By this plan the hay is tedded or scattered while it is simply wilted, and we avoid knocking off the the leaves. But if left in the swath till dry enough to rake, the top is so dry that the leaves fall off and the stalks break up, while the bottom of the swath is yet damp and uncured. The use of the tedder enables us to get the clover in much sooner and better. It is a very nice point to decide when the hay is just dry enough to prevent too much heating in the mow. If it is fine it requires a little less airing; if coarse and heavy a little more. All this applies equally to the curing of other grasses, though they are more easily managed and generally ripen later.

Figs.

Figs should be picked when the skin is fully checked, that is to say, when it shows small white seams upon the surface, by which time the fruit has reached its maturity. It must be dried upon trays in the sun. Care should be taken that it is turned over at least once a dav, until the greenish tinge entirely disappears, when the fruit is ready to be taken in doors for packing. While drying the figs should never be left out in the open air after 5 o'clock in the evening, nor should they be exposed to the sun again until all the dew is dispersed in the morning, as the least moisture will entirely spoil their flavor and appearance, and render them unfit for use. Avoid packing windfalls, because they are utterly worthless for commercial purposes and will greatly detract from the value of a whole consignment—perhaps lead to its final rejection. Before packing the figs should be hastily dipped into clean, boiling-hot sea water, to guard against all danger of attack from the worm, so destructive to the fruit; then properly packed and thoroughly pressed in tin cans, hermetically sealed and labeled. In all cases the fig should be left in its natural state and sugar or other confections discarded. These directions must be strictly observed if one wishes to obtain a choice article that will command ready sale and top prices in the market. Even our common black fig, treated according to the above method, will "astonish the natives."

To Make Fowls Lay Well.

Fowls to lay well should have access to raw bones ground or pounded up fine; ground bone being preferable, as there is less waste and is more easily digested and assimilated. If freshly ground, raw bones are more nutritious than when burned. If they can be obtained conveniently, ground or pounded oyster shells are good and economical to feed to laying hens, which, of course, should be fed regularly on good wholesome grains and food, placed in such a way that the birds will have to take plenty of exercise in getting it.

Notes.

In an area embracing less than one-half of the Horse Heaven region, W.T., 2000 acres have been planted with Indian corn this season. The lower Yakima country is proving well adapted to that crop.

A dry piece of ground should be selected in which to build the poultry house. The ground, if well underdrained and prepared by putting on a thick layer of sand and fine gravel, will be much better than a board floor for the fowls.

It is said that a train load 330 cattle, from Cotulla, Texas, which had been fattened on prickly pear and cotton-seed meal, was lately marketed in Chicago. They attracted considerable attention, being the first large lot of cattle ever fed that for market.

Turpentine will kill the scale pests and will not injure the trees in the least to which it is applied. The turpentine should be put on the trees with a brush, just as varnish is applied to furniture, and the results of the application are said to be satisfactory. It is a cheap remedy at all events and is worth while trying.

According the San Francisco Merchant there are now in California at least 4000 wine-growers, and the area planted in vines is not less than 160,000 acres. The value of this land, with the improvements, is not less than $60,000,000. Employment is found for at least 40,000, who, with their families, represent a producing population of 150,000 persons.

The great flow of milk of cows is truly artificial. In a state of nature the cow gives only the necessary quantity, and gives it only the necessary time to sustain the calf. The greater and longer yield of milk is the result of better feeding, better treatment and longer manipulation of the the teats. Hence, to increase the yield of milk, feed and milk well.

The Glenn ranch, in Colusa county, Cal., comprises 52,000 acres, of which 23,000 are in grain this season. Of the 23,000 acres, 14,000 were summer-fallowed and 9000 winter-sown. F. C. Lusk, who has charge is confident that the product this year will be 25 bushels to the acre. There are at present engaged in summer-fallowing 10,000 acres, 80 eight-mule teams, making 640 head of mules at work.

The famous Snoqualmie hop-growers' ranch, at Squak, King county, W.T., is supposed to be the largest in the world. It contains 300 acres of of hops. They have twenty span of horses and mules, a saw-mill which is soon to be run night and day, a logging camp, 100 acres in oats and wheat, and 50 acres of potatoes, etc. They have their own carpenter and blacksmith shops, and they keep a hotel and large store besides, and by next fall will have 800 men in their employ.

AN INTERVIEW WITH DR. PRENTICE OF 626 SUTTER ST., SAN FRANCISCO.

