"Confederate General Chalmers."

was a Democrat. He was then a vilwas bounced from Congress, the Dem ocrats not supporting his claims, and a few weeks saw him the loyal Republican leader of the Republican party of Mississippi, a fit associate for angels and even a proper companion for members of the Republican party. He editorial columns of the Oregonian:

latter to Gov. Headly, of Ohio, elaiming that Senator Sherman did not go far enough in his statement about disfranchisement of voters in the South, but should have included with the colored men, white men who refuse to vote the Democratic ticket.

The files of the Oregonian of not long ago will show this Mr. Chalmers denounced as the author of the most cruel and atrocious massacre of modern times, and as the apologist and defender and upholder of assasination. Had he said three years ago the converse of what he wrote to Hoadly, the to the crimes of Fort Pillows Cha'mers. Republican.

We ask Republicans, who believe the story of Fort Pillow, if a regenerate South is to come from the leadership of such a man. And we ask them to compare the liberal, eloquent Democratic leader, Secretary Lumar with the once bitter rebel extremist, and the toutcast from the Democratic party, "Gen. Chalmers? What intelligent man would hesitate to choose?

But this "bloody shirt" business is call a faree now, and people see the aim of the whole thing, which is to divert cattention from the gigantic land frauds and other swindles that have permeated every branch of the public, service, The wonderful leaps and strides of the South in industrial development, and the awakening interest in education and consequent increase of the colored schools and colleges of the South is anthe small faction of Sherman malcon that the supposed descendant of Gessler itents.

For the approaching elections in France th Radicals are even more outspoken and extreme in their views than is the case in England. Thus their programme demands the expulsion of It was only a few years ago that the Bompartist and Orleanist princes, Gen, James R. This programme app ars to assume Socialistic rather than Rulical tendencies, and as the national debt is held by thousands of investors auong > the middle and lower classes, it is little likely that the circular will meet with New England Mortgage Security general acquiescence, even in the Rad ical party itself.

One by one all the romantic episodes of yore are being ruthlessly obliterated by the modern rationalist school of historians, and their latest decision is that New England Mortgage Security Republican papers instead of patting no such hero as William Tell and no him on the back would devote columns such tyrant as Gessler e er existed. They claim, although their deeds ar-And his virtue now, in the view of the recorded in song an 1 legend, that Tell organs is simply this, that he is now a and Gessler are but mythical person ages; but a recent adventure shows that it would be unwise to vent these skeptical ideas among the zealous believers of the Four Forest Cantons. It appears that Baron Gessler, New a Russian nobleman of Ger.nun extrac tion, but who never dreamed that the detested Landvogt of Schüler's play had a place on his family tree, hired a boat, together with some friends, to cress from Brunnen to the Rutii. During the passage one of the party chanced to address the young nobleman by his name. The boatman started with horror. He dropped his oar for a moment, and then said to the astonished company, "I would not have a Gessler in my boat for a hundred france." In spite of all entreaties and attempted 1 explanations he turned the head of his swer final, complete and conclusive to boat, rowed to the land and insisted should disembark.

It has been a puzzle to nearly all of us us as the cause of the shipment of such large quantities of wheat to San Francisco, and we had no idea of a solution until we received a private letter the other day which, we think, can be relied upon as carrect. It says that there is a syndicate of San Francisco merchants who have secured control of California wheat in interior warehouses and are holding it there. That port, that there are no cargoes to fill is still able to read without spectacles. one half of it. That the parties who all the savings she had been able to ac have secured the California wheat are closely allied to the Oregon Railway & Navigation Co., and that the shipment of grain to 'Frisco is to keep the O. R. & N. vessels busy and to pre vent shipping from leaving San Fran years ago. cisco for the Columbia river. If the above be true, as we have reason to believe, it shows a great deal of keen business ability and enterprise in San Francisco merchants.

Probably the most unique monument that will be crected to General Grant has been completed by the Grangers of Kansas. It consists of an obelisk of corn, rising to a height of corn with red peppers intertwined. The shaft is composed of ears of yellow corn, and on its four faces is worked in red cars, are the inscriptions: "Peace," "Plenty," "Union" and "Liberty." On each corner of the pedestal is a mammoth pumpkin, while giant cornstalks, stacked like arms, stand around the monument. The material was gathered from the fields of the president of the agricultural association. it is an interesting memorial of the greatness of the min to whose memory it was erected and a striking illustration of the resources of the state which raised it.

The Philadelphia Times, after a carefal investigation, makes the gratifying statement that, instead of being skeptics in religion, nine-tenths of the 1500 Lawyers of that city are either church emlers or have well-defined church E hations.

At the office of the Adige of Verona there appeared the other day an aged ludy, still robust and gay, who offered to recite at performances proposed to be given in favor of old actors, reserv. ing a benefit night for herself. > There is an exodus of the Chinese from the West to the East. It is supposed that the cessation of railroad building having thrown a large numher out of employment and the fact that they are treated better in the East, where they are not so numerous than here, are the principal factors that prompt the move.
