IMPROVING THE O. & C. ROADS.—Orders have been issued for the construction of a Howe Truss bridge across the Luckiamute river, on the west side railroad, and the admaster Happersett has already commenced building the false work therefor. The present bridge was built some nine years since, but is now showing signs of decay. The bridges on the road built about the same time were boarded and battened and fixed, and the timber in them is as sound when put there. The new bridge is to be strong enough to support any kind of a locomotive, and it is not necessary to say will be covered. The steam shovel so long in use on the west side road was yesterday transferred to the east side and will be taken to Astoria, to be used in improving the road in that vicinity.—Oregonian.

STATE DENTAL BOARD.—The board of state dental examiners, consisting of S. J. Barber, Welch, N. B. Cox and J. R. Cardwell, met today evening at Dr. Welch's office in Portland and elected officers as follows: Dr. R. Cardwell, chairman; N. B. Cox, secretary and treasurer. Books of registration are opened. All dentists in practice in this state at the time of the passage of the act creating the board, February 23d, are required to send in the registration fee of $2.50 and register their names, and all coming into the state subsequent to that time are required to appear before the board for examination and registration, failing which they are liable to a fine of from $50 to $80 for each offense.

A DEAD GIVE AWAY.—The greatest give away to a business man is to receive a letter the heading of which is printed with a cheap ink rubber stamp, and only about half of the letters can be seen. It shows that the sender is going on a cheap basis, and cannot afford the difference between a well printed letter head, turned out by his home printer, and the help to support him, and a cheap, red ink rubber stamp, sold to him by a firm that cares nothing for him, after they get his money, and never will patronize him a dollar's worth in the world.

Agricultural Machinery.

Robinson & Church desire to inform the people of Lane county, that they have the largest stock of agricultural machinery ever shipped to Lane county, consisting of mowers, hay rakes, wagons, hoes, buggies, crushers, binders, headers, plows and in fact everything in the agricultural line. Also full stock of hardware. They will sell as low as the lowest. Call at their store and get prices. Don't Believe It When told that F. M. Wilkins, the druggist, is not selling "Wisdom's Robotine" for the complexion, the most elegant and only really successful preparation of its kind in the world, and giving a beautiful picture card with every bottle. FOR SALE.—A lot of nice show-cases, as good as new, at E. B. LOCKY & Co's.

A STRANGE DISCOVERY. THE WONDERFUL MAGNIFYING POWER OF ICE IN A WASHINGTON TERRITORY MOUNTAIN.

