

THE EUGENE CITY GUARD.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1884.

The Patriotic Protest of the Southern Press.

The following extracts from the leading papers of the South fully and completely answer the vile calumnies given currency by a late rejected candidate for the Presidency:

Louisville Courier-Journal.
The conduct of the South during the next four years will prove how grossly it has been misrepresented; and that proof will in itself seal forever the political doom of men like Mr. Blaine, whose only hopes are in the continuation of such misrepresentations.

Selma (Ala) Times.
The speech is one of the bitterest, most arful and despicable attacks ever made on the Southern people. It completely gives the lie to all his hypocritical posturings in the past as the "friend of the South," and unmasks him as he is and has always been in our eyes—ready to thrust the conspirator's knife to the hilt in the helpless South if he could thereby advance his ambition to any extent.

Jacksonville (Fla) Times-Union.
The attempt to revive sectionalism between the North and the South will utterly fail. The old feeling of animosity is buried too deep for resurrection at the hands of disappointed office seekers; the nation is one again now, and woe to that man or that party who plays the jackal's part and digs into the grave to bathe on the decaying corpse of national disunion.

Augusta (Ga) Chronicle.
What does Mr. Blaine expect in arraying the North against the South at this time? What devilry does he meditate? What revenge does he mark out? But for the malice of his expressions and ideas one might laugh at a Plumed Knight, who never went to war, attempting to frighten the opulent East and powerful West with the spectre of a confederacy that died many years ago and with the images of rebel soldiers that are either at peace or carved on monuments.

Richmond (Va) Dispatch.
Mr. Blaine committed an act of self-immolation at Augusta that at once rendered it certain that the country will never be bothered with him again, and paved a way for the vindication of the South such as could not have been accomplished by any other means. From one end of the land to the other his speech has been reprobated in unmeasured terms by the press. His charges against the South have led to the publication by the leading papers of the North of a fairer exposition of Southern feeling and Southern sentiment than had appeared during the whole canvass, and even some of the papers that supported him do not hesitate to acknowledge that the country has made a fortunate escape in his defeat.

Norfolk (Va) Landmark.
The revelation Mr. Blaine has made of himself shows us indeed that the country had a narrow escape from the domination of a bad man devoured by ambition and only alive to the dictates of his own vanity or the demands of his own imperious ambition. He talked about the intention of the South to "seize the government," when he and his lieutenant had decided to commit, if possible, that wrong themselves. He strove to sow dragons' teeth on the fields where the young olive plants of peace and good will between the sections were growing up.

Thirty seven electoral votes were allotted the south on account of its colored population, and Mr. Blaine weeps because these votes are monopolized by the greedy southern Democrats. Mr. Blaine's lament might excite more sympathy were it not remembered that a good many electoral votes were allotted Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maine, Kansas, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, California, Oregon, and other northern Republican states on account of their Democratic population, and that every one of these votes is gobbled by the hungry Republicans. If Mr. Blaine would remove his sad eyes from the "disfranchised" colored Republicans of the south, he might be able to see a great many similarly disfranchised white Democrats of the north. With Mr. Blaine it is a poor rule that will work both ways.

The electoral colleges of the respective States met at their capitals last Wednesday and cast the votes as they had been instructed on Nov. 4th. Of the whole number, Blaine received 182 votes and Cleveland 219. The next step will be the counting of the vote in February, and then comes the inauguration March 4th.

President Arthur has given his annual message to Congress. It is an able and carefully prepared state paper. The leading papers generally comment favorably.

The New York Sun is endeavoring to crawl back into the Democratic party. The party, however, has served notice on Dana that he is not wanted.

A Washington special has the following estimates for river and harbor work in Oregon and Washington, made by the engineer department, and to be submitted to the committee on appropriations: Entrance to Coos bay, $150,000; Yaquina bay, $140,000; construction of canal around the Cascades, $500,000; upper Columbia river, including Snake river, $36,000; mouth of the Columbia river, $500,000; improving lower Willamette and Columbia rivers, $354,000; improving upper Willamette river, $20,000; Chehalis river, $50,000; Cowlitz, $6,000; Skagit, Stillaguamish, Nooksack, Snohomish and Snoqualmie rivers, $22,000; Coquille river, $60,000.

The Democratic leaders at Washington propose for the Cleveland inaugural procession a battalion of five hundred veterans of the civil war from every state in the union, with General Hancock as chief marshal, his staff to be selected in equal numbers from the leaders in the great struggle.

Mrs. Garfield has selected Mr. Randolph Tucker, Democratic member of Congress from Virginia, as trustee for her minor children. Where is Jingo Blaine in this painful moment that he may stop this latest rebel devilry.

The Maine rebellion appears to have subsided and there are no longer any fear that its leader will take the State out of the union.

The Markets.
PORTLAND, OR, Dec. 5, 1884.
WHEAT—The wheat market in foreign lands seem to continue dull and lower. In Portland valley wheat may be quoted $1.10 @ $1.12 per cental.
OATS—Quotable at 30¢ per bushel, with a slow market.
EGGS—30 cents per doz.
LOCAL MARKET.
EUGENE, Dec 5, 1884.
Hops—Nominal.
WHEAT—But few sales have taken place, farmers holding for better terms. We can quote at 54¢ per bushel on board on cars.
OATS—20¢ per bushel. Market easy.
BUTTER—20 cent per pound.
EGGS—30 cents per dozen. Market not liberally supplied.
BACON—Sides 12¢ per lb and scarce; hams very scarce at 15¢; shoulders 12¢.
LARD—19¢ @ 15¢ per lb.
POTATOES—Plentiful at 25¢ per bushel.
FLOUR—$4.50 per bbl.

His Success.
Financially and socially, are largely due to his excellent health. If his system were clogged and feverish, no doubt he would fail as many others do. But why not enjoy good health when one can please the palate at the same time? Syrup of Figs is not only pleasant to the taste, it also cleanses the system thoroughly, yet painlessly; it is harmless in its nature, and strengthens the organs on which it acts so that regular habits may be formed, and the sufferer permanently restored to health and happiness. Sample bottles free and large bottles for sale by M F Wilkins, of Eugene, and W S Lee, of Junction.

In Time of Peace Prepare for War.
Scarcely any doubt exists in the minds of scientific men about the appearance of cholera in this country another season. The extent and violence of the disease will depend entirely upon the sanitary condition of the country and the physical condition of the people. Persons in a perfectly healthy condition have little to fear from its approach. Dr Koch of Berlin, in his recent writings upon the subject, says: "Under ordinary circumstances the bacilli, introduced by the mouth, are destroyed in the stomach, but give a derangement of this organ due to errors of diet or other causes, and the bacillus is enabled to escape the action of the gastric juice and to reach the alkaline intestinal fluid, where it proliferates, sets up irritation, diarrhoea and all the typical symptoms of choleraic seizure." De Haven's Dyspepsia Cure is a remedy that supplies the acid that is wanting in the digestive juices of a deranged stomach. Sample bottles free at Osburn & Co's drug store.
