BEN HOLLADAY'S LAST WORDS.—Ben Holladay's last words were "I suppose I will have to die." For several days preceding his death his mind wandered and he said many things, but the above remark was the last coherent one heard by Sister Mary, who attended him at St. Vincent's hospital. He seemed to know what was going on about him, but was unable to speak. He died an earnest Catholic and when possessed of the power of speech reminded Sister Mary when the time for repeating the usual prayers came.

Springfield Items.

August 19, 1887. Items scarce this week. J. J. Poll is treating his buggy to a new coat of paint. Mr. T. D. Edwards has taken a relapse and is again confined to his room. Mrs. Alex. Matthews of Eugene was a guest of Mrs. Wm. Laird one day this week. Miss Edna Christian came up from Eugene last Monday to visit her sister, Mrs. Susan Maxwell. Mr. John Kelly thrashed the grain from a 50 acre field this week which averaged over 20 bushels per acre. Mrs. Lyne who has been sick for some time is slowly recovering. Her many friends hope for her early restoration to health. A United Brethren minister organized a church of that denomination at this place last Friday evening with a small membership. We are pleased to note the fact that Mr. Wyant has been successful in securing his pension; he will receive about $900 back pay and $50 per month during the remainder of his life. Mr. Holcomb, who went to Eastern Oregon and W. T., about two months since, returned home on last Sunday evening thoroughly satisfied to remain in the valley. He says Webfoot is good enough for him. RAMBLER.

A VISION.

A careworn man slowly wended his way homeward, pondering over the problem of existence, and wondering how he should supply his many needs. Suddenly there appeared floating in the air above him and just out of his reach a vision of a "Pointing Hand." Shocked and startled, he instinctively passed his hand over his eyes and tried to thrust the phantom from him. Again and again, but all without avail, he tried to rid himself of its presence, but the "Pointing Hand" hung ever just beyond his reach and nothing would induce the vision to depart. It lingered through the long evening hours, and when at last his eyes closed in slumber, he dreamed only of the "Pointing Hand." Through the still watches of the night it was ever present, and when his eyes opened in the morning it was only to behold once again the threatening, commanding phantom of the ever-present "Pointing Hand" that hung like a menace and a bidding above him, always pointing in one direction. He followed it, and found peace and rest. It was Reason pointing the way to bargains now being offered by H. S. Simon. J. W. STANSON.

The Oldest Inhabitant

Portland, Aug. 17; Ed. Oregonian:—Mr. Jean Baptiste Garnier, who came to Oregon in 1825, as stated in a recent issue of your journal, now resides at or near the mouth of the Siuslaw river, and his postoffice address is Florence, Lane county, Oregon. The date of his arrival in Oregon was, as I am informed, in 1816 instead of 1826. A communication addressed to him, or the postmaster at Florence, will receive prompt attention. J. W. STANSON.

City Transfers

A. C. Holmes to P. E. Snodgrass, lots in Christian's addition; consideration, $400. W. H. Delano to A. G. Hovey, lot and buildings on Eighth street; con. $1500. IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.—Every man, woman and child is glad to hear of a man succeeding and building up his business. We take pleasure in announcing that Mr. J. O. Watts, the jeweler has succeeded so well since coming here that he has been enabled to put in a large stock of watches, clocks, chains, rings, and in fact all goods usually found in a first-class jewelry store. These goods were purchased direct from the manufacturers in the East, hence he is enabled to sell them at prices astonishingly low. Give him a call and take a look at the stock. WILL BUILD.—Mayor F. B. Dunn has decided to erect this fall a handsome two-story brick building on his lot just north of his store. The plans and specifications will be furnished by Mr. W. H. Williams, of Portland, the architect of the new university and the Masonic Temple. The front of the old store will be torn out and a square front with plate windows will take its place, and the floor will also be lowered. The offices in the new and old stores will probably be provided with bay windows. The building will be provided with all the modern improvements.

