There is great distress among even skilled workmen in London owing to the discharge of employes by many firms. The socialists are advocating a one free meal a day in the boarding schools be given to children who desire it. It appears from a report published by the Daily Telegraph that over 30 per cent. of the children who regularly attended school last winter were there without having had food.

A Desperate Indian.

PUEBLO, COLO.—Mangus Colorow, an Apache chief, in charge of a detachment of colored troops on the way to Florida, attempted to escape near Pueblo. When the train was three miles east of Pueblo and running forty miles an hour, Mangus asked permission to go into the closet, which was granted. As soon as he entered, he locked the door, smashed the glass and leaped through the window.

The train ran nearly a mile before it could be stopped. When it backed up, Mangus was found lying by the side of the track unconscious and badly cut and bruised. Three ribs were broken. He was taken aboard the car and came to his senses, and a desperate fight. One man had slipped out of the manacles leaving them hanging to the other, and he slugged one of the soldiers with it in the face, knocking him down. He then got on the floor, and there under a seat, struggling with half a dozen soldiers and howling.

The rest of the apaches set up a roar, but the coach was guarded by a negro with a cocked carbine. For a while bedlam prevailed. Finally Mangus was stretched across two seats with the bell cord wound around him all up his legs and body.

The sudden death, at San Maria, of the Spanish interpreter, made Mangus sullen, and he took it to heart greatly, which is supposed to have caused his fit of desperation.

Sight People Burned to Death.

LOUISVILLE.—Wm. Poeg, a farmer, went away from home, near Flat Rock, Knox county, Ky., on business, leaving his wife and five young children and two ladies of the neighborhood, Miss Alice Carnes and Sallie Adams. During the night the house burned, and all the inmates perished, and their remains were found next day by the husband on his return. It is not known how the house caught fire, but the mother's remains were found clasping those of her baby, and bed clothing near showed that an effort had been made to extinguish the flames. The remains of the others were found in the ruins.

One man was killed and several others were fatally injured at a fire in New York.

A fire in the Standard mines, near Mount Pleasant, Pa., has thrown 600 men out of work.

Fourteen hundred heirs are ready to begin suit to recover land in Harlem, N. Y., valued at $30,000,000.

One man was killed and three others were injured by the falling of a cage in a shaft of the new aqueduct at New York.

The wife of a carpenter named George Donaldson, who lives in an isolated place near the banks of the Potomac, two or three miles above Georgetown, jumped into the river, with two young children in her arms, and all were drowned.

An engagement between a party of Sioux Indians and Crows occurred between Fort Custer and the Crow reservation in which two Sioux and three Crows were killed, and two of the latter wounded. One of the wounded Sioux before dying said to an officer through an interpreter that he was willing to die, as more of his tribe was coming to avenge him. Large numbers of Crows are said to be coming into the agency in war paint, and serious trouble is anticipated.

ALONG THE COAST.

Devoted Principally to Washington Territory and California.

Capt. J. M. Foley, a miner living near Eureka, Nev., was blown to death by giant powder.

Some very rich quartz ledges bearing free gold in large quantities have been found near Alpine, Cal.

A hotel proprietor at Pasadena, Cal., has purchased thirty-nine burros for the amusement of his younger guests.

Gen. F. A. Walker has declined Senator Leland Stanford's offer of the presidency of the latter's university.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Los Angeles is trying to raise $50,000, with which to raise a building in that city.

The huge carcass of a dead whale stranded in San Leandro bay. It was a blackfin whale, some sixty-five feet in length and thirty feet high.

W. E. Bunce was killed by a permature explosion in the Pinto mine at Stockton, Utah. He was an old Arizona and New Mexico prospector.

J. L. Baker, while riding a log to the sawmill at Bogus, Cal., had his neck broken by the chain giving way and allowing the log to roll over him.

The seines of a single fisherman, near Seattle, recently landed no less than 18,000 salmon. Several hauls were made, the highest single one being 5390.

A Chinese "boss" named Tom Kee has disappeared from San Jose, taking with him, it is said, $1600 which was due to a gang of Chinamen for picking grapes.

A company has been organized which will make a thorough test of the possibility of obtaining artesian water on the dry plains about Winnemucca, Nev.

Thomas Howell, the Southern Pacific Railroad fireman whose legs were so fearfully crushed recently by being run over by a flat car, died at Los Angeles.

Daniel Wilson, while hauling a load of tanbark near Ukiah, Cal., struck a rut in the road, throwing his four-year-old son under the wheels and causing death in a few moments.

The men who robbed the section house at Iron Point, and subsequently robbed one at Dillon, have both been captured and are awaiting examination at Winnemucca, Nev.

Judge Murphy of San Francisco, sentenced Frink Gleichauf to imprisonment for life. Gleichauf was convicted of the murder of Richard Schultz in a brewery last July.

Henry B. Standerwick, well known in journalistic circles all over the coast, died at Santa Clara, Cal., from lung trouble. He was 30 years old, and leaves a wife and one child.

A company with a capital of $100,000 has been organized to build an opera house at San Diego. The permanent title to seats therein is being sold at $500 each, to be chosen by lot.

Oliver Davis, a brakeman on the railroad, was shot in the neck by a trap, at Willows, Cal. He will live, the bullet passing through the muscles of his neck and coming out of his mouth.

Martin Hayden wants $25,000 damages from the Sacramento and Placerville Railroad, because, as is alleged, he was struck by a train and "deprived of his mind." The case is now on trial at Sacramento.

The mackerel caught in Santa Barbara, Cal., channel are said to be superior, when salted, to the Eastern article, and it is probable that a business will be made of catching and preserving those fish.

