LOOKING FOR GREEN. The Smart Detroit Drummer Falls to Collect the Bet. A traveler for a wholesale Detroit house was waiting in the depot at Pontiae the other day when a stranger approached him and asked:

"Isn't your name Green, of Grand

"No, sir."

"Ah! beg your pardon, I never saw him but expected him here to meet me. Green is going to travel with a circus this year, and was to give me twentyfive dollars to post him up on some new catches."

"So you've got something new?" queried the Detroiter.
"Yes, a few things. There is one little trick I gave to a drummer a few weeks ago, and he's made seventy-five dollars on it already."

"May be you'd be kind enough to give it away to me? I'm one of the boys, you know!"

"Certainly. The trick is to tell the date of any coin a man may have in his pockets without your looking at it." But you can't do that."

"O, yes, I can. Have you got any coins in your pocket?" "Yes; twenty of them."

"Well; I can write down the date of each and every one of them.

"Say, I'll bet you ten dollars you can't!" exclaimed the drummer. "Done!" said the other, as he pulled out a bill.

A very respectable-looking man was standing by, and the money was placed in his hands.

"Now," said the sharper, "you turn your face to the wall and fold your arms. I will write down the date and compare them.

At the end of three minutes he had twenty dates, and they put the coins on the seat to make a comparison. The man had hit only two dates out of

"I'll take that tenner," said the Detroiter, as he rose up and looked. But he never did. The stakeholder had slid out, and the man with the trick was a bigger chap than he cared to tackle. - Detroit Free Press.

A CURIOUS BANK.

The Treasure Trove Found by a Pennsylvania Carpenter.

Some years ago, an old wooden bridge spanned the Schuylkill river at the foot of Penn street. Reading, Pa. In the course of time a more substanted and referred, praying Congress tial structure was deemed necessary. enact legislation against oleomarga- and the timbers of the old bridge were carefully taken apart, and reserved for use in repairing and rebuilding the smaller county bridges. While preparing some of this old timber for its new use, a few days ago, it became necessary to saw off several feet from a heavy piece, which was to be used as ment with a view to securing such a girder in a small bridge under condifications of the present treaty templation. When the end portion h China as may result in stopping dropped to the ground, the workman was astonished to hear a jingling sound as of gold and silver coin. A summons of such good omen insured a speedy investigation, which re-sulted in finding eagles, half eagles, silver dollars, halves and quarters mixed together in careless confusion. The source of supply was found in a section about eighteen inches al Circuit of the United States. in length and five inches deep, which had been hollowed out of the log with e to include Nebraska, Kansas, auger and chisel. An inch-thick cover had been fitted over the opening so cleverly and sealed with so much care that detection, other than accidental. was hardly possible. The treasure had been confined in a home-knit woolen stocking, and as the saw cut off the toc. part of the contents was discharged.

The value of the deposit, though reported to be considerable, was not made public. The money was probably hidden away a number of years ago, as specimens of three, five, ten, twentyfive and fifty cent scrip, nicely folded up in a piece of writing paper, were among the contents. Not a line indicated the ownership. The question of possession is consequently divided as to whether it should go to the workman who discovered it, the owner of the y labor performed by Indian pu- timber, or the county. The finder probably inclines to the first suggestion. orrow received a monster petition | Scientific American.

How They Are Trained and the Obligations Asumed by Them.

Strange to say, though we must have visited scores of monasteries, I am not conscious of having ever entered a It prays for such action on the Buddhist convent, though these are really numerous, and we occasionally legislation or by change in the fell in with small parties of nuns. whom, however, it was difficult to dissary to forever prohibit the tinguish from the holy brethren, save by their diminutive size. Their dress is precisely the same-namely a long gray or or yellow robe, white stockings and thick shoes, like those worn by men, and their poor bare heads are closely shaven-a process to which the little ten.year-old novices are partially subjected, and which is completed when, at the advanced age of sixteeen, the full-blown sister takes the vows of perpetual virginity, of vegetarian diet and strict obedience to the precepts of Buddha. These vows are made in the presence of Koon-Yam, the goddess of merey, who herself was a canonized Buildhist nun; and thenceforth the sole duty of these little nuns seems to lie in going from house to house, wherever their services are required on behalf of deceased women, for whose benefit they chant prayers to Koon-Yam the livelong day. When this exciting work is not required, they are said to spend their dull lives in a state of utter vacuity. being literally without occupation, save that some of the younger sisters employ their leisure upon silk embroidery. I have seen Buddhist nuns make a pilgrimage to many shrines never, apparently, pausing for one moment in he ceaseless reiteration of the foursyll chied charm "O-mi-to Fu! O-mi-to su!" You would probably have taken such for gibbering idiots, but they were SACK say, they have seldom if ever any appetite, are say, they have seldom if ever any appetite, are nervous, weak, fidgetty and troubied by numberless small pains and sches. In the presence of vigorous, exuberant vitality they seem mere pigmies. Such persons are usually fond of frequently dosing themselves, swallowing in the course of the year enough drugs to stock any apothecary's shop of average dimensions. This, of course, defeats instead of furthering the end in view, viz., the recovery of health and vigor. Were they to seek it from an unfailing scource of vitality, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, how different would be their case. Then vigor would return to their debilitated frames, the glow of health to their wan cheeks, their trembling, uncertain gait would grow firm and elastic, appetite, that grandest of all sauces would give a relish for the daily food, were if ever so coarse, and refreshing sleep would crown the tasks of the day.

