

THE EUGENE CITY GUARD.

SATURDAY.....FEBRUARY 7, 1885.

From the Capitol.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 5, 1885.

Four weeks of present session of the Legislature have about expired, leaving only two weeks more, and still no United States Senator has been elected and only a limited amount of business has been transacted. The fight for the Senatorship is now as burning form and a running fight is now being made against the leading candidate. Hirsch has reached 23 votes, and it is generally believed he has at least seven in reserve yet. He is a good worker and has many friends here from different portions of the State working in his interest, but nevertheless it is generally thought that he will be defeated by the "kicker" element in his party. His opponents constantly urge against him his race and religion, and of course, prejudice a small portion of the more radical and fanatical of the G. O. P. which always claims all the intelligence in the country and world. In the words of the M. & W. Sun, "we think he will be defeated." The most of the opposition have centered upon W. D. Hare, a one horse broken down politician of Washington county, receiving 18 votes last Wednesday, and we believe will have at least four more by Saturday's ballot. After the above named person has received all it is possible to procure, he will be withdrawn and that state lawyer, but rather suspicious politician, W. Lair Hill, will be called for the contest. We opine that he has but very slight chances for an election. "Flash-brake Williams is still here but does not have a ghost of a show for receiving the coveted office. Col. Kelsey says he is out of the right bag. Gen. Applegate has had a "nearly" a vote. George is out of the race. Ex-Senator H. W. Corbett is here and we have it upon good authority is working hard for Hon. Henry Failling. There is still a very deep under-current for this gentleman, and to-day, we believe, has the best show of any candidate mentioned. Binger, Herren, the accidental Congressman, was at the Chemeketa two nights this week, but after thoroughly canvassing the situation so folded his tent and quietly stole away. Every Republican candidate is continually seeking an alliance with the Democracy, but they receive no comfort, as the party leaders have resigned the nomination to the民主派, and all the time-form Democratic, which we think, beyond doubt, they will do. It is still our judgment that there will be no election to this important office until the last day or week of the present session, and by a bare possibility there may be none, but the fact is not probable. Since our last the following Democratic leaders have passed complimentary salutes. Thus, Bonham, Prim, Kelly, Hayes, and to-day G. J. Effinger passed his honor. The Democrats are holding together well and show no sign of breaking.

The Whigs' bill has good condition. It will come up for third reading probably on or before the 1st of March and will undoubtedly be passed. On a test vote on the measure last Wednesday the vote stood 27 to 20 in its favor. The M. & C. church South, has dissolved the contract with the State Agricultural College and have so informed the State. The people of Corvallis are anxious for the permanent location of that institution in their city. They offer to build a fine building free of cost on the same. We think the college will be located there.

The railroad bill has good condition. It will come up for third reading probably on or before the 1st of March and will undoubtedly be passed. On a test vote on the measure last Wednesday the vote stood 27 to 20 in its favor. The M. & C. church South, has dissolved the contract with the State Agricultural College and have so informed the State. The people of Corvallis are anxious for the permanent location of that institution in their city. They offer to build a fine building free of cost on the same. We think the college will be located there.

The railroad bill passed the Senate last Wednesday afternoon, after much specifying, by a vote of 20 to 10. We are sorry to say that Senator Morris spoke unduly against the measure, obtaining a majority to the unconstitutional. The vote of the Senate is placed at 20 to 10, while the bill provides that freight charges shall not be greater than they were on Jan. 1st, 1865, and that discrimination shall not be made between passenger and freight. It also provides that a printed freight schedule shall be published in public view, and that they may be used whenever they have a right. The bill will pass the House probably to-day (Friday) by a large majority. The author of the bill is Hon. E. S. Houtz, of Linn county. The bill increases the salaries of Circuit Judges to $3,000 per annum, has met considerable opposition. But the bill will probably become a law at $2,500 per year. Many changes will be made in the code, one of which introduced by Hon. L. Bilyen restricting the number of witnesses in criminal cases. Hon. R. B. Hays' bill for clearing the Mohawk river and for the boating of the same will surely become a law. A bill has passed the Senate exempting homesteads worth $2,000 or under, from debt in the future. It will meet with considerable opposition in the House.

After considerable debate H. B. 102 for an act to make valid certain contracts was passed in the House by a vote of 41 to 17. It provides that contracts may be entered into by and between the borrower and lender or mortgagor and mortgagee whereby one party shall agree to pay the taxes or the debt, credit or mortgage existing or entered into between such parties, and the same are hereby declared legal and valid. There is more than even chances that the law will also pass the Senate. If the bill passes into a law it will raise the rate of interest in cases where real estate is given as security from 10 per cent. to virtually 12. The members from Lane all voted against the measure, as also did those from Linn with the exception of T. J. Black, who introduced the bill.

The bill incorporating the town of Springfield will become a law.

It now looks as if the bill for precinct assessors would pass.

PERSONAL.

Representatives Veatch and Burton have each been sick a day or two this week and were unable for a short time to occupy their seats in the House. They are both attending to their duties today.

