"The Dirty Shirt."

(Portland World.)

"I have never employed a Chinaman in any capacity, and never have worn a shirt washed by a Chinaman."—T. R. CORNELIUS, as reported by the Oregonian, stalwart Republican organ.

Col. Cornelius, in a plain, truthful way, stated he did not employ Chinese to do his grubbing, nor did he wear shirts washed by the Chinese.—Editorial in the News, ring organ.

If there is a blatherskite or demagogue in the State of Oregon that can out-blatherskite or out-demagogue "Col." Cornelius, the ring candidate for Governor, we would like to see the copy of his hair.

About two weeks ago this pliant tool of Ben Holladay, attended what was supposed to be a Republican ratification meeting at the New Market theatre in this city, and among other things in his tedious harangue, the would-be Governor, in a demagogical attempt to catch votes, stated that never in his life had he employed Chinamen in any capacity, nor had he ever had his shirt washed by a Chinaman. That Col. Cornelius made these two statements, in substance, is notorious in Portland, and well known and verified by all who attended the meeting. His remarks were given circulation by the press and caused some comment.

Mr Cornelius went to his Washington county home from Portland, and when confronted with his remarks made at the meeting in this city, by his neighbors, he denied them and charged the newspapers of the metropolis with misquoting him on the occasion.

The World has, at considerable trouble, obtained affidavits and communications which we print below that will show "Col. Tom" in his dual capacity. They are from near neighbors of Cornelius, who are loth to believe that he could make the statements accredited to him:

I, Frank Pomeroy, being duly sworn, say I have lived in Cornelius precinct, Washington county, Oregon, about 32 years, that I am acquainted with Colonel Thomas R. Cornelius, Republican candidate for Governor.

That I saw Chinamen grubbing upon the farm of said Cornelius about five or six years ago.

That I have seen Chinamen carrying clothes to and from his residence many times less than three years ago.

I, Thomas Enrick, being duly sworn, say that during the summer of 1884 my wife was sick and I had my washing done by a Chinaman for about three months.

That I saw the Chinamen many times (after leaving my washing at my place of business) carry clothes directly to the residence of Colonel Thomas R. Cornelius, Republican candidate for Governor.

That during said time I saw Colonel Cornelius pay the Chinamen money at different times, which I supposed was for washing.

Su.cribed and sworn to before me this 24th day of May, 1886.

The following communication is also from a near neighbor, who, for obvious reasons would prefer not to have his name attached in print:

"I have never employed a Chinaman in any capacity, and never have worn a shirt washed by a Chinaman."—T. R. CORNELIUS, as reported by the Oregonian, stalwart Republican organ.

To EDITOR WORLD,

DEAR SIR:—As regards the reports of Col. Cornelius hiring Chinese, I would state that I have seen Chinese at work on his (Cornelius') farm and think that he hired them, and I am of the opinion that the reports [to the effect that he never hired Chinese] in the Oregonian, is a base misrepresentation. I am a Democrat, but I like to see fair play, and as it is the common talk out here that he has hired Chinese

Cornelius is too honest to go back on his word, and therefore I think it is a very base misrepresentation by the papers.

WASHINGTON CO., May 23, 1886.

To WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

The undersigned says, and is willing to testify on oath, that Col. Cornelius has hired Chinese to work for him.

I have lived neighbor to the Col. and think he is too honest and truthful to say that he has never hired Chinese as the Portland papers report that he said in his speech, and I think the papers basely misrepresent Col. Cornelius.

The World does not make an issue with Mr. Cornelius on the ground of his hiring Chinese in the past, but it does make a direct issue with him on the ground that he is a demagogue, and in order to create a sentiment that he thinks may bring him a few votes, he does not hesitate at falsehood. One correspondent thinks "Col. Cornelius is too honest to go back on his word." We trust that he will get over his blind infatuation for the Col's honesty and truthfulness. They are matters of record, and records tell the truth.

The Republican ring managers seem determined to freeze out the most prominent members of their party. The glaring incapacity of every candidate on their State ticket to appear before an intelligent audience in a respectable manner is a matter that seems not to affect them in the least. There are many popular orators in the Republican ranks but none of them have been employed to canvass the State. Ex Governor George L. Woods has no superior in the State as an orator, but he is ignored by the ring out of sheer envy and jealousy. It is humiliating to reflect upon the fact that the Republican candidates for State offices possess ability only to sneak round through the State and button-hole citizens and beg for votes.

Some time ago when the dispatches stated that the Shah of Persia and "Col." Cornelius were in communication no one could give a good guess as to what sort of a heu was on. It now transpires that the Shah wanted a warehouse, and he ordered his Prime Minister to have one built on a certain line. The P. M. set a crowd at work, but lo! when the warehouse was built a syndicate of grangers started in to build an opposition warehouse. It turns out that the communication of the Shah to the "Col." was a request that he would use his influence with Ben Holladay to secure exclusive warehouse privileges for the Shah. It is needless, perhaps, to remark that things were fixed for the Shah of Persia. Why, of course.

