EUGENE CITY, OREGON.

LOVE OR LANDS.

"I bring not houses, lands, or gold, "I bring not houses, lands, or go
To give, sweetheart, to thee;
No richer than I was of old,
Am I to-day," quoth he.
In sooth he looked his poverty,
If ever so did one;
In rays and tatters clad was he.
Bareheaded to the sun!

It was her love of long ago
Who took her outstretched hands;
"If you are he I used to know, I seek not gold or lands.

If you but love me still, sweetheart, I am content," cried she:
"I will share your lowly part,

For I your bride will be

"Then, by my troth, my heart is thine!" Quoth he at her reply; "Though rags and tatters may be mine. No beggar now am I. I'm richer than with gold and lands

The proudest monarche be, With thee for mine, and these two hands To work, sweetheart, for thee -Chambers' Journal.

LILIES AND ROSES.

Why the Former Are Preferred by Some People.

"I know what that means, before Elsie goes," said Ruth Murdoch, as the trim maid set the rolls on the luncheon table, and went off to answer the bell.

"Well, what is it that has turned my daughter into a prophetess?" said the doctor, smiling fondly at Ruth overhis teacup.

"Why, to-night is the night of Daisy Hammond's party, and it's time my flowers appeared.

"Oh, you thought you'd 'temper the wind to the shorn lamb' by making somebody else pay for the bouquet? Well, that was considerate of you,' and Dr. Murdoch crossed the hall and entered his office just as Elsie reappeared with a long white box.

Gentle Mrs. Murdoch leaned on her daughter's shoulder as the girl took off the tissue coverings which protected the dainty blossoms from the January cold. At the bottom of the box lay a ereamy mass of Marechal, Niels, gath-in their first perfection. Mrs. Murdoch listened for Ruth's exclamation of delight, but it did not come. Instead, after a brief look, and a slight but significant smile, the owner of the box elosed it with a bang, and placing it on the table, turned to leave the room.

"Aren't you going to put your roses in water?" called her mother after her. "You may set them in the library, if you choose. I am not going to wear them to night," was the reply; and Rath went upstairs.

Mrs. Murdoch had been educated in the days when whistling was no part of a girl's education, so she simply uttered the good old-time expression of astonishment "Well, I never!" and proceeded to take care of the roses. The trouble was certainly no disappointment as to the sender, for Mrs. Murch had caught a glimpse of the card with the line "Edward Leslie, M. D.," engraved in the center; and only last night she and the doctor had decided that Ruth was becoming too fond of young Ned Leslie. They had no objection to the handsome young fellow who had already gathered the next best practice in town to Dr. Murdoch's; but they were far from ready to give up their only daughter. There had been no chance for a quarrel since Ruth had announced that she and Dr. Leslie were going to this German together, so the situation might well puzzle Mrs. Murdoch's brain.

That the innocent Marechal Niels were themselves the source of the mischief never entered her imagination. But such was really the case, and this is the way it all happened: The night before, Dr. Leslie had called at the Murdochs', and the principal topic of conversation had been the next evening's entertainment. As he rose to go, he had asked Ruth, with a touch of intention in his tone, what color she was to wear to the German.

"Oh, my dress is cream-colored crepe de Chine, and I must have lilies of the valley to go with it," she answered gayly; and since both at home and in Bridgeville society her word was law, she had confidently expected the lilies. Of course, they must be costly in January, and Ned Leslie was not rich like many of the circle in which she moved; but Dr. Murdoch's daughter knew nothing of the practical inconvenience of the lack of money. She was more likely to think that careful expenditures meant meanness-a fault which her generous soul abhorred; and all her liking for young Leslie could not cover the dire fact that he had sent roses when she had asked for lilies.

For a few moments she sat in her easy chair considering the problem; then she donned out-of-door costume and went slowly downstairs. Mrs. Murdoch had a second shock of astonishment when her daughter appeared' at the library door, muffled in sealskin and asked if there were any errands down town.

"I should think," she said, "that you would save up for to-night, instead of going out into the bitter cold. Let me send Dennis for whatever you want.

"Unless you have some wants, I have but one errand, mamma, and Dennis could hardly do that. Goodbye," and the heavy front door slammed behind her.

