GEORGE TAYLOR. Sold by Osburn & Co, druggists, Eugene. Trent Items. September 9, 1886. We are sorry to say that G. W. Guiley is quite sick with typhoid fever. Rutledge is on his way home, he having turned back to pursue a fish which had been seen in Deschutes river. He is expected in a few days. We are sorry that in justice to ourselves we are at last compelled to pass notice on a purported correspondent from Pleasant Hill who writes over the expressive name of "Gossip." Although we see no reason he should not shorten his pseudonym so as to express appearances as well as character something like "Gossiping," or "Greasy Goshen." Of course, many of his vagaries and pettifoggishness may be accounted for by the approaching change in his condition of life of which his trading his dog cart for a family carriage is an index, yet no charity will suffer us to pass over in silence the aspersions and vile insinuations which he has heaped against certain Trent correspondents. As for morals we believe his dog slinging has only stained his own hands without spotting honest, genuine, local correspondents. In conclusion permit us to say, Mr. K, please pull down your vest and give us a rest. GUESS WHO. For Sale. Lots in Shelton's and Packard's additions to Eugene City. Mr. Gaiety Matthews, wife and sister, Mrs. S. Keeney, of Mayville, Oregon, were visiting relatives here and at Trent this week. Williams Bros have suspended sawing at their mill. We understand that they intend moving the mill to Silver Lake in the near future. Two men in a certain hop yard could not tell what struck them the other day. Their arguments were very much like those of the "sun do move" theory. "Rusty Pen" seems to be very fond of our town of late; he is trying to clear some of those unpleasant truths that are going the rounds about him. Better work lively, "Old Rusty." The long, delightful Summer days are drawing to a close; the birds in the bushes are singing their evening songs, and the country blooming maidens send out upon the pure, calm air their last simple, pathetic love lays of Summer. C. A. Davis, B. B. Rutledge and J. M. Parker returned from Silver Lake Tuesday. They went expecting to find one of those imaginary places called a paradise on earth and returned with that time out of mind expression: "Old Webfoot is good enough for me." "My horse having taken the dysentery, I was threatened with the G. B. by Dr. D. as I traded my horse for a family carriage."—H. F. K. We would add that this carriage is drawn by a pair of handomely built (?) donkeys, driven by a first-class jehu, the slowest rate of travel being one mile an hour, while the driver's mind goes a commuting every second. The Portland fire boat Veto caught fire early Monday morning and burned to the water's edge. This is the third of fourth time this boat has burned. Let everybody place on exhibition at the County Fair some article of interest. The Fair is deserving of a liberal patronage from the people of Lane county. Johnny Hanson, well known in Eugene, came out $500 poorer by the fire at Corvallis last week. We are pleased to learn that the entire loss was covered by insurance. The Council has wisely ordered the immediate construction of some fire cisterns in the suburbs of the town. The committees on fire and water and streets will locate the same advantageously. A new weekly paper will be started at Salem shortly to be called the Lance; and is devoted to the interest of the Knights of Labor. Workmen commenced tearing down the old St. Charles Hotel building yesterday morning preparatory to the building of the new brick. And thus another old familiar landmark must make way for the new. At the County Fair next week may be expected large crowds of thieves and thugs that will swindle any who may bite at their games. Our officers should promptly arrest any person found running any lottery of confidence game. William Falwell, the man who shot Hank Vaughan a few months since, has been sentenced to the penitentiary for four years, and was taken to Salem last Tuesday. Vaughan, it is said, is likely to die, and in that case Falwell will be reindicted and tried for murder. This year began on Friday, ends on Friday, has fifty-three Fridays, and four of its months have five Fridays apiece. The longest and shortest days are Friday, the moon changes five times on Friday. It is a Friday layout. Of course you are coming to the County Fair next week! A grand exhibition will be given each day from 6 a. m. to 8 p. m., at the great mercantile store of Sam Friendly's, between the employees to test their endurance in selling first-class goods at prices that are usually charged for inferior grades. The exhibition will be worth money to the purchaser. Warden News: Webb Leasure, who was shot on Monday morning by Thos. Foy, is getting along wonderfully well and there now seems to be little doubt of his final recovery. Foy seems to have hidden his tracks closely, as no tidings can be obtained of his movements. ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.—A Smithfield correspondent writing to the GUARD under date of September 10th, 1886, says: Last evening a team stopped at the gate of Mr. Bryant near this place, and was shortly noticed by the woman in the house, but nothing was thought of the matter as Mr. Bryant was working a few yards away across the road heifer it was thought the driver had gone to see him. However in a few moments Mrs. Bryant noticed something moving in the wagon bed, when she ran to it and found Mr. Michael Kime, who lives in the field behind lying therein in an unconscious state. The lady called for help which was responded to at once, and the unfortunate man was carried into the house and an examination made. It was found that he had received a load of buckshot in his left arm, breaking the bone near the shoulder joint. He was very weak, and the only words he spoke was, "Take me home," after which he lived only about one hour. His gun was found in the wagon with one barrel discharged. It is supposed that the lines caught one of the locks of the gun in some unaccountable manner, and the gun was fired thereby. A gentleman heard the report of a gun a few minutes before the team was noticed. The deceased leaves a wife and five children in a needy condition. Mr. Kime was respected by all and his death is sincerely mourned by his neighbors, who sympathize with the widow and orphaned children. HORSE BROKEN.—On Sunday morning last the horse of Scott Wallace, near Long Station, caught fire and burned to the ground with the entire crop raised upon a field of seven acres, which will be in the neighborhood of four thousand pounds. This at the present price of hops will represent considerable loss. The fire is supposed to have originated from the furnace, and was first seen breaking out through the roof. The building, furnace and fixtures were insured for $400, but there was no insurance upon the crop of hops.—Albany Herald. HORSE THIEF.—Last Wednesday evening at about 8:30 o'clock, Mr. Wm. Durant heard a suspicious noise in his barn and at once went there when he found that somebody had opened the barn door and cut the halter of one of his horses and taken it away. He jumped on the remaining animal and rode out past the school house and then returned home. He must have been close upon the thief's tracks, as the horse returned to the barn in a few minutes with every indication of having been ridden. HUMAN SKELETON FOUND.—While workmen were digging a sewer hole in the rear of Mr. Samuel Swift's residence last Thursday afternoon, they came upon a box closely nailed, and at once it ran through their minds probably a fortune was contained in the same. They knocked the top of it off, when to their surprise and consternation, instead of a large amount of money they beheld a well preserved human skeleton. After due consideration the bones were again placed in the box and reburied. The skeleton is generally believed to be that of a man who a number of years ago hanged himself in the county jail, as it is a well known fact that the body of that person was exhumed by several physicians, who have since left here, the night after his burial by the authorities.
