

The Nation's Wealth.

An official at Washington who has been engaged in counting the cash in the treasury vaults furnishes some interesting information about the amount and weight thereof. There is $9,000,000 in silver in bags, each containing $1,000, weighing fifty-nine pounds and three ounces, so $109,000 in silver would pull down the balance at almost three tons, and $1,000,000 would be nearly 60,000 pounds. The entire amount of coined silver now in the treasury vaults, it is estimated, will weigh 543,700 pounds. A pound of gold coin weighs 240 pounds, $480,000 of it weighs a ton. There are nearly twelve tons of gold fives, tens and twenties in the country's strong-box at the Treasury. Of the paper money, too, there is an enormous amount. One hundred and fifty millions of dollars are in five, two and one dollar bills. About seven of these bills measure a yard in length, so that a greenback belt that would reach around the world almost twenty times could be made of the United States currency now in the vaults and in circulation. The money, of course, is not counted coin by coin. The gold and silver is weighed very carefully on the finest and most accurately fitted scales that were ever made. Though 1000 pounds can be weighed at a time, a pin placed on the balance will tip it.

The President has appointed E. O. Graves, Chief of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. He will have 1200 subordinates under him. Mr. Graves is a Mugwump, in the fullest sense of the term, and will make an admirable officer. The Oregonian's accusation that there would be no more mugwump appointments save that of Pearson, was false, and that paper must have known it when it repeated the charge this week. The Mugwumps having taken "pot-luck" with the Democracy have and will receive equal attention from the President they elected. And it is fair that they should.

Senator John Sherman arrived in California the first of the week. A Democratic Legislature of Ohio a few days before his departure for this coast tendered Mr. Sherman a reception, a rare compliment as it is rarely bestowed. But the chances are that Mr. Sherman, despite his national reputation and great ability, will be retired, even if the Legislature should be Republican, in favor of Calico Charley Foster, a shifty, tricky, politician. In the interest of good legislation we hope that if a Republican is to be elected, it may be Sherman.

A produce dealer informs us that last year his firm sold in Portland 125,000 pounds of oleomargarine and that altogether 500,000 pounds must have been disposed of in Portland to the retailers. He says that nearly every grocer in town dealt in the vile compound, and that nearly all hotels, restaurants, coffee houses, etc., bought it exclusively. The wholesalers bought oleo. at from 15 to 18 cents a pound and sold it for 25, thus making a handsome profit and keeping Oregon butter entirely out of the market.—Portland Welcome.

It is significant of the changed and changing views of manufacturers on our present tariff, that the Scientific American, a paper largely circulating among manufacturers, which has always advocated a high tariff is publishing articles occasionally of a tariff reform tendency. It mentioned the fact a few weeks ago that in 1860 the exports of the United States to Chili comprised 21 per cent of the imports of that country against 4 per cent in 1884. The tariff works injury to all, and the men for whose benefit it was made, are finding it out.

The fact that England, a free trade country, pays its laborers nearly twice as much as her neighbor, France, a country with a protective tariff is incontrovertible, and withal England has distanced France and is the first manufacturing nation in the world today. Protectionists, do not answer why things are thusly for the reason that they cannot.

From the present prospects it would look as if the wheat crop of the U. S for 1885, would fall 100,000,000 bushels short of last year's crop. A good price for wheat is one of the contingencies that the farmers would not view with dismay.

There have been fewer applications in proportion to the votes cast for Cleveland, for offices from the Southern States, than from any other section.

The application of the children of Judge Wm. Strong, the First Judge of the Supreme Court of Washington Territory, to have a guardian appointed to look after the property, on the ground that the old gentleman is not of sound mind, was rejected by Judge Moreland. Evidence was adduced during the trial to show that the old man's temper was exceedingly violent, and that at times he made it exceedingly tropical for the young folks. As the court has decided that the judge has sense enough to look after himself and his own affairs, it only remains for those of his children who cannot get along with him to stay out of his way.

The first greenback $1 note struck off is owned by Edward Slocum, of the township of New Richmond, Allegany county, Michigan. It is dated August 1, 1862, marked series A, No. 1. Mr. Slocum is a soldier in the army and the bill in question was paid to him by the paymaster as part of his wages as a boy in blue. The greenbacks were a novelty to the "boys" at that time, as they had previously been paid off in gold and silver coin. In looking over his bills Slocum noted the fact that he had No. 1, and he put it away carefully, being determined to preserve it. He will not sell it for any price.

We take the following from the New York Herald of May 9th: "Vice President Hendricks will leave in a few weeks for an extended tour in the new Northwest. He will spend some time in San Francisco, and from there will go up into Oregon and Washington Territory. Mr. Hendricks some time ago promised to deliver an address at the Yale College commencement, but he has written asking to be excused from keeping the engagement." The Vice President will receive a cordial welcome from the people of Oregon and Washington.

Elections are to be held this year in the States of Connecticut, Iowa, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Virginia. Of these, Connecticut, Kentucky, New Jersey, New York and Virginia went Democratic in last year's election, Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Rhode Island were Republican.

The recent sudden death of a son of one of the professors of the Columbia University, Washington, was accounted for by the physicians who investigated the case, by the youth's habit of persistent cigarette smoking. The primary cause of death was aortic regurgitation, which had been increased by the inhalation of cigarette smoke.

Major General Irwin McDowell died in San Francisco at midnight on the 5th inst. He was sick for some time, and was attended in his last moments by his wife, son and daughter. Gen. McDowell was commander of the Army of the Potomac during the first battle of Bull Run, and was a prominent union general during the civil war.

A Kentuckian gives the following glowing description of his trip abroad: "I landed in Liverpool at night, went to bed, had a good rest, got up in the morning, found the bar, called for an American cocktail, got it, took one taste and returned home in the next steamer. This country is good enough for me."

England by granting every Russian demand has gained a precarious peace. The American press is not now nearly so rampant for war, since the prospect for a fair price for grain has dawned on their visions.

General T. R. Tamatt has been summoned to Washington by a telegram from Secretary Endicott. Some people think it has something to do with the governorship of Washington Territory.

The health of Gen. Grant is reported by telegraph as being slightly worse.