Recently a party of gentlemen, comprised of Walter Marston, Ed. Post, Charles Kennedy, V. Sam Fulton and Elijah Smith, left this city for the coal banks located about 20 miles from Trout Lake, Washington Territory. The third night out they camped near the famous ice caves in that vicinity, and not being pressed for time the party resolved to explore them. A half mile distant from the caves is a large fissure through the basalt. Kennedy said that he had visited the spot last summer in company with Dr. Miller, at which time the fissure was, in places, filled with ice, and in others open to an unfathomable depth. Now comes an almost incredible phase of the party's exploration. "Early in the succeeding morning," to relate the adventure in the language of a member of the party, "Kennedy and I found the fissure so elaborately described by him the preceding night, it being completely filled with ice of singular clearness, presenting a surface of gentle undulations, appearing much as if the Pacific ocean near Panama had been instantaneously frozen over. We traveled several hundred yards along the edge of the fissure, admiring the prismatic rays reflected from its surface, when I was startled by a sudden cry from Kennedy, who was intensely excited. I approached him, impressed that he had become insane. He had dropped on his hands and knees, and with an abnormal expression depicted upon his face his eyes were intently staring into the crystalline depths. "Following his wild gaze, I beheld at an apparent depth of twenty feet the face and shoulders of a gigantic woman, with wide open eyes, and a beautiful complexion. The face, as near as I could judge, was well proportioned, the nose somewhat retroussé. Her gown, or what we could see of it, about the neck and shoulders, was constructed of rich material. The rest of the body was indistinct, owing to some flaw in the ice. The face seemed about six feet in length, the features appearing strangely familiar. "Nothing was said of this discovery till the next morning, when all visited the enormous fissure, taking with us a crude mining outfit, and resolved to dig the woman out of the ice. The first day we reached a depth of fourteen feet, but were determined to recover the huge well preserved corpse the next day. "That night we pondered upon how the woman got there, and when. Did she belong to a pre-historic race? But, then, her attire was so much like that of the present day. However, who knows but what she was contemporaneous with the mastodon, whose bones tell us of their pre-historic existence in the northwest. We all tried to sleep, but in vain, so excited were we, and we set smoking about the camp-fire all that blessed night, speculating as to what the next day's research might bring forth. "At the first streak of daylight labor was resumed, but we had to work cautiously, as the fine ice had obscured the body from our view. By noon a depth of twenty-one feet had been attained and Fulton relieved me, taking his turn in the ice shaft. "About 3 o'clock Kennedy, who had been remarkably quiet while at work, requested to be hauled up. When he reached the surface he placed a piece of ice, a foot square, at his feet; then he threw himself upon the ground, rolling over and over in the most alarming and hysterical manner. In reply to my anxious appeal to him for an explanation of his strange conduct he only pointed to the chunk of ice he brought up. Examining it I saw a piece of cardboard imbedded in it, which proved, on one side, to be an advertising card, with the picture of a beautiful woman on it, and bearing at the bottom the following legend: "Use Wisdom's Robotine for the complexion, the most delightful toilet article ever produced." "How did it get there? Perhaps thrown in last summer by some tourist, covered by the winter's ice, and costing five men two days' work to recover, simply because the ice, by its varying density and peculiar shape, had magnified the picture a hundred fold and lent it a natural appearance.

A BRIGHTER FUTURE.—Employees of the O. & C. R. claim that travel is increasing on that road overland from California. In about two months the road will be completed, when the tide of immigration that has heretofore crowded Southern California will be turned in this direction. Southern California cannot always have a boom. The superior advantages of Oregon will surely attract the tide of immigration. People will soon become tired of paying exorbitant prices for barren sand lots boomed to extinction by land sharks and speculators. We need only to prepare for the coming boom to derive all benefits therefrom. Our land speculators should not prepare to fleece the coming immigration, but give them every encouragement to establish their homes amongst us.

RESIGNED.—James Lotan, who has for some years been United States inspector of boilers for this district, with headquarters at Portland, has tendered his resignation, which will no doubt be accepted. Both members of the local board of inspectors of boilers and hails are appointed by the judge of the U. S. court, the collector of customs, and the supervising inspector. Within the past week President Cleveland has appointed a new collector, Mr. Abraham, and a new inspector, Mr. Bemis. Seeing that a new deal was about to be consummated, Mr. Lotan took time by the traditional foretop and resigned. A successor will probably not be appointed for some time, not at least, until the new customs collector and supervising inspector take formal possession of their offices.

OFFICERS ELECTED.—The grand lodge of Good Templars, in session in Salem June 22, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Chief Templar, W. G. Simpson; counselor, T. B. Handley; vice templar, C. A. Barnes; secretary, W. S. James; assistant secretary, W. T. Riches; treasurer, J. H. Lambert; superintendent of juvenile work, Edith Weathered; guard, Izona Akers; sentinel, J. S. Jackson; marshal, W. T. Holston; deputy marshal, Nellie Hibbard; chaplain, E. Rasmus; messenger, N. T. Wiley. East Portland was selected as the place of holding the next grand lodge session.

