SATURDAY ..... MARCH 26, 1887.

Senator Hale of Maine has a very good opinion of himself and especially prides himself upon being a connoiseur of tine wines. No matter what the topic of conversation may be, he in town the greater portion of the will invariably lead it up to his "fa- week. mous wine cellar in Maine." At a recent dinner in Washington Senator M. C. Butler, of South Carolina, occupied a seat opposite Hale. Mr. Downing a leading colored man,

The honorable and just course of the President and the manly manner in which so many Democrats have acted in his case will greatly assist the colored independents, who will very soon, all things favoring, adopt the title of independent Democrats. The action of the President will have much to do in aiding the movement to such an end in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The nomination will have the hearty approval of the colored people.

It is the free and ample opportunity of the landless to get land for a song and the comparative sparseness of our population, that keep American wages high, and the general freedom of our institutions that attracts the people of Ireland, England, Germany, Scandinavia, Belgium, Italy, Hungary and Austria to our shores from these heavily-taxed, land-poor, soldier-scourged 4, 1887. countries of Europe. These are the true facts of the economic situation in America, which are absurdly ascribed to the tariff by the political charlataus that plead for extreme protection .- Oregonian.

Eriesson claims that his latest invention, the Destroyer, is capable of sinking to the bottom, the most powerful war vessel in her Majesty's Navy, in fifteen minutes, and that ten such vessels would be sufficient to defend the entire Atlantic scaboard against the combined navies of the world. Whether a boat with such power has been invented matters not; but that invention is constantly at work, and is constantly bringing into human range new and more powerful at the ensuing election to be held on the 1st forces of destruction, which, utilized, render former methods of construction or prolection of no avail, should be borne in mind when men talk about spending vast sums of money on steel forts along the coast.

When a Democratic President and Democratic Senators and members of Congress sent telegrams of sympathy to Mrs Logan no one thought they indorsed Gen. Logan's political views. The belligerent Congregational preachers might learn sense, if not Christian charity from the wicked politicians. - Chicago Mail.