Gov. Whiteaker has fully recovered, and is now enjoying splendid health.

Judge R. S. Bean is here again.

Hon. R. B. Cochran returned home last Wednesday, after a considerable stay in the capital city.

Judge J. J. Walton spent one day in Salem this week.

Mr. W. H. Baker, of Junction, has been here several days.

John Adams, the man of short gun notoriety, is here and puts on a grand amount of style.

S. Monroe Hubbard, who left numerous bills in Eugene unpaid, is here lobbying.

An intelligent Spaniard, in this country, gives a bit of good experience, which will serve as a good lesson in the rudiments of a science now much discredited. "On my way to America," he says, "I passed through Liverpool. In Liverpool I bought a Derby Hat for which I paid three shillings—75 cents. I have paid $3.50 for its duplicate in Philadelphia. I brought it over one guinea—$3—when I went all last winter, because I wanted $3.50 for its duplicate in Philadelphia." This does not need comment.

The approaching compilation of the Indiana State House has developed a startling omnium of things. The original appropriation for building the structure was $2,000,000, but the present is that the cost will be $1,250,000 less than this amount.

A rifle ball shot up in the air will have the same velocity when it strikes the earth on its return as when it left the rifle, minus the resistance of the air, which is very great and continuous both ways.

A plump temperance lady expressed her delight when she read that many gin houses were closing down in Oregon. But someone killed all her joy by informing her that the gin houses referred to were cotton gin houses.

It may never have occurred to the fine saint who has left Beecher's church, because he supported Give Land, that perhaps their religion was not heavy enough to tip up the church. Mr. Beecher thinks he will be able to hold it.

"A wise minister," thundered Bob Bierstadt to a Chicago audience, "has exerted as much for the world as Darwin." But an urchin answered and confounded the infidel by ejaculating, "Bierhard."

The fiber of the hop vine is said by some French paper manufacturers to be the best substitute for rags yet discovered. Its advantages are great length, strength, flexibility and durability.

A single book, a "Psalmarum Codex," printed by Faust & Schoeller, in 1459, brought £4,000 (nearly $25,000) at a recent sale in London. This is probably the largest price ever paid for a book.

The expenses of the first two years of the Democratic state government of California have been $1,242,344.07 less than the last two of the last Republican administration of the State.

Noble Words.

After the paid for and obsequious panegyrics on the character of Leland Stanford in the joint session of the California Legislature, a Senator who had been duped into a caucus, cast his vote for Stanford and in words that are ringing in every county of California expressed his emphatic protest as follows:

A week ago to day the Republicans of this Legislature assembled in caucus and passed in nomination Ex-Governor Stanford for United States Senator. I attended that caucus—I participated in its proceedings; but had I known that the thing was settled before we went into caucus, I should never have gone in. It seems the thing was settled and the candidate was chosen before the caucus was called—a smart political game was well played. A resolution was passed in that caucus binding the members to vote for the nomination of the caucus. Having entered that caucus voluntarily, according to political usage I am in honor bound to support its nomination, and I shall so vote, but sir, way down in the depth of my soul I deny the right of the caucus to bind me to vote contrary to my honest convictions and to dictate to me, and my soul rebels. Yes, great is Diana of the Ephesians; great is the railroad corporation of this State and great is the Republican party of this State. Nay, sir, I deny it, for it has been captured and now it surrenders at discretion and the railroad owns the Republican party. Great is Leland Stanford, but greater and holier than all those is the principle of eternal and immutable justice. The rights of the people will ultimately triumph and the day is not far distant, I know, when political parties will coincide to the individual right of independent political action. And are believing it that although things go contrary to my wishes and I believe, contrary to the wishes of a majority of the people of the State, yet, sir, I shall cast my vote for the nominee of the caucus. I do not object to Mr. Stanford on personal grounds; that is not the point. A great principle is involved in this matter. The people of this State have been trying for a long time to bring the Company under proper control. The railroad thus far has defied us, the railroad thus far has evaded both political parties and controlled the Legislature of this State in its own behalf.

In Japan a movement is in progress to have the English language taught in the primary schools of the country and at society has also been formed to promote Japanese writing. This is a new kind of Rome which is going around. Approximately 6,000 living in Lewis county, W. Va., cast their maiden vote at the last election.

Coin must be realized at all hazards.

Will the people know a good thing when it is offered to them?

Everywhere we hear the cry of hard times and in every direction do we see their effects. Old business houses that have withstood the rage of panics time and again, are at last compelled to bend down before the inevitable. We see colossal failures all over the East, perish because of the continued depression in trade.

Coming down right home, we find people failing of late years? Hop and Wheat crops, which are not sold yet. Of course optimism often aids the facility of always finding when a price is offered, but that is not necessarily the object. Sufficient for us to determine that a business house in Eugene City has lost a violent hand-to-hand battle, and the property is now in the hands of the胜者. Consequently he will easily overthrow.