CELEBRATION AT FLORENCE.—The citizens of Florence and vicinity will celebrate the coming Fourth of July in an appropriate manner. Officers—President, W. A. Cox; marshal, W. W. Neesley; orator, Hon. L. Bilyeu; reader, A. R. Butolph. There will be a grand excursion given from the head of tide to Florence on the steamer. Basket dinner will be served on the beach, after which many amusing games will be indulged in. A grand ball will be given on the evening of the Fourth. Everybody is invited to participate in the celebration.

The click of the mower is now heard throughout the land. Sladden & Son are daily receiving fresh fruits and vegetables. Sladden & son are paying cash for chickens, eggs, butter and other produce. 500,000 pounds of wool wanted by J. M. Hendricks. Call and see him before selling. For lawn mowers and ice cream freezers, etc. go to CHAMBERS & SON. Mr. John Cochran has been appointed a Justice of the Peace for Willamette precinct. The conductors state that the travel on the Eugene express train is steadily increasing. The militia company will appear in the parade on the Fourth of July in full uniform. Five immigrant wagons arrived here Wednesday from Missouri. They were bound for Siuslaw. 67,000 pounds of sugar have been shipped to Eugene by Sladden & Son since April last, 1887.

Mr. R. G. Callison has resigned his position in Matlock's store, and is now running a wood saw. The Republicans cornered the city election in Portland last Monday. Little interest was manifested. The fire works here on the Fourth of July will be immense. Everybody should come and witness the exploding. Mr. R. G. Callison, yesterday while running a steam wood saw, had two of his fingers cut by the saw. Nothing serious. Lambert & Henderson are the sole agents for the celebrated Superior stoves. Take your wife and look at them. Rev. L. D. Driver, of East Portland, preached at the M. E. church last Sunday to large and appreciative audiences. During the past thirty days, we are informed over 2,000,000 gallons of water have been pumped into the Water Company's reservoir. Every purchaser, for the next thirty days, of $15 worth of merchandise from Simon, the clothier, will receive a handsome watch free of charge. The California express train going north now passes Eugene at 4:45 a. m., instead of 4:05 as formerly. All other trains run on the old time. The parade given by the band and E. H. & L. Co. Saturday evening was witnessed by a large audience. The uniforms of the band were complimented by all. Dentistry is the science and art of saving and substituting teeth. Dr. Henderson makes the subject a special study and performs his operations in the most skillful manner. Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier is the great conqueror of Biliousness and Liver complaint. Relief certain in every case. Sold at One Dollar a bottle. Try it. Having established connection with California agents I am now prepared to give my patrons the benefit of the very best medium for selling real estate ever offered there. Geo. M. MILLER. Charles Baker being sole proprietor, all accounts due Baker's Hotel will be collected by him, and all claims against said institution will be paid by Mr. Baker. S. SMED, CHAS. BAKER.

One of the best things that Sam Jones has ever said concerning temporariness, is the following: "The most beautiful sight in the world is to see a family around a cheerful fire with the head of the group reading his local newspaper which he has paid for in advance." Corvallis Gazette: A warehouse man in this place offers to pay 75 cents per bushel for wheat for the next three years and pay money down in advance. He is one of the shrewdest, and also conservative, buyers in the valley, and is not making this offer for fun. He sees money in it. A little child of Mr. Johnson, proprietor of the Ninth Street store, was hooked by a vicious cow last Monday, and knocked senseless. The child was rescued by Mrs. F. E. Dunn and George Smith, or else it might have been killed. At last accounts the child had almost recovered. J. Q. Vaughan, uncle of Hank Vaughan, of Lane county, whose arrival here was notified last week, has entered into partnership with Hank and have leased a large tract of land from the Umatilla Indians, which they will immediately fence and farm.—Centervilleian. A youth named Hubbard, aged about 18 years, was drowned in the mill pond at Milwaukie Sunday. In company with a number of boys and young men he was bathing, and in diving met with some accident that must have disabled him, for he never came to the surface after the fatal plunge. Kelly, the Polk county wife murderer, continues to answer "I don't know," to all inquiries as to what made him commit the brutal and cowardly deed. The Temizer says: The sheriff and fourteen deputies escorted him from his father's house to jail, a strong guard being considered necessary in order to prevent the capture and lynching of the prisoner. His condition is gradually improving. The past two days he ate a little, and the prospects are good for his ultimate recovery. He is guarded day and night.