"That one errand must be a very amusing one," meditated Mrs. Murdoch; "she looked brimful of fun. What she's up to I can't make out,' and she gave a little sigh. Neither was her state of mind much the Crow reservation in Montana.

illuminated when Ruth returned, half an hour later, with a tiny parcel, from which she carefully extracted six sprays of lily of the valley, and put them in

"One, two, three, four, five, six." said her father, who had come in behind her. "Is your allowance played out, Ruthie? I might have advanced you a few cents in consideration of the party." "No, thank you, papa; I am a long way from being insolvent. Since I gave up caramels I am quite a capitalist;" and Ruth vanished to take off her wrap-

That night when she came down stairs dressed for the party the carriage was already there, and Dr. Leslie and the elder physician were in the library talking about endemic fevers. She had brought down several yards of creamcolored ribbon of the width which fashion dictated as the proper one for tying bouquets. Dr. Murdoch looked on wonderingly as he watched Ruth tie the huge bow around the tiny stems of the lilies she had bought in the afternoon. He was about to silently conclude that this was the latest absurdity of feminine fashion, when he eaught sight of Leslie's crimson face, and Ruth's demurely mischievous air.

"Will you take my bouquet, please? I believe I am all ready now," said she, tendering the ridiculous posy to Dr. Leslie. "Good night, papa, or are you going to sit up for me?" and the two people started for the door.

Leslie took the flowers and escorted Miss Murdoch to the carriage. He entered after her, and shut the door with a single bang, instead of the halfdozen usually required by livery vehi-

"Miss Murdoch, where are your roses?" said he quietly as the cab rolled

"I took them back to the florist, and this is what I got for them," was the calm answer; and the lilies were held for a moment in the light from the carriage lamp. "I wanted lilies, and the quantity would make no difference, as every body would know who sent them." There was a very little suppressed triumph in the tone, but tween being executed or passing into otherwise it was perfectly common-the hands of a noted German physician

For a moment or two neither spoke; then Dr. Leslie said slowly: "Except that it would seem that I have been lacking in respect to your wishes, the public mortification would matter very little to me. I wanted to send you the lilies, Miss Murdoch, but they asked twenty dollars for a bunch of respectable size, and this week I have to make the last payment of the money I borrowed for my education. I have struggled hard to free myself from this debt, that I might honorably offer you my love. I ought not to speak of this, but I had to tell you that your slightest wish was dearer to me than life-than all but honor. Why, Miss Murdoch! why, Ruth!" in a changed tone, for the Boston Traveler. girl had burst into passionate tears, "shall I order the cab to drive home?"

"N-o," sobbed Ruth. "I-didn't- Why an Arkansaw Legislator Objects to know - about - those - debts. thought-you-were m-mean and-I'd unoccupied the rest of the way.

more of them.

sound on the question of typhoid."

and a new one, reading "Murdoch & blamed fool." -Arkansaw Traveler. Leslie," was put in its place; and of course, too, when the junior partner, wants to please his wife he brings, not The Wide and Frequently Missinderstood lilies of the valley, but Marechal Niels. —C. F. G., in Demorest's Magazine.

February Earthquakes.

Some of the most severe earthquakes On the 5th of February, 1783, a terrible earthquake took place in Italy and the 20th of February, 1835, an earthquake in Chili, besides effect-Concepcion, knocking down the Cathedral and most of the public buildings. -N. Y. Post.

-The cattlemen are to be driven off

HAWAIIAN LEPERS.

Sugar-King Spreckels Gives Some Facts About the Horrible Discase.

Claus Spreckels, the man who is supposed to own the Hawaiian Islands among other little things, is here, and is one of the most noted men in town. Spreckels is a stout man, with white hair and beard. His most striking feature is his eyes, and such eyes they are. They are gray and blue at times, and seem to look right through you. He speaks with a slight German accent and uses gestures freely to emphasize his remarks. He said to the correspondent: "I am at a loss to understand the apathy of the people of the United States towards the Hawaiian Islands. Naturally in the course of time they would become a part of the domain of this country, and they will, too, if we would only take some interest in the great properties owned by Americans there. It is the most glorious climate in the world. The temperature never varies more than eight degrees and the soil will grow every thing that is known to the earth. The people are splendid pecimens and of excellent disposi-"How about leprosy?"