THE PIONEERS' EXCURSION.—All arrangements have been completed for this excursion. Himes, 169 and 181 Second street, Portland. Those parties who wished to go from this county are now afforded the opportunity. The tickets are good for ninety days. ABOUT WHEAT.—The local wheat market remains without change. The San Francisco market is a dead lock, awaiting the reopening of the produce exchange, and no price is quotable in that city. When the San Francisco speculators come to an agreement and the dead lock is broken we may hope for a fair opening price. LARGE CORN FIELD.—Mr. J. J. Eaton, who lives near Junction, we are informed, has a ninety acre field of corn that stands over seven feet in height. The best of judges estimate the yield will be between forty and fifty bushels to the acre. Still it is said that corn cannot be successfully raised in Oregon. The unfortunate man suffering from insanity at the asylum at Salem was taken to the asylum at Salem by Deputy Sheriff Swift yesterday. ARRIVED.—The Steam Schooner Mischief, Capt. A number of Masons from Eugene attended the corner stone laying of the Agricultural College at Corvallis last Wednesday. The mill company is putting in a new water wheel for the purpose of supplying power for the electric light company. Wilson has purchased the interest of Mr. Johnson in the dry goods store of Eastland & Johnson. The firm name hereafter will be Eastland & Wilson. We wish the new firm success. They will move into the new Wilson brick as soon as it is completed. We learn that many applications are being made to the secretary for premium lists of the county fair; not only from Lane county, but also from Douglas, Linn, Coos, Benton and Crook counties. This would indicate that there would be a large number of exhibitors at the coming fair. Prof. L. J. Powell, late president of the territorial university, died at 320 last Wednesday afternoon at Seattle, of cholera morbus, aged 53. He was formerly connected with Oregon schools, and was for four years superintendent of public instruction in Oregon. He leaves a wife and five children. A party of three men and about forty hounds went to the Rodney Scott farm and hunted all of Thursday night for a bear, that was reported to be foraging in that vicinity. However, they did not kill the bear, but they did succeed in killing a common American skunk, much to the disgust of the hounds. Mr. S. H. More houses will be erected in Eugene during the year 1887 than in any other town in Western Oregon with the exception of Portland and East Portland. There will be no services at the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening, as the pastor will go to Coburg in the afternoon to attend a gospel temperance meeting. We find this in the Union Scout: "Mr. Jap Stevens, the crack shot of the Cove, on a recent gunning expedition to Clover creek, succeeded in killing fifty prairie chickens." Major R. H. Henderson, the drummer boy of the Rappahannock, accompanied by his son, were in Eugene last Thursday. The Major will give an entertainment here December 15 and 16. We learn that Judge Walton upset his wagon on his way to Lower Siuslaw at the mouth of Wild Cat, breaking the tongue and dashboard. His family and himself escaped without injury. Don't fill the system with quinine, to prevent or cure Fever and Ague. Ayer's Cure is the specific for this disease, and leaves no poisons to produce dizziness, deafness, headache, or other disorders. The headbache of the California & Oregon line has been closed within about eight miles of connection, but as the work is now through tunnels principally there is no chance to shorten staging or dispense with it, until connection is effected. Mr. J. N. Pearey, a Portland attorney of considerable experience, will locate in St. Helens prior to the first day of September. The railroad commission at Salem is doing some recommending that is being followed by the route. They recommended $6 from Tangent to Albany instead of $16. Mr. Summerville of Pendleton files a complaint that the O. R. & N. charged him $55 per carload instead of $44, as recommended by the board. The O. P. is replacing bridges as requested, and the Narrow Gauge ties at instructed. A singular and distressing accident happened recently at the residence of Mrs. Peter Henderson, on the John Day. Mrs. Henderson went out into the yard for some wood, leaving her four months old girl lying on the bed. When she returned she found that the baby had in some way rolled off and fallen head first into a pail of water that stood by the bed. The child was standing on its head, stone dead, when found by its mother.—Heppner Gazette. Some food for thought is to be found in the following paragraph in the Astorian: "So long as Northwestern Oregon sends all its money as Northwestern Oregon sends all its money of that useful article. This remark will not admit of successful contradiction. Building with nails made in Wheeling, cooking on stoves made in Buffalo on utensils made in Cincinnati, eating corn canned in Chicago, and hams put up in Philadelphia, and butter made in California, and vegetables and fruit grown in San Francisco, drinking liquor made in Illinois and Wisconsin out of glass made in Ohio, wearing woollens spun in Massachusetts and shoes put together in Lynn, smoking cigars made by Chinese in San Francisco and wondering what the country is coming to, will never build up this part of God's footstool."

THE HOR CROP.—The New York Mail and of August 8th, says: A prominent hop merchant of this city, who has just returned from the inspection of the leading hop-producing counties of Otesago, Chenango and Oneida, said to-day: "The hop yards in this State have only partially recovered from last year's drought but the vines are now in excellent condition, with a fair prospect of producing one-half to five-eighths of the crop of 1887, which was a very large one. The vines are free from the parasites that troubled them in former years. A safe estimate puts the State crop this year at 100,000 bales. On the Continent English hops are estimated at two-thirds to three-fourths of last year's crop. About one-quarter of the hops used in this country last year were imported, and paid a duty of eight cents per pound."

CIRCUS COMING.—Charles Sivaldi, business manager of Bell's circus, was in Portland last Wednesday. He stated that the show would play through the Willamette valley about the middle of September.