A San Francisco dispatch of June 21st says: "Referring to an article published in this morning's Chronicle on the Oregon Pacific railroad that paper says editorially: 'The fact that the Oregon Pacific Railroad Company has secured $10,000,000, has a large force of men at work, and is pushing for Boise City, I. T., eastward for which point the Chicago & Northwestern is building through Wyoming westward, is tangible proof that this city is to be blessed with another new transcontinental line at an early day.'

Private boxes at Ditchburn's. A camp of gypsies is located near town. If you want a good meal go to Ditchburn's. Mr. D. E. Rice visited Portland this week. Meals cooked to order at Ditchburn's on short notice. A new roof is being put on Winter's photograph gallery. Mr. J. D. Matlock intends having his store cemented before long. On and after July 1st semi-weekly trips will be made on the Florence mail route. The thermometer last Tuesday registered 87 degrees in the shade; Wednesday 85 degrees. Mr. Vaughan gets the house and barn and orchard. Mr. S. M. Yoran, Thursday evening, while picking cherries, fell from a step-ladder, severely bruising the right shoulder joint. He will be confined to his room probably for a few days. Mr. John Moore, who stopping at the farm of Mr. J. D. Hampton, some miles above here, is we are sorry to learn, lying very low from paralysis. His many friends hope that he may yet recover, but it seems hardly possible. Conductor Frank Guthrie has been ordered to the southern division of the O. & C. R. He will be absent ten or twelve days, when he will resume his old position on the Eugene express. During his absence, Mr. Fernell will fill the position vacated.

Springfield Items.

June 21, 1887. Items scarce. We noticed the smiling countenance of Mr. Ben. Dorris of Eugene in our town one day last week. Uncle Joe Eaton didn't move to Goshen to-day as he expected, on account of the continued illness of his wife. B. J. Pengra started last week for his home in Eastern Oregon. Mr. John Churchill accompanying him as far as the summit of the mountains. A Mr. Root came in from Eastern Oregon last week via the McKenzie route. Mr. R. informed us that he encountered about fifteen miles of snow. Pengra, Wheeler & Co. lost a number of saw logs last week by the boom breaking at the head of the race. The Co. will be ready for business in a few days. The mill has been idle for some time on account of the supply of logs being exhausted. The Second Assistant Postmaster General refused to furnish us our daily mail because the lowest bid was fourteen dollars higher than the original contract. Two trips are made in the night the train passing here at 4 a. m. and 10 p. m., but the citizens have contrived the deficiency. The people of Springfield and vicinity will have a grand picnic on the Fourth at the beautiful picnic grounds situated about one mile south of this place near the road leading to Pleasant Hill, a basket dinner will be served on the grounds. A suitable speaker and other necessary arrangements have been made that will guarantee success. Those wishing to free themselves from an over-crowded city would do well to attend.

RAMBLER.

Florence Items. June 21, 1887. Two new buildings going up in Acme. Mr. W. A. Cox went to Eugene last week. The weather has been very warm here for a few days. Mrs. Stratton and son will leave for California to-morrow. Mrs. Ball, who has been visiting for a few weeks with Mrs. Young, expects to leave next Thursday. Mrs. Safley is having some work done on her hotel; making more bedrooms up stairs, and painting the rooms below. The Ross Olsen came in June 10th, discharged her cargo, a canning outfit, and went out the following Monday. The neat residence of Mr. Young, up the river, is almost completed. The Siuslaw will present quite a different appearance when the old buildings which now line the banks are replaced by pretty little cottages. The Mary Hall brought down a scow load of cattle from the head of tide to-day, for Mr. Schultz, who has a claim back of Florence near the lakes. Arrangements have been completed for the celebration of the Fourth as follows: The steamer Mary Hall will go to head of tide on the evening of the third, and bring down the following morning any or all wishing to come from different points along the river. On arriving at Florence, all will proceed to the grove, a short distance below, where a short program will be rendered, followed by a picnic dinner. In the afternoon there will be an opportunity for those wishing to do so, to take an excursion by steamer to the mouth of the river, thence by team up the beach to the cape. The day's "disipation" will end with a ball at Florence. ELLA.