"I can tell you as much about leprosy s any other man, but really I do not pretend to understand it. The lepers are banished to an island, from whence they are never allowed to return. No body has ever been able to learn how leprosy originated or how it can be cured. It appears in the most curious ways, and leaves men and women untouched who have suffered the greatest exposure. The most striking lastance of this fact is the case of the present Queen of Hawaii. The King is her second husband. Her first husband was a leper, and her two-children by him both died by the horrible disease, and yet she is a perfectly healthy woman. Nobody knows how leprosy is communicated. The most eminent authorities who have looked into the subject contend that it is not contagious. Several years ago a white man was condemned to death for a murder which he had committed. The authorities allowed him to choose befor experimental purposes. The criminal cheerfully chose the latter. He was inoculated time and time again with leprosy, but the disease had no effeet upon him, and to-day he is as healthy a man as there is on the islands. Leprosy does not often attack the white race, for out of the thousands of cases there are to-day only about a half dozen Caucasians. These are facts beyond dispute. In my judgment England will take some very aggressive measures to obtain possession of the islands before many years. The native race is rapidly dying out, and it is a question of a very short time before the country will pass under the control of a foreign power."-Washington Cor.

THIRSTING FOR BLOOD.

the Constitution of His State. the Arkansaw Legislature. Me -teach-you-a-lesson. I do want ber from Duck Bayou-"Mr. Speaker: to-to-" but the sentence was lost in I rise, suh, to ax er question of privithe noise of the cab, and one seat was lege. I have tried to do my duty to my corn-stituents sense I come down When Dr. Leslie met Ruth at the here, an' it makes me mad to be dressing-room door he thought that she projiked with. I see here, suh, that was lovelier than ever, in spite of the the editor of my county paper says that peculiar appearance of her lashes. The I am er fool; yea, er blamed fool. Mr. long ribbon had disappeared, and the Speaker, I put my announcement lilies were tucked in her belt in an art- in that feller's paper an' done ever' ful fashion which did not even faintly thing I could ter he'p him erlong, an' suggest that there should have been now he calls me or blamed fool. I am stitute her way for every body else's willing', not ter say anxious, ter stan' It was a beatific evening for at least my shere uv the abuse that nachully is two of Miss Hammond's guests, and beaped on er body like this, but I don't Her servants are respectful to her bewhen it was over there was another think I'm called upon ter tote more'n happy half-hour in the library with Dr. buy shere. Mr. Speaker, I move you, Murdoch. Ruth related the story of the sub, that the sargeant-at-arms be dililies, and Dr. Leslie told of his hard boy- rected to notify Jim Hanks not ter hood and his student years, how Ruth print his 'temptible sheet no mo'.' had doubled the value of life by asking Speaker—"The Legistature has no for half of the modest income which he such authority." Member—"All right, had finally gained. The doctor laughed | if it hain't, but ef it has, I want the over the first story, but was very soher benefit uy it' an' want ter take this during the second. At the end he ereasion to say that I'm tired uv bein' looked at the carpet, and said huskily: hampered by er constitution that ain't "I don't know that I can do any broad enough, an' I hereby move that thing;" then, with a smile, "Ruthie has the constitution be patched up er little, taken things into her own hands, as an' in the meantime I want ter say that usual, and I — am very glad that you any fellow that whups Jim Hanks befo' the eend uv next week ken git five dol-Of course, after a few months, Dr. lers frum me. I'm ergoin ter make it Murdoch's old sign was taken down, dang'us fur er feller to call me er

FANCY AND IDEAL.

Difference Between the Two

Having a fancy is one thing. Perceiving an ideal is quite another thing. To fancy that one, of whom we know but little, is faultless, or that he is above all ordinary planes of conduct on record have taken place in February. and thought and feeling, is to deceive At Lisbon, on the 26th of February, ourselves, and is to prepare the way 1531, 1,500 houses were destroyed by for a bitter disappointment when the an earthquake and 30,000 persons truth in the case shall fairly be known. buried in the ruins. On the 2d of But to recognize in another the very February, 1703, 5,000 lives were lost highest standards of purpose and enby an earthquake at Aquila, in Italy- deavor of which we have any idea, as purely human standards, is to be instructed and inspired in the direction Sicily, destroying thousands of lives, of those standards; and no disclosure and overthrowing Messina and other of that person's failure to attain to his towns. On the 4th of February, 1797, own evident standards will lower the an earthquake destroyed the whole ideal which he represents to us in precountry between Santa Fe and Panama, senting those ideals. As applied to including Cuzeo and Quito; and it is those toward whom we are attracted, a estimated that on this occasion 40,000 fancy is what we think another to be; people were buried in one second. On an ideal is what we see that another wants to be, and would have us to be. The fancy in such a case is unreal; but ing an immense amount of other the ideal is the realest thing in the damage, almost destroyed the city of world. Where the unreal fancy deceives, the actual ideal inspires. Yet there are those who think that all their (4) to have the conviction published in fancies are ideals; and who finally cease to aspire toward an ideal, be- of his own town, and posted on his pointed them. - S. S. Times.