The Cornelius organs don't dare deny his gross ignorance, and evade the charge by some such demagogic twaddle as this: "Tom is no dupe. He doesn't part his name nor hair in the center, neither does he wear a cane"—nor a clean shirt, either, from all accounts. All that can be said good of Cornelius, with equal truth can be applied to Pennoyer, while the Democrat has qualifications innumerable that Holladay's man Friday can never expect to possess. Voters, you pay your taxes, take your choice.—Welcome.

District Attorney Hamilton has been nominated for District Attorney for Second Judicial District. A better selection could not possibly have been made, or one more in accordance with the wishes of the people of Coos. He has been tried, found thoroughly competent and reliable, and his re-election is a foregone conclusion.—Coos Bay News.

Col Cornelius' declaration that he never wore a shirt washed by a Chinaman loses much of its interest as an electioneering dodge when it is stated that he invariably employs Celestials to do most of his harvesting. It is also reported that but a few weeks ago he employed two mongols to paint his house.

Democrats, you all remember what a disgraceful legislature we had two years ago. It neglected in the most shameful manner its duty. It caused itself to be called together in extra session at an expense of $25,000. Let us not have another one.

Farmers and grain growers, it is to your interests to vote against "Tom" Cornelius, the pliant tool of monopolists. He is no farmer, as alleged by the ring organs, but a warehouseman who exacts a toll on every bushel of grain that is shipped from the town in which he resides.

"If you are a Republican of twenty years ago you will vote with the Democrats; but if you are a Republican of to-day, you will vote with the ring."

Governor Fitzhugh Lee Explains a Neat Little Campaign Lie.

CINCINNATI, May 23.—Governor Fitzhugh Lee of Virginia, and Governor Wilson of West Virginia, reached here yesterday, by a special invitation to attend the closing day of the May Festival. Governor Foraker received them. In an interview this afternoon Governor Lee explained the origin of the story that he had rode in General Robert E. Lee's war saddle in the late gubernatorial campaign. He said: "I was going to Washington, the seat of Washington and Lee University, to make a speech. A cavalry club met me outside the town, with a horse for me, with a saddle that belonged to my cousin, General Lee, the President of the University, and which was entirely new. He had bought it only a week before and had loaned it to the cavalry club for the occasion. Some one told a newspaper correspondent that it was General Lee's saddle, and he, supposing it was General E. Lee, wrote the marvelous story that I was reviving old Confederate memories and riding around on battle-stained saddles."

Local amateurs of New Brighton, Conn., attempted "Richard III" the other evening, and during the passage where the hunchback king offers to give his kingdom for a horse, sight unseen, a saw-horse gracefully floated down in front of the astonished monarch. It was dangled before his petrified gaze for fifteen seconds and was then yanked out of sight. A few moments later the maddened Dick threw his sword at the practical joker. He missed his aim and the weapon cut a gash under the eye of a stage hand.

The effort of Judge Strahan to sustain the validity of the mortgage tax law, and his dissent from the majority report of the Tax Assessment Commission concerning the taxing of railroads, gives the lie, emphatically, to the oft repeated assertion that he favors corporations. The popularity of Judge Strahan as an able jurist makes him a conspicuous mark for the shots of his political opponents. Shoot away, boys, but get onto the truth once in a while, or you will elect Judge Strahan sure.—Ex.

Sylvester Pennoyer is not only the workingman's candidate, but also is the choice of a large majority of the business people, irrespective of politics. The Portland Journal of Commerce, the leading exponent of the business men of the metropolis, in its last issue, comes out warmly in favor of Mr. Pennoyer, devoting a whole column in presenting his claims. Even Republicans now admit the certainty of his election.

When the late Hon Jas W Nesmith ran for Congress he carried every vote in the precinct in which he resided, both Democrats and Republicans. Republicans who are residents of T R Cornelius' precinct in Washington county will not support him. He will be beaten at his home by members of his own party. This fact does not speak loudly in favor of the Republican candidate's claims to popularity.—Vindicator.

It is a suggestive fact that it is only since the Republican tariff laws went into effect that we hear of labor trouble. Under the old Democratic tariff for revenues only, there were no labor strikes or lockouts. Wages were good and workingmen were happy.

General Durbin Ward, a very prominent figure in Ohio politics, died on the 25th inst. The honest old general was a tower of strength for the Democracy in Ohio and his loss will be keenly felt.

That Shirt.

Stitch, switch, twitwh.
And eat Republican diet;
And tangle his voice to the highest pitch
He sang the song of the shirt.
"I'm Col. Tom and the heathen Chinese
Never have washed a shirt for me.
No Chinaman ever washed my shirt,
Or shook from its folds corporation dirt."
"Stitch, switch, twitwh,
But never with Chinamen dirt;
I've got it bad, the candidate itch,
From wearing an unwashed shirt."
—Vindicator.