A Card.

The public is hereby informed that the personal reference concerning the trotting race attached to the posters containing the programme for the July races was appended by Mr. A. C. Brown, who alone is responsible for the same. The Lane county Agricultural Society does not concern itself in the stock business and has no personal spite to gratify. This statement is made in justice to ourselves and to place the responsibility where it properly belongs. LANE CO. AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY. June 23, 1887.

AN ACCIDENT.—Last Thursday about noon, Mr. Wm. Blanton, Sr., was kicked by a horse, at his farm south of here, on the right side of the collar bone and arm, which threw him down a steep decline, alighting on his head. He was knocked unconscious and laid senseless. We are pleased to announce that he has so far recovered as to be able to be about.

FOR SALE.—150 lots in all parts of Eugene City with and without houses. Prices to suit. GEO. M. MILLER.

Correspondence.

OMHO, Lane Co., Or., June 16, '87. EDITOR GUARD.—A Mr. Hutchinson, who has located a farm on Conger prairie, on the Siuslaw river, eight miles below the falls and eighteen miles from the school house on the old state road, in the Siuslaw valley, says that a good road can be made to the Siuslaw bay on a point terminating about eight miles below the head of tide water, and beginning on a point above Conger prairie. It will follow up the point at the beginning to the divide between the Siuslaw river and Smith river and will take its course down a point to tide water. He claims that the distance will be less than 20 miles from Conger prairie, or 38 miles from the state road. Mr. Hutchinson says it will be shorter and far better than the new road via Hall prairie and will open up a large body of productive land for settlement. Mr. H. has resided on Conger prairie about four years and is a mountaineer, so that his opinion has weight, as he has made a number of trips through the country spoken of. Should a good road prove practicable it will be of great advantage to this upper part of the Siuslaw valley. We have a good county road down the valley 12 miles, and a trail passable for wagons to Conger prairie six miles below, from this point to where the new road to water hits the Siuslaw river, a distance of about twelve miles, there is no trail, and for a distance on the river bottom of about 18 miles there are only two locations. In this distance there are several large deadenings of several thousand acres, also some stretches of fine timber. There is probably no larger body of wild unclaimed bottom land on the west slope of the Cascade mountains. On Smith river a few miles west is land in similar condition, but not so easily reached. This country should be settled by a colony, but if a good road could be made, this now unknown and unclaimed land would soon be settled the same as the country through which the new road passes. The bottoms are wider than they are further down. In this vicinity the river is sluggish and full of jams. With the proper use of dynamite and a large settlement, we may have an open river for our fine timber. This will follow if we can get a good road. The trade of this country is divided between Cottage Grove and Eugene. The distance from Eugene, according to Mr. Hutchinson's estimate, would be about 60 miles; from Cottage Grove about 60 miles, and about 60 miles from Drain Station to tide water. JOHN O'BRIEN.