THE LEBEL RIFLE.

Descriptive Account of the New Arm of the French Army.

The Lebel rifle, as the new arm is called, was invented by Lieutenant-Colonel Lebel, principal of the artillery school at Chalons. Its remarkable qualities are lightness, long range and extraordinary penetrating power. According to the scientific researches of the mathematician, Prof. Hebler, it was supposed that the absolutely perfeet army rifle should be a weapon with a caliber of precisely seven millimeters. The Lebel rifle has not so small a caliber, but offers the nearest approach to it yet made-viz.: Eight millimeters. With this caliber the advantages are: a lighter cartridge; a greater penetrating power, and a much less liability of the missile to be deviated from its course by a strong wind.

The ball is so covered with steel and brass, as to enable it to preserve its form and to follow precisely the grooves of the barrel. Its initial velocity is exactly 100 meters per second greater than that of the Gras rifle. which had an initial velocity of 450 meters, while the Lebel boasts a velocity of 540 meters. It revolves upon itself 5,000 times per second—always traveling point first. At a distance of 1,800 meters its fire is as fatal as within a lesser distance; and as the line of the projectile is almost perfectly straight, extraordinary hits can be made at immense ranges. To obviate the shock of recoil consequent upon so prodigious an expelling force, a special powder has been invented by Colonel Brugere, which detonates progressively without smoke and with comparatively little noise. The shooter feels the weapon push—does not feel a sudden and painful jar. Three wooden shields placed at about twenty-five yards apart were easily pierced in a straight line by one rifleshot—the ball traveling on five hundred meters further without changing its course to strike the outlying target aimed at precisely in the center. The movable breech piece is shorter than in the Gras rifle, but offers a greater resistance and the recoil follows the axis of the weapon. On finding themselves in possession of so extraordinary an arm, it was for some time a question with the military authorities whether or not to adopt it in its simplest form, as the best of single-shot breech loaders. But as Austria is adopting the Manulicher repeater, Italy the Vitali repeater, Germany the Mauser magazine gun, it seemed necessary to make the Lebel a repeater also; as troops armed with a single shot rifle only, however good, would easily become demoralized by the mere conviction that they were face to face with enemies armed with magazine guns .- English Paper,

A TRULY WISE WOMAN.

How a Minneapolis Housekeeper Manages to Keep Her Servants

She pays them liberally and promptly, recognizing the fact, true the world over, that the employer who beats down wages always suffers from the inferior quality of work done, and from lack of terest on the part of the employed.

Having a practical knowledge of the business of housekeeping, she can not be deceived, and knows how to direct the work properly; and, while insisting kindly, but firmly, that it shall be properly performed, she never fails to give a word of praise for all that merits her approval. She never meddles with her servants' particular ways of doing work so long as good results are produced. She doesn't think it necessary to sub-

She never lowers herself by scolding. cause she is respectful to them. No familiarity is tolerated or attempted. The private domestic life of the family is never intruded upon. They have their own apartments, eat by themselves and prefer to do so. And yet the mistress is not unmindful of their physical and mental well-being. She has fitted up a comfortable bedroom, with a good spring bed and toilet necesities, and adjoining, a cozy little sitting-room. with a stove, table, rocking chairs, etc., where they can rest as women need to. And several times a week they are inteaches them to read English, they being Scandinavians.

they have desires for social companionallows them as many church privileges helping them to select their clothing money. and get it made neatly.

"Too much trouble to take for servbe to change servants every six weeks. couldn't be driven away from her .-Minneapolis Tribune.

-The French have devised a short way with fraudulent buttermen. Bythe new law on the subject just passed any one intentionally selling any butter substitute, or any butter mixed with other substance, under the name of butter, is liable (1) to a term of imprisonment from six days to six months; (2) to a fine of from fifty to three thousand francs; (3) to have all his stock of the fraudulent substance confiscated; the papers, and placarded in the market -Boston Transcript.

MISCELLANEOUS.

