Of Interest to All.

The next number of the (Portland, Or.) West Shore will contain a magnificent large picture of Eugene City, and numerous other illustrations; its streets, business buildings and residences, the University, Public School and Churches—all printed in three colors. It will be the handsomest number ever issued. A well written description of Lane county and its resources, and the advantages of Eugene City, as the commercial emporium and educational center, will be furnished in the same number. It ought to be widely circulated. Never before has so excellent an opportunity presented itself to make the advantages of this section known to the outside world.—Circular.
The citizens of Eugene should purchase at least 5,000 copies of this edition of the West Shore, and scatter them throughout the State. Eugene City is the best town in the State, and Lane is the best county. Advertise this fact properly and the population of the county and town will double in the next three years. We know no better way to start this matter than to circulate this particular illustrated edition of the West Shore. It will do more good than a dozen letters to an intending immigrant. Mr Samuel, the enterprising proprietor of this publication, should be properly encouraged in his undertaking.

The company have had men at work on their ledge, which is situated in Blue River district, 60 miles north and east of Eugene, since the 1st of March. Two tunnels have been run, one of which is 87 and the other 25 feet. The ledge is free milling gold ore seven to eight feet in width, and from five assays made here averages about $18 per ton of the precious metal. A number of citizens of Polk county have organized themselves into a committee and are soliciting funds to be added to the State's money so that the monument erected will be worthy of the man whose memory it is to commemorate. Nesmith is buried near Dixie, Polk county, in a beautiful spot in a grove of fir trees, on the south bank of the Rioque, which overlooks a fine stretch of country. His body lies within one hundred yards of the place where he was married to Miss Pauline Goff, in 1847, and the grave is unmarked by any stone. Nesmith selected this resting place years ago, and often when he was entertaining visitors at his home he would become serious and would tell them of the future solemn use of the beautiful spot.