The Saunders Trial. A Salem dispatch of the 18th says: The jury in the Saunders case came in at 10 o'clock this morning and returned a verdict of murder in the second degree after 48 hours deliberation. The jury was evidently divided between a verdict of murder in the first and second degree. LATZ—On motion of counsel for defendant, the court has set aside the order directing the defendant to appear for sentence on Tuesday, June 21st, and granted his attorneys until Wednesday the 22d, at 2 p. m., to prepare and present a motion for a new trial. The verdict is a compromise one, the jury having stood six for murder in the first degree and six for the verdict at length agreed upon, from the moment they entered their room for consultation, until the above result is arrived at. The court has no discretionary power in pronouncing the sentence. The penalty in imprisonment for life unless a new trial is granted, which is not likely. W. W. Saunders was this morning sentenced by Judge Boise to imprisonment in the penitentiary for life, his attorneys having decided to accept the verdict of the jury and not to make a motion for a new trial. Saunders appeared considerably dejected, and bore up well during the sentence, having made up his mind to submit calmly to the worst. When asked if he had anything to say, he said to the judge: "I believe you have no discretion in the matter of the sentence," and Judge Boise answered, "I have not," whereupon Saunders rejoined: "Under the circumstances I have nothing to say," and sentence was passed. Saunders manifested no noticeable emotion until he separated from the sheriff and deputy at the penitentiary, whither he was taken in the afternoon. Then he broke completely down and his utterance in trying to say farewell failed him. He begins work in the dining department of the prison to-morrow.—Salem dispatch, June 22.

RIP VAN WINKLE ON THE MANUFACTURE OF CLOTHING.

Washington Irving tells us how hard gold old Rip rubbed his eyes when he saw in the swinging sign over the old fantastic tavern King George III. in royal pomp and dignity supplanted by our modest George in his three cornered cockade. Rip has again awakened from a twenty years sleep. He has seen nothing of the clothing manufactured since 1867 and it took us quite as long to convince him that the clothing manufacture of 1887 was really clothing manufacture. In 1867 our machine entered into the process of converting cloth into clothing; Today no less than eight machines are found indispensable in every progressive workshop. The goods in piece require examining, sponging and folding, and then the cutting machine with its iron arm cuts nine hundred darts ready for the sewing-machine, and to help the sewing-machine complete the tailoring of the garment, busting, button and pressing machines are all at hand. With all these manifold changes the house that manufactures our clothing have kept pace and in consequence labor has been saved, and where labor has been saved money is saved, which will allow us to sell you finer clothes at less prices than any other house in Eugene by calling at our store and looking through our stock and getting prices will well repay a visit. H. S. SIMON, Huffman House Block opposite Post Office, Eugene.

THE SAUNDERS TRIAL.

A Salem dispatch of the 18th says: The jury in the Saunders case came in at 10 o'clock this morning and returned a verdict of murder in the second degree after 48 hours deliberation. The jury was evidently divided between a verdict of murder in the first and second degree. LATZ—On motion of counsel for defendant, the court has set aside the order directing the defendant to appear for sentence on Tuesday, June 21st, and granted his attorneys until Wednesday the 22d, at 2 p. m., to prepare and present a motion for a new trial. The verdict is a compromise one, the jury having stood six for murder in the first degree and six for the verdict at length agreed upon, from the moment they entered their room for consultation, until the above result is arrived at. The court has no discretionary power in pronouncing the sentence. The penalty in imprisonment for life unless a new trial is granted, which is not likely. W. W. Saunders was this morning sentenced by Judge Boise to imprisonment in the penitentiary for life, his attorneys having decided to accept the verdict of the jury and not to make a motion for a new trial. Saunders appeared considerably dejected, and bore up well during the sentence, having made up his mind to submit calmly to the worst. When asked if he had anything to say, he said to the judge: "I believe you have no discretion in the matter of the sentence," and Judge Boise answered, "I have not," whereupon Saunders rejoined: "Under the circumstances I have nothing to say," and sentence was passed. Saunders manifested no noticeable emotion until he separated from the sheriff and deputy at the penitentiary, whither he was taken in the afternoon. Then he broke completely down and his utterance in trying to say farewell failed him. He begins work in the dining department of the prison to-morrow.—Salem dispatch, June 22.