-Mary Magdalen, the fair sinner with her penitential tears, who has been a favorite theme of the painters for centuries, gave the word "maudlin" to our English vocabulary .- Boston Budget.

-It is said that the streams penetrating the Gogebic iron range near the south shore of Lake Superior are so black with discoloration from the ore that fish can not live in them.

-Geranium green is a new color that seems to have found immediate favor. It is said to be "trying," but nobody will care very much about that so long as it is fashionable. - Chicago Mail. -A professional palmist says a person can never tell a lie with his hand shut. We know people who can tell a lie with both hands shut and tied behind their backs. Go to, palmist!-Chicago

-A man can "get high" by going to Denver. It is 5,175 feet above the sea level, and the highest State capital in the Union. Annapolis, Md., is the lowest, being just four feet above the

-A Missouri sheriff went home in disguise in the evening to see if his wife would scare. She fired three shots at him so promptly that he dropped his experiment and began looking for the end of one of his fingers.

-A Cateago Woman who was attacked by a desperate highwayman and robbed ran after him, captured him and turned him over to the police. This is indeed a feat which every Chicago woman ought to be proud of.

- cleard in society: 116-"1 beg your pardon, miss, but I don't admire your last name." She-"Great heavens, man, haven't I done every thing in my power to change it? Must I knock a man down with a club?"-Washington

-The number of dwellings in Jerusalem has doubled in twenty-five years, the schools are open five days a week, and Paris fashions are common. Street railways run past Queen Anne cottages. Bethlehem has had its streets repayed. Nazareth is a good oil market. There is considerable activity in real estate around Mount Carmel and Jaffa.

-Such things still happen in Mississippi, it appears, as whipping negroes to death, for at a place called Kosciusko the mayor has bound over four white men for that business, and held four others to bail. Strong influence was brought to bear to prevent a prosecution, but it has no effect upon the officers, who are determined to put a stop to this species of lawlessness.

-William Schaefer, a farmer near St. Louis, had in mind to fell a large elm on his land, when he met some city sportsmen out after rabbits. He made fun of such small game, and said that coons were the things to hunt. They wanted to know where coons could be found. He told of a nest in the big elm. Thereupon the St. Louis boys borrowed axes and went at the tree. They cut it down, encouraged by Mr. Schaefer, who seemed greatly surprised that no coons were found.

-Mrs. Lina Swaffield, of Beverly, Mass., who has recently been taken to Florida by her husband, who hopes that change of scene and climate will restore her to sanity, is the victim of a practical joke. A few weeks ago her husband joined a hunting party. On the way home one of the party hurried in advance and told Mrs. Swaffield that her husband had been shot and killed. She fainted, remained unconscious for several hours, and when she regained consciousness was insane. - Boston Herald,

-A farmer's daughter during the rage for albums handed to Willis Gaylord Clarke, an American poet, an old account book ruled for pounds, shillings and pence, and requested a contribution. He happily utilized the columns as fol-

This world's a scene as dark as Styx Where hope is scurce worth.
Our joys are borne so fleeting hence.
That they are dear at.
And yet to stay here most are willing 18 Although they may not have -Pall Mall Gazette.

HOW A COLORED BOY BECAME RICH.

Of course a majority of our citizens are opposed to gambling, but there is by dentists." vited to the family sitting-room for considerable pleasure when you try it half an hour in the evening, where she to know that you are going to play a game that is fair. Clifford J. Tweedy, the colored boy who was the lucky She realizes that, as human beings, holder of the one-tenth of ticket 23, 899 - the second capital prize of ship, and allows them to have a rea- $50,000-received about a week ago sonable amount of company. She his one-tenth, or $5,000, and our readers would perhaps like to know someas possible, and gives them a street-car thing of this colored boy's life, and fare once or twice a week. She takes how he won the prize, and what he a kindly personal interest in them, has done and intends doing with his Clifford is a likely colored boy, about twenty-one or twenty-two years of age ants," is it? Well, perhaps it is; and and was raised by Mr. Henry T. Peay, yet she contrives to do it in the inter- with whom he has been for the past vals of a busy life. She says that it sixteen years. At the time of his isn't a quarter the trouble that it would drawing the $5,000 he was in the employ of Mr. Peay, getting $8 per Those girls love her, and look up to month. He has retained his position her, and work faithfully for her, and with Mr. Peay, and does his work as faithfully as ever.