A customs inspector at Tacoma seized two trunks which he was certain were filled with opium, but after considerable trouble they were opened and found to contain coal specimens, neatly packed in cases.

A man was run over and killed near San Jose by a freight train. He was taken to the morgue, where he was identified as John King, a German Swiss. He had been drinking and did not notice the train as it came along.

The 40-mile section of railroad west of Ellensburg will be finished and ready for inspection by the United States Commissioners by Nov. 15th. The remainder of the line from the 40-mile section to the main tunnel will be finished about December 1st.

Two residents of Berryessa valley, Napa county, Cal., have within the past six months killed twenty-one coyotes and fifty-six wildcats. The farmers and stockgrowers pay $30 each for coyote scalps, so the business may be considered as fairly profitable.

The Pacific Coast Steamship company and the Oregon Navigation have agreed to pay stevedores in their employ at San Francisco $3 per day of nine hours' work, and 40 cents for overtime. The present rate of wages is 30 cents per hour, day or night, and ten hours' work.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF THE SHOULDER BAY MILL COMPANY HAVE BEEN FILED AT SAN FRANCISCO, THE OBJECT BEING TO CARRY ON A LUMBER AND MILLING BUSINESS IN OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY. THE CAPITAL STOCK IS $150,000, ALL OF WHICH HAS BEEN SUBSCRIBED.

Robert Henry, a longshoreman, was shot in the back and badly wounded on board the British bark Persia. The ship was at the wharf of the Tacoma mill, loading with lumber for Valparaiso. John Solder did the shooting. He also beat another man badly with a belyappingin.

The naked body of an unknown man was found in the ocean surf, about eight miles from Colona, Cal. The only clothing on the remains was a pair of gaiter shoes, and stockings marked with red. An inquest was held and the remains taken to Coloma for burial. There were no means of identification.

James Ferry, about 65 years old, committed suicide at a lodging house in Los Angeles by taking strychnine. He left a note saying: "This world has been a hard world for me. I think best to leave it. I have led a temperate and moral life. If there is a hereafter I hope to enjoy it." Deceased was a laboring man.

Two stages from Cherokee to Oroville, Cal., ran into each other. One stage was badly wrecked and three lady passengers were injured. One of them had her head hurt on a rock, one had her chin cut to the bone and the third received a cut six inches long on the head, the skin and flesh being cut through to the bone.

B. McClellan came across a large deer in the road near Santa Rosa, Cal., which was almost exhausted from running. He set his dog upon the deer and followed closely himself. The deer was finally brought to bay, and Mr. McClellan, picking up a large stone, struck the deer in the head, felling it to the ground. Its throat was then cut, and it soon expired.

John Wilson, a well-to-do blacksmith, hired two traps to work in his vineyard at Los Angeles. While one of them talked very entertainingly to Mr. Wilson, his partner slipped up stairs and stole $750 in gold coin which Wilson had laid aside to pay his taxes, and a $60 gold chain belonging to Mrs. Wilson. The pair then strolled out for a walk and have not yet returned.

Robert Evan Sproule was executed at the county jail at Victoria for the murder of Thomas Hammill, on the 3d of June, 1885, on the border of Kootenai lake. There has been a diversity of opinion as to the guilt of the murderer, he having been convicted upon circumstantial evidence. He asserted his innocence to the last. His request that his body be buried on American soil was denied.

Jacob Morris has commenced in the Superior Court of San Francisco against M. J. McDonald and others to recover $20,000 damages for the death of his son, David William Morris. The boy was employed by defendants in their coal mine in Henryville, Coos bay, Or. He was killed by an explosion of gas, caused by failure, it is alleged, of defendants to properly ventilate the mine.

As a freight train was running along near Belgrade, Montana, a young man named Jones, mounted on a lively horse, began running a race with the locomotive. He had not gone far when the horse began bucking most obstinately, and becoming uncontrollable, either jumped or fell backward between the moving cars. Young Jones was cut almost in two across the hips; his legs were cut and broken and his skull crushed.

Joseph Martin, one of the first settlers of Stevens county, W. T., was found dead in his bedroom in the Hallway house, between Chewelah and Colville. Parties coming to the house found the door unlocked, and going in saw the dead body of Martin lying on the floor in a pool of blood. On examination it was found that Martin had been killed by a pistol ball which had passed through his heart. He was dressed only in his night clothes, which were not powder-burned, which disapproves the theory of suicide.

A man found murdered recently six miles north of Coyote station, in Klickitat Co., W. T., has been identified as William Sterling, of Walla Walla. He had been at work all summer on the Cascade branch. He had a good team and $300, and was returning in company with a man named Timmerman. There is strong circumstantial evidence against Timmerman, now in jail at The Dalles. Henry Timmerman formerly lived at Arlington, and bore a good name. He had engaged Sterling to go home with him to break horses.

C. Meyer Zulick, Governor of Arizona, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior, refers to the San Carlos reservation, thus: "It contains 3950 square miles, or 2,528,000 acres of land, well watered and well timbered, most of which is as good as any agricultural land in this territory. Upon this tract are gathered together Yuma, Tonto and White Mountain Apaches about 3500 souls, so that each Indian, male and female, young and old, holds over 700 acres of land. It would be well for congress to parcel out land, giving to each head of family 640 acres, or if this deemed permature, then congress should take measures to reduce the reservation to at least half its present limits." On the subject of desert lands and irrigation, the Governor says: "Arizona contains nearly 114,000 square miles, or about 72,000,000 acres of land. About 18,000,000 acres of land are utilized for stock-raising, and graze nearly 1,000,000 head of cattle, more than a million sheep, besides horses, mules and other domestic animals."
