"I see it stated in this hyar paper," remarked a passenger from the South, "that the esspression 'painting it red' started with a nigger show. That hain't so. Thet expression was started thirty y'ar ago down on the Mi'sippi Rivah. You know there use to be a heap of steamboat racin' in them days, just before wah, an' if a boat couldn't keep sumwhere in sight of another she was secon' class, even if she cost a million dollars. Well, in them days they didn't have all this porter jacket, steamsavin' business down in the engine Lock Box 104. room as they hes now. So when the engineeah told the coal-niggars to fill her full, an' they filled her full, the go up to the pilot house, talk with the pilot a minit, and yell down the tube:

Coal hustlers: 'Niggers, the Belle of BILYEU & COLLIER, Attorneys. Miss'sippi is after us. Paint her red! And then they would proceed to paint those boilers red, from fire-box to smoke stack. Thet's the way the espression first started, sah, an' all the the word town,"-Chicago Herald, Rye," has always represented a maiden about August 15th 1831, and are breachy. HENRY SPORES. wading through a field of rye up to her waist, with a stout fellow clasping her around the neck, preparatory to giving her a hearty smack. It has always seemed to us that there was a mistake somewhere, Maidens do not usually travel through rye fields. It would trample down the grain, and in Scotland such a thing would be severely punished! Now the thing is explained. There is a small river called Rye in Ayrshire that could be forded most of the season. In wading over, the lassies have to hold up their pelticoats, and Burns and his rollicking companions used to wait until the lassies were well into the stream, when they would rush in and kiss them. The maidens could not resist it, for if they did they would have to drop their clothes and get them wet. This is a much more sensible explanation of the song than the one that has obtained credence in society generally. The grain field idea will have to take a lack seat.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, fided or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red bair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured. It cheeks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scart and dandruff, and neals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Lucites' Hair Dressing, the Vigor is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

Mn. C. P. Bancurar writes from Kirby, O., Mr. C. P. Harchild writes from Arroy, O., July 3, 1882; "Last tail my hair commenced failing out, and in a short time I became nearly haid. I used part of a bottle of Aven's Hain Victor, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and an convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bail."

A. W. Bowen, proprietor of the MeArthur (Ohio) Enquiere, says: "Aven's itam Vinon is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The Vinon is also a sure cone for dandraff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

MR. ANGUS FAIRBAIRN, leader of the MR, ANGES FAIRMARN, leader of the celebrated "Fairbairn Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Buston, Muss., Frb. 6, 1889. "Ever since my hair began to give sivery evidence of the change which flecting time procureth, I have used Avra's HAIR Vicous, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in 1set every one who lives in the eyes of the public."

MRS. O. A. PRESCOTT, writing from IS Eins. St., (Auriceloum, Mass., April 14, 1882, says. "Two years ago about two-thirds of my half came off. It thinnest very rapidly, and I was fast growing bald. On using Aven's Ham Vition the failing stopped and a new growth commencest, and in plant a month my head was completely covered with short bair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as before it felt. I regularly used but one bottle of the Viu in, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AVER'S HAIR VIGOR, It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.