After receiving his $5,000 he deposited $4,000 in the Georgia Railroad Bank, and took $1,000 and divided a portion of it amongst his poor colored relations. Be it to his credit too, he did not forget his employer, Mr. Peay, to whom he gave a present of fifty dollars.

He says with the four thousand dollars that he has deposited in the Georgia Railroad he intends to buy Augusta real estate, another sign that he has a level head. In answer to the question how much he had invested before winning, he replied that he had bought a ticket regularly every month for the cause a fancy has so many times disap. house and shop, all at his own expense. teenth dollar that did the work.—Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, April 30.

HOME AND FARM.

-Leave plenty of potato to your potato-eye if you want strong plants.

-Nobody has seen ground harrowed too much as a preparation for wheat for it is hardly possible to get too fine tilth.

-Windows and mirrors can be made to shine without long polishing, if after being washed in hot soapsuds they are rubbed dry with a newspaper.

-Graham Podding: Two cups of graham flour, one cup of molasses, one cup sweet milk, one cup chopped raisins, two teaspoonfuls soda. Steam three hours. -Boston Post,

-To take spots of paint from woods lay a thick coating of lime and soda mixed over it, letting it stay twentyfour hours, then wash off with warm water, and the spot will disappear.

-Bees in their search for honey visit only one kind of flower on the same trip. This is not accidental, but it is a wise provision for preventing hybridization of different varieties from pollen which bees always distribute in their journey from flower to flower .- Chicago Journal.

-The Indian plan of saving seed. corn is to select the finest full-ripened ears at husking time, leaving husks enough on the ears so two ears may be tied together, when they are strung up over poles in the lodge, and when fully dry, before freezing weather sets in, it is stacked in a small pit on a sandy ridge and covered secure from wet during the winter.

-Hominy Fritters: Take two teacups of hominy, stir a small cup of sweet milk and a little salt with it, and one egg, four tablespoonfuls of flour, with half a teaspoonful of baking powder. Have your frying-pan ready with the fat hot on it; drop the batter by spoonfuls, and fry a delicate brown .-

Good Housekeeping. -Mixing lime with any kind of manure will cause decomposition quickly. but at the loss of the volatile matter. It will not be beneficial to use lime with manure, except when about to apply the manure to the land, for then the soil, which is usually damp, will arrest the escape of ammonia, especially if the manure be harrowed in or well incorporated with the soil .- Trov

-Cinnamon Rolls: Take a piece of bread dough ready to make into loaves, roll to about half an inch thickness, spread with butter, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, roll up and cut like roll jelly cake, place in a greased tin and let it rise. Before putting it in the oven, put a small piece of butter, and a little sugar and cinnamon on each .-The Household.

-As a protection to trees against mice, rabbits, borers, etc., a screen made of common window wire is recommended. The wire is cut into strips about six inches wide across the end of the roll (which is usually about two feet in width), and the strips wound around a broom-handle. When placed around trees the spring of the wire holds them in place, and they do not bind the trees. -Albany Journal.

- the brain of the late Prof. Edward Olney, of the Michigan University, weighed sixty-one ounces. The average normal weight of the human brain is forty-nine ounces, while the majority of intellectual men go a little above that figure.

-George Westinghouse, of Pittsburgh, Pa., patentee of the famous airbrake and many other valuable inventions, has manufacturing establishments in England, France and Germany and employs nearly four thousand men. He is a native of Schenectady, N. Y., and a graduate of Cornell-

-An enthusiastic New York dentist recently said in an address that if all the workers in woods, metals and clays. molders, porcelain workers and decorators, painters and sculptors, "were suddenly and simultaneously destroyed, those arts would not be lost, for in the ranks of the dentists could be found experts in every one of them; and if in the same grand catastrophe all the scientists of certain classes were cut off the same sciences could be fully taught

'I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to de so. "Rev. James M. Bollins, "Pastor M. E.Church, So. Fairfield, Va."

TIME AND DOCTORS' BILLS SAVED OU always keeping Simmons Liver Regulator in the house.

> "I have found Simmons Liver Regulator the best family med-icine I ever used for anything that may happen, have used it n Indigestion, Colic, Diarrham. Billiousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if, on going to bed, I take about a teaspoonful, I never feel the effects of

> > "OVID G. SPARKS. "Ex-Mayor Macon, Ga."

AS ONLY GENUINE GE Has our Z Stamp on front of Wrapper J. H. Zeilin & Co., Sole Proprietors, Price, $1.00. PHILADELPHIA, PA.