Public speakers and pulpit orators are constant sufferers from throat trouble. For such ills the best remedy that has yet For such ills the best remedy that has yet been found is Dr. Starkey & Palen's Compound Oxygen, as made by them at their isboratory, No. 1529 Arch street, Phila., Pa. The Rec. Sidney Wilbur, of Albion, N. Y., writes: "Well, I must confess, and I do it gladly, that your Compound Oxygen is, I think, the most wonderful remedy, at least, for all diseases of the throat and lungs that I ever heard of or believe to be in existence." This endorsement is equaled by many hundreds of others. Write for a pamphlet on the subject, which will be sent free of postage.

BEST GOODS ARE FUT IN SMALLEST PARCELS.

The old proverb is certainly true in the case of Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," which are little, sugar wrapped parcels, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, containing as much cathartic power as is done up in the biggest, most repulsive-looking pill. Unlike the big pills, however, they are mild and pleasant in their operation—do not produce griping pains, nor render the bowels costive after

SAVED FROM DEATH.

No, my friend, you do not know what it is to be saved from death. You think that because you fell into the bay and were rescued from drowning that, in the short space of five minutes, you realized all that is meant by those words. You have no idea of the lingering agony of weeks and months of suffering, the certainty that death is ever coming neater and no rer, and that no human skill can delay the grim messenger. But let me tell you my grim messenger. But let me tell you my

In the Fall of 1870 I had occasion to take a stage ride in Oregon at night. I took a severe cold and wassick for a week. I recovered my usual health with the excep-tion of a siight cough, to which I paid no attention. On my return to California the coughing became troublesome. I ap-plied for medical advice. I was assured that it was an attack of bronchitis and a bottle of medicine would set ma right. The demand for young men to take charge of creameries at the South is so great that the Mississippi Agricultural College is forming a class for special instruction in this industry.

ONLY HALF ALIVE.

There are hosts of men and women who, to coia a phrase, are only half alive. That is to say, they have seldom if ever any appetite, are knew I had consumption. I took cod-liver oil, cough syrups and the long list of lung remedies. Day by day I felt that I was nearing the grave; I struggled desperately against the enemy. I spent one Winter in Florida, but the climate enervated me. A sea voyage was proposed and I took ship for Havre. I felt that I had exhausted all means. A violent hemorrhage nearly exmeans. A violent hemorrhage nearly exhausted me, and I felt that I must cease means. A violent hemorrhage nearly exhauste. me, and I felt that I must cease the struggle and prepare to meet my fate bravely. Nearly two years I had suffered and was slowly dying. I resolved once more to appeal to medical science, and, hearing of a physician in Paris, I went to see him. This was Dr. Dujardin. His first words gave me hope. "My dear friend, you have the consumption, it is true; but by the grace of the good God you may yet regain some health." He gave me a bottle of his Life Essence, saying, "Take this, and if it fails I can do nothing," I had tried so many medicines that I had little faith. Yet I took it. The first night I did not sweat. I was surprised, but feared it was only from the different food. I soon began to look eagerly for my meals. My cough did not trouble me, and I feit as if I might get well. I -aw the good doctor again and receive: words of encouragement. In short, I took seven bottles of the Lite Essence, and then felt that I was nearly well; returned home to surprise my friends and receive their congratulations at being well; returned home to surprise my friends and receive their congratulations at being and receive their congratulations at being saved from death. I brought several bottles of Dujardin's Life Essence with me, and shall never be without it. To be saved from sudden death is nothing but to be saved from lingering agony, from daily and nightly korror, is more than human tongue can describe.

A QUESTION ABOUT Brown's Iron Bitters ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times. How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything! Well, it doesn't, Be' it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe 1808 Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative agent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in medicine. This shows conclusively that iron is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medicine. important factor in successful medical practice.