After calling several times at Dr. Prentice's office and finding it thronged with patients, an audience was gained late in the evening with Dr. Prentice at 626 Sutter Street. His offices are centrally located, being on the line of the Sutter Street cable cars. The Doctor appears to be a man of about 40 years of age, not as old as one might expect for a man of his world wide reputation.

"Doctor, it is said that you have consented to remain until the first of June. Is this so?"

"Yes; in compliance with many requests of patients wishing to see me, living at a distance, I have postponed my visit to Europe until the first of June."

"Doctor, many marvelous stories are told about you straightening cross-eyes in less than a minute, and making the blind see as did the disciples of old."

"How many patients have you had during your stay of four months in San Francisco?"

"Well sir, replied the Doctor, without referring to my books, I should say about 2,000."

"Could you cite us some cases of your rapid and marvelous cures?"

"I think the best way would be to demonstrate it to you right now and here."

Whereupon he took me into his operating room, where Miss McNamara of San Rafael, Cal., was waiting to have her eye straightened, which had been crossed all her life. It was a terrible disfigurement to the girl. Without more ado, an assistant, holding the eye open, Dr. Prentice proceeded with the operation. Not a moan nor a sound escaped the patient to indicate that she suffered any pain. After a few dexterous movements, and in less than thirty seconds by the watch, Dr. Prentice said. "It is done; you are cross-eyed no longer." And as I looked her again in the face I could scarcely believe the transformation, for a beautiful girl stood before me, who but a few moments previous wore an ugly cross-eyed expression.

"Doctor, are you ever obliged to use chloroform or ether in your operations?"

"No; I do my work rapidly and easily, and my patients never complain of pain."

"Do you possess or try to exert any magnetic power?"

"I do not try to exert any particular magnetic power. I deal honestly with my patients and trust in providence for the best results and I got them."

"Is your treatment for Diseased Eyes, Catarrh and Deafness different from that persued in this country?"

"Yes; for I do not use any caustics at all, such as nitrate of silver, sulphate of copper, nitric acid and the like. I use the mildest remedies possible, that do not pain the eye at all, and I get quicker and more permanent cures than I ever did with the old harsh treatment."

"Do you treat all diseases?"

"I prefer that only those cases will come to me for treatment who have tried all the other means within their reach and failed to get well. It is such cases that have made me my reputation and I take great pride in them. I do not wish to interfere with the general practitioner and would prefer that ordinary cases should go to him. There are enough so-called incurable cases, to keep me busy, such as catarrh, deafness, piles, fissure and ulcer of the rectum, which I usually cure in one treatment, so that the patient, if living at a distance, can return home in from one to three days. Judge Lindsey, president of the Gainesville National Bank, after all other treatments had failed to cure his piles, was cured in one treatment and returned to his distant home the same day. The cure is always permanent because I remove the Cause."

"And you will positively remain until June the first."

"Yes I think that I will leave June first, and until that time can always be seen at 626 Sutter Street, San Francisco." During this interview the offices became crowded to suffocation with patients, so we were obliged to bid the doctor good evening. We recommend everyone to send a stamp and get Dr. Prentice's journal the "New Idea" which will be mailed free to any address.

THE EFFECTS OF MENTAL EXHAUSTION.

Many diseases, especially those of the nervous system, are the products of daily renewed mental exhaustion. Business avocations often involve an amount of mental wear and tear very prejudicial to physical health, and the professions, if arduously pursued, are no less destructive to brain and nerve tissue. It is one of the most important attributes of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, that it compensates for this undue loss of tissue, and that it imparts new energy to the brain and nerves. The rapidity with which it renews weakened mental energy and physical vitality is remarkable, and shows that its invigorating properties are of the highest order. Besides increasing vital stamina, and counteracting the effects of mental exhaustion, this potential medicine cures and prevents fever and ague, rheumatism, chronic dyspepsia and constipation, kidney and uterine weakness, and other complaints. Physicians also commend it as a medicated stimulant and remedy.

Dr. Pierce's 'Golden Medical Discovery" is the great blood food and blood purifier. It is a sovereign remedy for all diseases due to impoverished blood, consumption, bronchitis, weak lungs, scrofula, influenza, and kindred diseases.

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

The old-style pills! Who does not know
What agony they caused—what woe!
You walked the floor, you groaned, you sighed,
And felt such awful pain inside,
And the next day you felt so weak
You didn't want to move or speak.
Now Pierce's "Pellets" are so mild
They are not dreaded by a child.
They do their work in painless way,
And leave no weakness for next day.
Thus proving what is oft confest
That gentle means are always best.

A fever patient can be made cool and comfortable by frequently sponging off with soda water.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. PIERCE thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is unsurpassed.
