BAILEY—The vagaries of call trading sadly upset values in the sample market. Holders of Feed are anxious to realize the full figure of the day, and as $1.00 per cwt was bid at the call session for any part of a thousand tons, seller 1884 delivery, it would seem reasonable to suppose that, if wholesale lots were worth such a price, certainly retail parcels as exhibited on the tables ought to bring at least $1 per cwt. Yet dealers quote No. 1 Feed at 92¢@95¢, claiming that buyers will not give more. Brewing is moderately active and steady at a range of 95¢@1.10 per cwt. In Chevre there is no movement of consequence, while prices are undisturbed, ranging from $1.15 to $1.50 per cwt, according to quality. Sales were:

OATS—The market is steady at our quotations. Late arrivals of Washington Territory have been placed at from $1.05 to $1.10. The best lot of these California would class as No. 1 grade, but they cannot pass official inspection on account of damp condition. We quote: Surprise and milling, $1.40@1.45; No. 1, $1.25@1.35; No. 2, $1.10@1.15; black, $1.00@1.10 per cwt; new Salinas feed, $1.10@1.25.
