered them to the Board of Washington Territory on the 17th of last July at 30c a set cheaper than Why they were not reduced to ole of Oregon at the same time so they could avail themselves of the reduction during the present year, it is not for the publisher of Banroft's readers to explain.

GOV. WHITEAKER AT JUNCTION

He Addresses a Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

Last Wednesday evening Gov Whiteaker, COTTAGE GROVE -Mr S M Yoran, last by invitation of the Cleveland and Hendricks club, of Junction, addressed the citizens of Junction on the political issues of the day. Baber's hall was well filled with a very enthusiastic audience. The Governor reviewed the many important issues dividing the two great political parties in a spirit of candor and fairness, that would astonish the ordinary Republican stump speaker. The speech was one of the best we have heard this campaign, and if our space permitted, we would like to print it in full. A synopsis, if sttempted, would not do the speaker justice, It was the largest meeting held in Junction this year, and all voted the speaking a success. At the close three hearty cheers were given for Cleveland and Hendricks.

People were present from all por. tions of old Lane to hear the grand utterances of Senator Slater who has been upon their side in the United States Senate for the past six years, in spite of the soulless Eugene band, marched through the principal streets, cheering and shouting for the Democratic standard bearers. The scene was one that gave courage to the Democracy. After an instrumental piece of music by the Eugene band, Senator E P Coleman stepped upon the platform and in a few words introduced Senator Slater to the audience. For quite a time the gentleman could not speak on account of the great cheering. When quietade came Mr Slater ommenced his speech. For over two hours he held the audience as if by magic. It was a splendid effort, and one that made votes for Cleveland and Hendricks. At different points in the speech the audience fairly shook the building with applause and shouts. We are unable to give a synopsis. At the close of the meeting three cheers were given for Cleveland that could be heard all over the town. It was the greatest political meeting ever held in Lane county, and next Tuesday the returns will show that the speech ac complished much good for the Democracy in
